LYTTELTON HARBOUR

review creators

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a 100% voluntary community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake by local Professionals Real Estate Agent Lynnette Baird, and Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre Chairperson Wendy Everingham.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community. A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed by a couple of amateurs; or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Lynnette or Wendy would love to hear from you:

Girl Guides Get Stuck In

200 Native Trees Planted at Living Springs

Girl Guides aspire to help young women reach their potential and make a difference in the world. Recently they had a chance to do just that.

On the 20th September, the Rapaki and Ferrymead District Girl Guides made a difference to the environment at Living Springs, at the head of Lyttelton Harbour.

More than 60 Guides tackled some hard work during their weekend camp at Living Springs planting the remaining 200 native trees to completing a large re-vegetation project at the camp. The long-term aspiration is an eco-sanctuary that will be beneficial to the Harbour area as well as the city of Christchurch.

In total, the project has seen more than 4,700 natives planted along the waterways at Living Springs. Other groups who have contributed to this significant planting project include Burnham Limited Service Volunteers, Eagle Consumables, staff from Environment Canterbury and many other people from the community.

Funded by Environment Canterbury and Canterbury Water Management Banks Peninsula Zone Committee, and enabled by a series of community and corporate planting days, Kanuka, Totara, Kahikatea, Flaxes, Toi Toi and other varieties will enhance the biodiversity of the area and take Living Springs one step closer to becoming a significant eco-sanctuary in the Lyttelton Harbour area and the wider region.

Living Springs is well known for its high quality and adventurous camps. Over the last 40 years, Living Springs has been working hard to champion the environment and has completed a number of projects.

This is a large scale re-vegetation project, involving in the first instance protection, of the waterways of the Allandale catchment from the Crater to the Sea (Ki Uta Ki Tai). It has required the installation of several kilometres of livestock fencing as well as extensive riparian planting to enhance water quality and encourage the development of aquatic stream life. The next stages involve further fencing, planting, site inventories and predator control programmes.

For more information on Living Springs call Wendy Duggan on 03 329 9788 or go online to www.livingsprings.co.nz or email info@livingsprings.co.nz.

Help Our Young Mums

Plunket Playgroup Needs Support

One Lyttelton community group that's really struggling since the earthquakes is the Plunket Playgroup. After the loss of the Plunket rooms the group has really struggled to find suitable premises.

They have moved from the Recreation Centre to the former Lyttelton West and Lyttelton Main Schools, and now to the Union Parish Church. They have been very grateful to be offered each venue, however each site has posed challenges for them.

Prior to the earthquakes Lyttelton had a thriving Plunket Playgroup based in their Sumner Road purpose built rooms. They had playgroups running on Wednesdays and Thursdays and at the height of activity they had 39 families participating!

Marcia Bryant a long-time supporter and helper believes Plunket was really successful at this site because it was a stress free environment for parents and children. "With flat spaces, good indoor outdoor flow, great toys, versatile areas and a central location - it worked well for families" she said.

Post-earthquake this isn't the scenario. With little support to re-build the former Plunket rooms the team has had to operate from spaces that are used for many other activities. For example their current location is the Union Church in Winchester Street. First glance this looks a great site. It's central and accessible however there are a few challenges. With a little extra help they believe they could operate a good playgroup from there. The main problem is setting up and putting away each session because all their toys are stored in an outside shed. A child free adult to help with this or play with the children to free up team members would make all the difference they said.

More local families getting involved would also help the situation. The Playgroup has lost numbers with all the changes and yet there are loads of young families in the Lyttelton area. Some have formed private play groups. That's fine if you are established but for new people to the area, also new first time parents you are less likely to find these groups and the parents are in danger of being isolated at home with young children.

Given the dilemma the group finds itself in they wanted to tell their story so that the wider community would know their situation. "Lyttelton Plunket Playgroup has always been about so much more than just providing a different play experience for the little ones. Meeting other parents and caregivers who collectively have a wealth of knowledge is a wonderful parenting support. We'd like to be a strong group again, we just need a bit of community support ourselves so that we can continue," said Marcia.

How can the wider community help? "To make our playgroup experience more pleasurable we need more families to come along and we'd love to have a team of Super Grandies who can step in and help us" said Lindsay.

If you have young children this is your invitation to join the group. If you are older, love children and maybe don't have grandchildren this might be the perfect opportunity for you. With more support these mums can overcome some of the challenges they have been facing.

Recently community worker Maureen Dellow-Jackson from Community House popped in to lend a hand and just that small bit of help made all the difference to the group. So this is a call to families and support people. If you would like to help the playgroup they would love to hear from you. Pop in and meet them.

The playgroup runs Wednesdays 10.00am to 12noon at the Union Church in Winchester Street, Lyttelton. Alternatively call Lindsay 328 9575 or 021 038 6588 or Amanda 03 4200841 or 021 065 65941 and chat about what support you could offer. # Community Board News n Views

Update from Chairperson Paula Smith

Talk about thriving local democracy! So much is going on people may become confused about all the different draft documents we are being asked to provide community feedback on. Here is a summary as we understand it:

District Plan Review (Recovery Chapters)

The District Plan is the book of rules about what we can and cannot do with our land. The rules both create opportunities and limit opportunities for land owners and occupiers. Once finalised, the District Plan will determine how our communities will work, look and feel into the future.

Some key local issues will be decided within the District Plan draft which is currently open for submissions. These include:

- Permanent location of Lyttelton Farmers Market on London Street
- Continued commercial land use on the port side of Norwich Quay
- Building heights in Lyttelton Town Centre
- Building smaller units for older people in Governors Bay and Diamond Harbour
- Existing commercial zoning of the Godley House land

If you have an opinion about any of these or any other matter, Christchurch City Council and the decision-making commissioners need your views NOW. Don't worry about the planning-speak, just use your own words to say what you think about the issues which interest you most. Seize the day and have your say!

Copies of the draft are available at Lyttelton and Diamond Harbour Libraries and can be looked at online in the CCC website. Submissions close on Wednesday 8 October. Submissions can be made on line or on forms available at the libraries.

Long Term Plan Projects for Diamond Harbour

Pete Simpson of SPRIG (Stoddart Point Ideas Regeneration Group) recently presented their "Getting to the Point" document to the Lyttelton/Mt Herbert Community Board. "Getting to the Point" wraps up all the consultation work done to date about the future of the Godley House site, Diamond Harbour village centre and beyond. It identifies a number of possible projects. The Community Board is now asking people from all the communities on the south side of the harbour to tell us which of the projects identified should be prioritised for funding in the CCC Long Term Plan.

It is the Community Board's role to support and advocate for local projects in the Long Term Planning process. Given the Council's financial situation, we need to be very clear what work is most important to this community. Look out for the brochure in your letterbox or pick one up at the library, cafe or ferry. Fill out the form and get it back to us, or do the survey online. If you want more information about the options check out "Getting to the Point" on the Diamond Harbour website or come to one of the two drop in sessions to be held on Saturday 11 October, 4-5pm at the Stage Room and Tuesday 14 October, 7-8pm at the St Andrews Church hall.

Lyttelton Port Recovery Plan

Submissions have now closed on the "Port Lyttelton Plan" and the Lyttelton Port Company is now working up the detail and modifying the technical reports which will inform development of the draft Recovery Plan being prepared by ECan.

Important issues for our community are the ever increasing volume of port traffic on Norwich Quay, the proposal to relocate the Diamond Harbour ferry berth, and effects on the ecological health of the harbour.

There will be another opportunity to express your opinion on these and any other matters later in the year when ECan publicly notifies the draft Recovery Plan.

Facilities Rebuild and Repair

Albion Square is nearly finished and steady progress is being made on Norman Kirk Pool and repairs to Trinity Hall and the Recreation Centre in Lyttelton.

Council recently decided to fund a rebuild of the community centre in Governors Bay and the repairs to Stoddart Cottage are funded to be done this financial year. Bring it on!

Meetings around the Harbour

Banks Peninsula Water Management Zone Committee is meeting this month at the Rapaki marae on the 21 October at 4pm. If you have not been into the new marae this could be your opportunity to check it out. The interior decoration is particularly lovely.

Orton Bradley Park, where the Rhododendrons will be in full bloom, is the venue for the next Lyttelton/Mt Herbert Community Board meeting which is in the afternoon of 15 October starting at 1.00pm.

Both meetings are open to the public.

If you want to make an appointment to speak to the community board at its meeting phone Community Board Adviser Liz Beaven 941 5602. Agenda go up on the CCC website about a week before the meetings. All welcome.

Until next time.

Lyttelton Welcomes New Festivals

Project Lyttelton sees its festivals as a platform for anyone and every one to run an event and be part of the festivities.

Perhaps your organisation would like to have a fund-raiser as part of the Lyttelton SummerFest in February, or you'd like to organise an event during the Festival of Lights. Maybe you've been thinking about using the community stall at the Lyttelton Farmers Market to promote or engage with the community over an issue and the Harbour Harvest Festival would be the perfect platform for you.

Whatever your idea, Project Lyttelton would love to hear it. We can provide free marketing as part of our festival promotions, help match you up with a venue and volunteers and help with planning and developing your ideas. Our festivals are:

Banks Peninsula Walking Festival	November 8 to 30

Lyttelton District Plan Review

Opinion Piece: Kris Herbert

I may have missed it but I don't remember seeing anything in the Lyttelton Review about the district plan review. My personal opinion is that this is a huge fail on behalf of the council. There is zero publicity about it and only a very short period of time to offer a viewpoint.

Last year, more than 600 people signed a petition to council saying that we needed the Town Centre Plan, in particular, the design guidelines, updated to allow for a broader scope of architecture that would reflect Lyttelton today to create a valuable and authentic heritage for the future. The review was promised to begin in November last year but has only just been released.

I would wager most people don't even know it's happening - and the first submissions close on 8 October.

It's quite hard to negotiate the changes being proposed via the council website, but perhaps the most significant is the proposed Design Guidelines <http://proposeddistrictplan.ccc.govt.nz/> Section: 15.9 Appendices.

In my opinion, this document does not reflect the only decent bit of consultation undertaken by the council post-earthquake as reflected in the Lyttelton Master Plan. To me, these new guidelines are disappointingly "safe" and way too prescriptive.

I hope that you might publish these guidelines in the next issue and encourage people to have their say by either setting up an account on the city council website or else emailing dpreview@ccc.govt.nz. I recommend the latter because the online submission process is clunky, frustrating and extremely hard work!

This is the consultation we asked for.
It's so important that we don't miss this small window to define our future.

It's a bit hard to see what else is up for consultation just at the moment, but the Port Noise section is up for review for residents who are affected by that. My view is that this zone stifles development by putting additional restrictions and requirements on building owners, along with forcing them to sign a document that limits civil liberties (for example, it prohibits building owners from supporting the removal of trucks off Norwich Quay). I think this zone should go and instead there should be suggestions on how to limit port noise when rebuilding.

Purpose of this document is to provide an update on the Redevelopment of the public square at 44 London Street, Lyttelton.

The Lyttelton/Mt Herbert Community Board, the local community and the Christchurch City Council are working together to develop a civic square in Lyttelton. The provision of a new civic square is one of the key actions (N1, p59) in the Lyttelton Master Plan.

Progress

Progress on the site is nearing completion and looking great.

The form work for the Waharoa plinths is formed and about to be poured. Cenotaph also achieved their programmed milestone, with the last stone (top capping stone) placed yesterday and pointing completed. Associated heritage lighting noted as completed also. Cenotaph scaffolding expected to be removed from Monday 29th September and this will allow the plinth to be plaster and then paving around the cenotaph to be completed.

WWI troops embarkation centenary commemoration – 24 September 2014

On Wednesday LPC supported the Lyttelton RSA's organisation of the centenary of the Canterbury Regiment departure from Lyttelton on board the SS Tahiti and Athenic – headed for Wellington, then Egypt and finally Gallipoli.

The commemoration was held beside Stark's slipway on the western side of the Port. The sun shone bright for the 80 people who attended the ceremony. Speeches were given by the President of the Christchurch Memorial RSA, Paul Monk and prayers were led by Vicar of the Holy Trinity Parish Reverend Neil Struthers. They all acknowledged the great sacrifice these young men made, as well as acknowledging the grief of those left behind.

100 years ago, troops of young men left our Port – destination unknown. Sons, brothers, fathers, husbands, nephews, buddies and sweethearts were farewelled from No.3 Wharf - many of whom did not make it home.

These men went to war for our country and for our future.

Children from Lyttelton Primary School sang the national anthem and Ode to the Fallen was read by members of the 2/4 Battalion Royal New Zealand Infantry Regiment.

Thank you to everyone who made this event possible.

TROOPS LEAVE TO-DAY.

ATHENIC AND TAHITI TAKE THE FLOOD TIDE.

DESTINATION UNKNOWN.

(From Our Special Reporters.)

LYTTELTON, This Day.

With the object of keeping the departure of the troops as secret as possible, no mention was made of the mounted men leaving camp yesterday for embarkation. They made an early start yesterday morning, reveille going at 5 a.m. They busied themselves in striking camp, cleaning up the lines, saddles and equipment. At 6.40 a.m. two squadrons, the 1st Mounted Rifles (C.Y.C.) and 8th Mounted Rifles (South Canterbury) left camp. They were met on the parade ground by the Regimental Band and played out to the regimental marches. Early as the hour was, the infantry lined up and cheered them enthusiastically.

A quarter of an hour earlier the riding horses of the infantry officers left, under Captain Henderson. Taking a route through the city, Ferry Road, Sumner Zigzag, the advance party arrived about 10.30 a.m.

The first two mounted squadrons, under Major Overton, halted at Sumner and, unsaddling, took their mounts into the sea, where some diversion was caused by many of the animals swerving at the advancing waves and throwing their riders with full equipment into the sea. They resumed their march and arrived in Lyttelton about eleven o'clock, and immediately proceeded to the troopship wharf, where loading began at once.

The remainder of the mounted men (10th Nelson Mounted Rifles) left camp at 9.40 a.m., and arrived about one o'clock. At 7.45 a.m. the transport horses of both regiments and the men's baggage were entrained at Sockburn, and, accompanied by drivers and grooms, left for Lyttelton at 11.20 a.m. Shortly after one o'clock the whole of the mounted portion of the force and the transport horses, etc., of both regiments were at hand, and loading busily proceeded. Slings were requisitioned only to a moderate extent, advantage being taken of the low tide to walk the horses over the gangways.

By 4.30 p.m. everything was complete and the mounted men were given general leave. Last night was spent on board. This morning came the infantry's turn. They were early astir, and were soon engaged in striking camp, and loading the two transport trains that awaited them at Sockburn. All the morning a steady stream of men and equipment passed to and fro from the camp to the train. They left for the port at 1.20 o'clock this afternoon. The first train carried the 2nd (South Canterbury) Company, 12th (Nelson) Company, and part of the 1st Canterbury Company. The second train brought the remainder of the 1st Canterbury Company, and the 13th North Canterbury and Westland Companies.

People, while not publicly informed of the departure, evidently knew that something untoward was going on, and a great number arrived in port to witness the departure. By the time the first of the infantry arrived a large crowd had gathered at the barriers, the majority being Christchurch residents. At 2.15 p.m. the first train came through, and the men detrained at the tunnel mouth, and marched on to the wharf to the accompaniment of cheers from their mounted comrades on the transports.

The Athenic will have on board 56 officers, 1237 men, 339 horses. The Tahiti will have on board 29 officers, 605 men, and 282 horses. This total includes about 150 men from Wellington who arrived by the Maori this morning.

(Special to the "Star.")

LYTTELTON, This Day.

Khaki is the prevailing colour at Lyttelton to-day. The mounted men 900 strong made their homes on the troopships yesterday, but the infantrymen, 1100 strong, arrived at Lyttelton this afternoon. The troop trains were of moderate length, eighteen and twenty carriages being loaded with soldiers ready to take the field. They marched from the station yard to the wharves at about half-past two. The mounted men were clustered over the Athenic and Tahiti and gave rousing cheers for their dusty comrades as they marched into view. Each rifle had a white label and tag for identification purposes.

The men were promptly marched in single file aboard each ship. The proceedings were not too rigid and relatives and friends were allowed to shake hands as the men passed by.

LEAVING TO-DAY.

High water to-day is at 6.30 p.m. Both transports will put out earlier, the Athenic at five and the Tahiti at 5.30. The Athenic has never had so deep a draught, being under the 30ft mark. Captain Thorpe, the harbour-master, will take her out, while Captain Hunter will pilot the Tahiti. The destination of the troopships is a matter of doubt. The transport officer has field orders which he will not open until he is outside the Heads. It is understood in Lyttelton that some of the Dunedin transports are on their way north. Probably Wellington is the rendezvous, as indicated by the Prime Minister last night.

The send-off will be quite informal. The tug and the dredge, with friends of the troopers, will accompany the vessels to the Heads. There is already a good crowd of relatives at port, who will be allowed aboard after four o'clock for a final farewell.

Lyttelton is looking gay. The ensigns in the harbour include the Norwegian and the Italian flags. All the ships are showing a bit of bunting.

The troops rode from Sockburn Camp to Port Lyttelton prior to embarking on transport ships bound for service in the First World War (1914-1918). They are pictured crossing the Heathcote Bridge, Ferry Road, on the way to Sumner and Lyttelton

SCIRT: Brittan Terrace Update

Fulton Hogan is beginning work on the retaining wall at the intersection of Brittan Terrace, Cressy Terrace and Voelas Road. The work was originally put on hold due to the extent of the damage being worse than expected and required further redesign. Work is beginning on Monday 22 September for approximately two months. For safety reasons Cressy Terrace will be closed from 4 Cressy Terrace to the intersection of Brittan Terrace, Cressy Terrace and Voelas Road.

- Pedestrian and cyclists access will be available.
- Temporary traffic lights will be used along Brittan Terrace to keep it open to two way traffic.

Traffic lights further up on Brittan Terrace will also remain. This is due to the wet weather causing a slip outside 30 Brittan Terrace. This section of the wall is now getting redesigned.

We want to thank the Lyttelton residents for their continued support and patience during our repair work. We know this is a significant detour for you all and will complete the work as quickly as we can!

At Home with the Grubbs

Heritage Week: Grubb Cottage Open Saturday 18, 19, 25, 26 October

In conjunction with the Grubb Cottage Trust, Lyttelton Museum will display items from Lyttelton's past which are connected to the everyday life of the Grubb family, who lived in the house from 1851 to 1961. The Grubbs have a rich history. John Grubb was a shipbuilder, his wife Mary and their three daughters Mary, Jean and Janet arrived on the Charlotte Jane in 1850, and his son James Grubb later became mayor of Lyttelton in 1902.

From 11.00am to 11.20am on these days, Michael Williams, chair of the Grubb Cottage Heritage Trust, will present a short speech on the history of Mr Grubb, his family, their cottage and their contributions to early Canterbury, starting with building the first jetty to greet the first four ships. Built in 1851, Grubb Cottage is the oldest surviving domestic dwelling in Lyttelton and amongst the earliest colonial homes in Canterbury. The cottage vividly mirrors the different eras of settlement from the days before the first four ships arrived to the growth of Lyttelton as Canterbury's front door during the 1860s and 1870s.

Heritage Building Seminar

He will also review possible changes to current building legislation. Win has an interest in heritage buildings and how to maintain and enhance their capacity to survive the ravages of time as well as earthquakes. He advises what owners should understand about their building, how to protect it over time and how to engage appropriate technical advice.

IN AN EGGSHELL

We were gifted some chickens
Shaken up by The Quake.
We wanted some eggs
And they needed a break.

We made them a coop
And lined it with straw.
It had a wee perch
And a welcoming door.

The weeks went by,
We waited and waited,
But rarely an egg
We felt we'd been cheated.

We checked and we checked
In the comfortable coop.
They pecked and they pecked
But they never bore fruit.

Then some months later
While out in the garden
A major discovery
Granted them Pardon.

A whole stash of treasure
Was stored in the hedge!
Our chickens had laid us
A bounty of eggs!

We said they were no good
But we were so wrong
They were grateful for refuge
And laid all along.

Which just goes to show
Nothing runs by the book
The answer is out there
You just have to look.

Charlotte McCoy

Lyttelton Harbour Fruit n Vege Collective

New Project

Initiated by Lyttelton Harbour Timebank member Jill Larking, and working in partnership with Lyttelton's Community House, a Fruit and Vegetable Collective has come to Lyttelton.

History In Christchurch the Fruit and Vegetable Co-op began in October 2011 in the Eastern suburbs to enable families and whānau to buy affordable seasonal fresh fruit and vegetables. It continues to run successfully all over Christchurch and now over 1,500 packs are sold every week!

The Fruit and Veggie Co-op is a partnership between Christchurch Cathedral, many of the wonderful communities in Christchurch, and Community and Public Health. Anyone can join – as an individual, with your family/ whānau, church, community group, workplace, gym, or motorcycle club.

How it works in general. You pay just $12 for each pack - 1 bag of fruit and 1 bag of vegetables (non organic). You pay one week in advance and there is no joining fee. The contents of the packs vary each week depending on what is in season.

You can buy more than one pack at a time – there is no limit. And you don't need to buy every week. You can buy a pack for others like your parents, children, neighbours, or even your best friend. You can also sponsor a pack for a family in need.

Each pack includes a recipe idea on how to use the fruit or vegetables in the pack, and some health information.

How it will work in Lyttelton. The Lyttelton Harbour Timebank and Community House are working together to bring this to Lyttelton. A weekly run by volunteers with either the Community House van or the Project Lyttelton truck to a distribution centre in Aranui will bring the ordered bags back to Lyttelton.

Your ordered bags can be collected from our volunteers at the pick up point at the Union Church Hall in Winchester Street every Wednesday between 12.30 and 2.30pm.

To participate all you need to do is register. Registrations can be made at the vegetable collection point [Wednesdays from 12.30pm to 2.30pm at the Union Church Hall on Winchester Street, Lyttelton].

When you sign up you also pay by cash or cheque for your bag a week in advance. This means if you come this week to register, your first delivery will be the following Wednesday. At the end of each Wednesday we'll ring through the orders for the following week.

Currently Jill has 85 families registered. This project is also available for people in Governors Bay and Diamond Harbour. All you will need to do is figure out how to get the bags from Lyttelton to your communities. Timecredits can be earned for any volunteer work done to support this project.

Newsletter from your Board of Trustees – 25 September 2014

To our staff, families, caregivers and whanau,

As we come to the end of another term, your Board of Trustees would like to give you an update on some Board matters. We'd like to acknowledge all the hard work everyone has put into this term, from the kids to the staff and to the parents and, in particular, those that contributed to the vision and values through the Padlet. We are still very much learning to be one school, a challenging task at the best of times but one we think we are all up to – the benefits will echo through the next year and into our new buildings, and beyond. We pay particular tribute to our principal, Diana, and the hard work she has been doing in a very challenging environment. Many will never fully know how much effort she puts into the school. In this newsletter we'll cover the following topics:

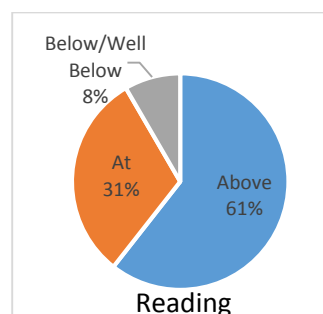

- Mid-year progress results
- Update on the new school buildings
- Board Training and a new strategic plan
- ULearn 2014 Teacher Conference
- Voluntary school donations

Mid-year Progress Results

As many of you will know, the Ministry of Education requires that we report on our student achievement levels against the national standards. The Board was recently presented with our mid-year progress results for reading, writing and mathematics which were delayed due to issues with the Ministry of Education reporting systems. Because we are a relatively small school, we cannot present all those results as we must ensure confidentiality for all our students. However, we would like to present the results across the whole school in those areas. Please note that the results for below and well below standard been grouped together in order to prevent any individuals from being identified.

Whole School Reading Progress

At Standard	63
Below and Well Below Standard	17
Total Count	203

Whole School Writing Progress

Above Standard	49
At Standard	108
Below and Well Below Standard	46
Total Count	203

Whole School Mathematics Progress

Above Standard	43
At Standard	117
Below and Well Below Standard	42
Total Count	202

The Board is pleased with these results overall and are ensuring that any issues arising from these results are being addressed directly. Our teachers are working diligently to ensure that all children are achieving to their highest potential and individual plans have been put into place to raise all students' levels of achievement. Please keep in mind that these are mid-year results and changes are expected in the final year results.

Update on the New School Buildings

While it may still appear that little is happening on the building site, progress is being made. Here's an overview of where things are at:

Progress to date:

- The architects are finalising the detailed design drawings which will be going in for consent in November;
- Archaeological authority has been granted, meaning that we have the go ahead to build on the site;
- Negotiations between the Ministry of Education, the New Zealand Heritage Trust and the Christchurch City Council have concluded that a 3.5 m wide opening through the gaol wall will allow us direct access on to the Grassy;
- We have had confirmation that the new school will have the provision for two technology spaces to future proof the school design. The Ministry is currently working with the education sector to plan for the future provision of year 7 and 8 technology. The outcome of this work is not likely to be known until the end of the 2014 school year;
- Work continues on retaining walls, particularly on the steep loess slopes. A new fly catch fence is currently being constructed.

Moving Forward:

- Construction of the terraces against the gaol wall are programmed to start in October;
- Siteworks will begin October;
- Construction of the new buildings begins in January.

We are awaiting an announcement from the Ministry of Education on any changes to the opening date of the new school.

Board Training and a New Strategic Plan

Over the past weekend, the Board met for a weekend retreat with a professional trainer and facilitator. As we are a new board with new aims, we felt that it was crucial that we come together for an extended time to focus on some of our key responsibilities. The aim of the retreat was to receive some training to make us a better board as well as to work on our strategic plan for the new school. This is an important step in our becoming a new school and will set the scene for how learning happens in our place. We are very excited about the vision and strategic goals, which is based on our own vision as well as upon all the valuable feedback we have received from our families. We look forward to presenting the plan to you early in Term 4.

Teacher Conference

In the second week of the school holidays, our teachers will be taking time out of their own non-teaching time to attend the ULearn 2014 conference in Rotorua. As outlined on the conference's webpage, it is:

“A professional learning and development opportunity that focuses on modern learning and teaching practices, environments, and uses of digital technologies to:

- deepen educators' understanding of the latest developments in pedagogy, curriculum and practice
- create flexible learning spaces that cater for personalised, collaborative and creative learning
- help delegates align their use of technology with effective pedagogy, and get the most out of every tool they use.

(Source: <http://events.core-ed.org/ulearn>)

We consider this a great opportunity for our staff's professional development as we work towards the new challenges of modern learning practice.

Voluntary School Donations

It has been brought to our attention that there may be confusion around the nature of voluntary school donations. To be clear at the outset, our policies around donations are directly in line with the Ministry guidelines as set out here:

<http://www.minedu.govt.nz/NZEducation/EducationPolicies/Schools/PublicationsAndResources/Circulars/2013/Circular201306.aspx>

We believe that school donations are just that - voluntary rather than compulsory - and that parents have the right to choose how much they would like to contribute to donations. Sadly, it is difficult to get around the fact that school donations are a necessary reality of the state school system. As a board we must manage our funds wisely with a focus on student achievement while also providing valuable learning experiences for our students. By necessity, we must often rely on these donations to provide that rich set of experiences on and off school grounds. Please feel free to contact Diana if you would like to discuss this further.

A Final Note

We recently came across a bumper sticker that read, “Get Involved: the world is run by people who turn up.” Nowhere is that more true than at your local school. As we learn to become a new school, we need to hear from you about the things we're doing right and the things we're not. Diana is the best person to talk to in that respect. It's sometimes said that it takes a village to raise a child; in Lyttelton it's going to take all of us to raise the new school.

We hope that you and your children enjoy the school holidays and we look forward to working with you in Term 4.

On behalf of the Lyttelton Primary School Board of Trustees,

Crile Doscher
