Lyttelton Harbour Review is a 100% voluntary community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committee Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

Introducing the Review's..... New Designer

It's an exciting time for the Lyttelton Review.

We are moving into our second phase and joining the team is our new layout editor Jenny-Lee Love.

Jenny-Lee has been a Lyttelton resident for the past twenty four years so she knows the territory well! Originally from Lower Hutt, fate had it that she met a guy from Lyttelton when she was in London for her OE and she has been here ever since!

Jenny-Lee is the perfect edition to our team. A Photo Lithographer by trade and employed in the print industry for the past thirty years she is perfect for her new role. Added to those great credentials she also has a marketing degree. Did you know that she designed the logo for the Review and all the other marketing products that come from the Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre? Take a look at the front cover of the Review to see her very versatile design depicting the hills around the crater that we have used very successfully to market the harbour.

What are you passionate about?

"I'm passionate about so many things. I love music plus my animals, who I class as my fur kids. I have two dogs, two cats and two hedgehogs. Then travel is really high on the list, my job, food.....".

What excites you about Lyttelton?

"It's the people and the way it evolves. Our town attracts so many amazing people who stay and make this place home".

For Jenny-Lee life is rich and she's always busy with her work, friends and animals. Luckily for you all she's going to squeeze this job into her already busy schedule.

"I'm really looking forward to my new role with the Review and continuing the amazing job Lynnette has done" she said.

With a new designer there will be a couple of changes to the Review. Our cut off time is now changing to Friday 5pm for publication the following tuesday evening rather than Monday. We will only be publishing the Review every second week and supplementing that with a Lyttel Broadcast alternate weeks. As before the Review remains a volunteer publication so if we head off on holidays we'll miss publication of an edition or two.

A Ride in the Council's Steam Truck.

Childhood Reflections from the 40's

Nearly all young boys aspire to becoming a fireman, engine driver, ships captain, crane driver .....This time we take a ride in the Borough Councils steam truck. It's Saturday morning in late November, warm sunshine and no clouds to spoil this special day as it unfolds. Arriving at the council yard in Winchester Street we are greeted by a hearty good morning "great to see ya'.

This is our steam truck, used for the cartage of heavy steel beams but mostly crushed shingle from the Lyttelton yard, for maintenance of the roads. The fire in the boiler of the truck has full steam up, having been lit some three hours before my arrival. The smell of steam hot metal and oil, reminded me so much of a huge railway engine.

We'll have a cuppa when we have delivered the load of shingle to the road works at the top of Canterbury Street. It's all aboard, and mind you don't burn yourself on the steam pipes. This truck has solid wheels, a whistle for a horn and candle lamps for headlights.

Soon we are climbing the steep hill to deliver our load. We wave to many of the folk who are about and indeed exchange the time of day with them as we steam past at eight miles per hour.

That's our top speed says the driver, shoveling on another shovel of a mixture of coke and coal into the fire box.

Hope Mrs. H hasn't got her sheets on the line this morning as our smuts from the boiler chimney won't help! Now keep a look out we don't set fire to the grass on the roadside!

With its chain drive to the wheels, and hissing steam plus a huge heavy load at the back, we finally arrive at the top of the hill and tip the load of shingle in a neat pile ready for the workmen.

After saying our "thank you's" to the driver fireman, we make our way back home.

My clothes black with soot spots of grease, and a distinct odour of the steam truck. ....
But what a great way to spend a Saturday morning!

The truck is understood to be in the Dunedin southland area the past week.

Kia ora koutou

We are really excited about Busy C's turning 20!

Talking with our "old boys & girls" out on the street - there seems to be much enthusiasm for the event and everyone's looking forward to a checking out the place and reuniting with kaiako & old preschool friends. We have organised to make use of the school's "bottom flat" to accomodate everyone.

We plan to start at 1pm and have our present children perform some songs. Hopefully have the Lyttelton school kapa haka perform (need to wait til school's back to organise this), then live music & entertainment. Cake cutting at 3pm.

While attending Busy C's most the children have played in a "band" of some sorts - and I know many have gone on to play music & form bands as they have grown. We would love to offer playing slots at our party to whoever would like to perform. Let us know so we can organise it for you (by return email would be good).

Please forward this email to past, present and future friends & whānau of Busy Cs.

Look forward to seeing you there - and to the next 20 years of learning & development at Busy C's ...

Images of New Zealand Landscape Photography

Showing at the Lytel Gallery this month is the work of Lyttelton photographer Sharon Brophy. Her main interest is landscape photography.

"I'm a real lover of the outdoors, so I formed an instant connection with the wide open spaces of New Zealand. I also enjoy the solitude of the back country so solitude also forms a main feature of my work" she said.

She explains that landscape photography is her ultimate passion. "To be able to capture Mother Nature at her best and recreate it in an image that can be shared by others is what gets me out of bed on cold dark mornings"

Added to photography Sharon is also a keen runner, skier and cyclist; plus she also enjoys tramping and anything that gets her outdoors. Sharon originally from the UK moved to New Zealand in 1998. After lots of travels throughout the country and enjoying the breathtaking landscapes she settled in Christchurch.

Photography was always an interest and even at High School she was taking courses learning how to process her own film and prints in the darkroom. Since the earthquakes and major personal upheaval she was nudged toward a more serious approach to photography. Specific photography studies followed and then she has entered her work in quite a few competitions winning quite a few awards.

Images of New Zealand is showing at the Lytel Gallery for the month of February.

The gallery is open

Monday to Saturday 10-4pm
Sunday 11-3pm.

You can also view Sharon's work at www.facebook.com/SharonBrophyPhotography.

– Get Involved

Lyttelton's "Hands On" Botanical Rejuvenation Project

In 2015 the Lyttelton Reserves Management Committee is re-commencing the planting programme at Urumau Reserve. The aim of this planting is to create an ecological plant boarder between the reserve and the township. A thick plant barrier makes it harder for garden species to colonise the reserve. The boundary will also act as a firebreak between the town and reserve. The selected plants are eco-sourced from the area, which means that they are especially suited to Lyttelton's climate and terrain.

A small team are planning the finer details for the mid-winter roll out. This project is following the aims of the community-driven reserve development plan that was developed in 2006.

The first block to get attention is in Foster Terrace just beside the new reserve entrance. Several years ago, the committee tried to re-vegetate behind all of the houses that boarder the reserve on Foster Terrace however, due to the earthquakes, not all of the work was completed and some sections need more work.

Urumau Reserve provides our community a great opportunity to get to know our native plants better. Once a dairy farm, the area had very little native vegetation until a concerted effort was made by locals to start to re-generate the area. Initially, work was done by trial and error but over the years the methods have been revised and improved. By helping with this project, you'll learn about the types of plants that belong naturally in the area, how the hillside regenerates with a small helping hand, what weeds need attention to enable the area to thrive, and gain a general understanding about the crater rim that we live on.

Before the planting starts in July, there is quite a bit of preparatory work to be done and a few tasks that need to commence shortly. "We'll be planting between the existing broom and gorse so there is lots of thinning to be done", said Helen Greenfield. Helen, a Reserves Management Committee member, is a member of the planting preparation team.

"We are also aiming to plant a few demonstration plants so that new people to the project during the July planting season have a clear idea of what is needed to be done", she said.

The team have two preparatory working bees planned at 10am Sunday March 15 and 29. To register your interest, please send your details to lytteltonreserves@hotmail.co.nz or call 328 9093.

11.02.15

Hello LIFT Library members

New Stocks

On an impulse I went browsing in Lyttelton's excellent second-hand bookshop, London Street Books. There were many books I would like to have bought for myself, but I bought two (at a generous discount) for LIFT.

I'm conscious of the fact that many LIFT books are very serious about matters of importance, so chose two that will provide lightness of spirit, as well as fascinating information, some of it quite local.

The wild green yonder: ten seasons volunteering on New Zealand's organic farms 2007

by Philippa Jamieson – the editor of OrganicNZ magazine!

If you want a light, enjoyable and informative read, get this. You don't have to be knowledgeable about organics to understand it, as she is writing about her day-to-day experiences as a WWOOFer in a variety of places where all kinds of growing methods and products are involved. Her relationships with people are just as important as her work on the land. She works in Little River (on her brother's farm), Puaha Valley (at Kotare Vale, hazelnuts and chestnuts), Akaroa's Takamatua lavender farm, Halswell's Whincops Herbs and Hohepa Farm, Milmore Downs in North Canterbury, Geraldine's Waihi Bush, and much further afield, such as Riverton (with the Guytons), the home of Jeanette Fitzsimons, various communities around the country, Blenheim at Steffan Browning's, and lots more. No wonder Organic NZ magazine is so good!

Land very fertile; banks peninsula in poetry and prose 2008

ed. Coral Atkinson & David Gregory, both of them writers who live in Governors Bay. Photos by Martin London.

This is a beautiful book to dip into for beauty of words and photos, by well-known and lesser-known writers mostly from this area. You will learn of this area's history, the lives of people living here, their thoughts and emotions, the struggles, the beauty. The writings are arranged under the topics: Beginnings; Place; People; Work; Holidays; Weather and Seasons; Endings. You may even know some of the writers personally. There is something for everyone here – to be savoured at leisure, not rushed through.

Coming Events

ACTION ON THE FOSSIL FUEL INDUSTRY

For background arguments, listen to an item I heard on Sunday morning on National Radio <http://www.radionz.co.nz/audio/player/20166379>

Then join me and other locals (I'll be leaving my LIFT table at the Market earlier, about 12.30)

Christchurch: Love Divestment Day,
Sat 14 Feb, 1.00 pm,
Edmonds Garden, 365 Ferry Road.

Details at: <https://www.facebook.com/events/632797643492987/>
<https://coalactionnetworkkaotearoa.wordpress.com/2015/02/07/global-divestment-day-is-coming-heres-how-to-take-part/>

So what is Global Divestment Day? It's a day organised by 350.org to increase the pressure on banks and other institutions, as well as individuals, to withdraw their investments from fossil fuel companies: the miners, drillers, frackers and their backers who are ruining our planet's climate by their continued extraction of fossil fuels. This is the kind of action that has brought about huge international changes in the past, like helping to end South Africa's apartheid.

350 are providing bread for sandwiches, so just bring yourselves, a sandwich filler and a gold coin donation, and enjoy the concert. Let's get out and support our allies in this growing, global movement! Generation Zero are involved too.

THE TPPA ISSUE IS HOTTING UP AGAIN!

A march is being planned for March, but in the meantime you can get lots of information on the important issues on:

Tuesday 17th Feb TPPA & Investor-State Dispute Settlement:

What is it, what does it mean for NZ, and how do we voice our concerns?

Time: 7:30pm - 9:00pm. Location: University of Canterbury (A3 Lecture Theater)

Gen de Spa & Greg Fullmoon will explain ISDS; past and present, the Korea/NZ FTA select committee submission opportunity and the progress of the 12 point resolution council process (ISDS can be used against local councils as well as governments).

- followed by Q&A session

- at the end of this meeting we intend to have a group submission and numerous signed, pre-written submissions to submit to the Select Committee, and a load more people who can coherently explain and back up information about ISDS

Today's quote: Get some house plants. Forget air fresheners. These 'natural air conditioners' can remove up to 87% of indoor pollution in 24 hours.

a passion for the Port Hills

Newsletter, Summer 2015

From the Secretary

Happy New Year to all Society members and supporters. As you will see from this newsletter, things have been as busy as ever for the Society over the second half of 2014. As well as all the routine business that crosses my desk, this year, we will be looking at ways to raise the profile of the Society, to increase membership and to keep members better informed of our activities, and carrying out a review of the website. Membership numbers dropped slightly last year, but are still reasonably healthy, particularly taking account of the tramping clubs, walking groups and other organisations that are members. You can do your bit to help by renewing your subscription if it is due this year, and talking to family, friends and colleagues about the Society and its work.

Omahu update

Gibraltar Rock was first on a list of the five top picnic spots in the 5 December issue of the Christchurch Press. I am sure that anyone who knows Omahu Bush and Gibraltar Rock will agree.

The small group of volunteers led by Paul Tebbutt continues to work on the reserve making sure the tracks are in order and continuing the long process of clearing gorse. It is now accepted that gorse is useful as a nursery crop to allow native plants to germinate, which then over time outgrow the gorse. However there are many areas on the reserve where we really need to get rid of it. There are also a couple of interesting developments on the animal pest control front. Landcare Research is trialling a new rat trap design. After determining that we have enough rats there to warrant a trial, they have installed 200 traps! It will certainly be interesting to see the results. You may have seen an article in a recent edition of the NZ Listener about the possum and mustelid traps produced by a company called Goodnature which have had extensive field trials leading to a number of modifications and which are used by the Department of Conservation, and locally by the Port Hills Rangers. When the trap is triggered by an animal taking bait, a gas canister releases a lethal bolt which kills instantly. Whilst they are quite expensive, the advantage is that they can dispatch 12 possums or 18 stoats or rats before the canister needs changing, so can cut down significantly on the time spent checking and managing traps. They are not the answer to pest control prayers, but are a valuable addition to the armoury. Courtesy of the grant awarded to us by Selwyn District Council we have bought 10 traps. See page 8 for latest news.

Finally, orchids! Paul Tebbutt now notices native orchids wherever he goes on the Port Hills and spends a lot of time running between our volunteers making sure none are destroyed! (Please see the separate article.)

Over-40s Tramping Club

Ohinetahi update

Work also goes on at Ohinetahi, and the reserve continues to improve thanks to Mother Nature helped on her way by our small team of volunteers. By way of example, when the majority of the reserve was officially opened by Hon. Ruth Dyson MP in April (see the last newsletter), the speakers had to compete with the noise of at least eight bellbirds. There is also an interesting development here as a new course, "Field Ecology Methods" is being introduced at Lincoln University, and students will be carrying out field work and collecting data at the reserve. Over time this should provide valuable information about the flora and fauna. We haven't had the opportunity to have a detailed risk assessment done of the part of the reserve that is still closed, and as a first step we are hoping to deal with our infamous 'dangerous boulder', but given the cost there is still a bit of 'head-scratching' going on. At least word is obviously getting round as in November Anne Kennedy was pleased to see the first walking group through the reserve for a long time.

STOP THE PRESS.....

Milestone opening for Lyttelton's summer pool

After four years, Lyttelton's Norman Kirk Memorial Pool is reopening at 11am on Friday 20 February, giving Christchurch has a full complement of outdoor pools for the first time since before the 2011 earthquakes.

Work to rebuild Lyttelton's only public swimming pool began in June 2014 and involved replacing the quake-damaged pool, changing rooms, office plant and equipment.

The comeback will be marked by the Lyttelton Lives On pool party on Saturday 28 February, noon-3pm.

Scarborough Paddling Pool was the first of the Council's outdoor pool rebuild/repair projects to open this summer, and was shortly joined by Waltham Lido Pool. With the reopening of Norman Kirk Memorial Pool, all five of the Council's outdoor pools are back in action. Halswell and Templeton pools were undamaged in the earthquake.

Repair work was also undertaken on the Norman Kirk Memorial Pool site's earthquake-damaged retaining walls. The new pool meets 100 per cent of the New Building Standard (NBS).
