Explosives Magazine Proposed, Reserve Closure and the list goes on.....

Councillor Turner's Update

It's a week of really big issues for Lyttelton this week. Out of the blue the Resource Consent application for the re-opening of Sumner Road was sent to a few select addresses in the township.

A consent that would normally be publically notified has been processed under the Canterbury Earthquake Order 2011 and as a result very few people have been consulted and only a handful of people have been asked to comment on what is a very significant project with quite a significant impact on the township.

"Whilst there would be very few people who would object to the re-opening of Sumner Road, it's the unexpected site proposals that will cause Lyttelton angst. Improving this is my number one priority for the community this week" said Andrew Turner.

alternative parking, topography, and the narrow nature of the streets concerned. Given residents frustrations and what will definitely be a larger number of people actually affected than those notified, I would encourage as many people as possible who are concerned about this to make comments, whether formally invited to do so or not".

He highlighted a list of other issues you might like to comment on. These include, the narrow and winding nature of the roads, health and safety and hazard issues, parking restrictions, traffic movement

Some of the contentious proposals include:

- The construction of an explosives storage facility above Lyttelton township on LPC land
- Access to the facility via Gilmour Terrace and the 4wd track on Urumau Reserve
- Closure of Urumau Reserve
- No parking on Reserve Terrace, Randolph Terrace and Gilmour Terrace while trucks cart materials to construct the magazine
- Transportation of explosives through the township

The full details of the proposal are available at:

<http://resources.ccc.govt.nz/HaveYourSay/SumnerRoadReOpeningResourceConsentApplication.pdf>

There is also a hard copy at the Lyttelton Information Centre, Lyttelton Library and Lyttelton Service Centre.

Andrew is rightly concerned about the impacts of this on Lyttelton. "I've already made comments to the planners around lack of restrictions, use of the reserve, fencing proposed for the reserve, damage to the reserve and the safety and storage of explosives close to residential areas.

You have until 5pm March 20th to comment. Email your thoughts to resourceconsentapplications@ccc.govt.nz

Number two priority for Andrew is the Representation Review. This Review happens every six years and was last reviewed in 2010. At that time it was decided to keep the arrangements adopted at amalgamation however this does not automatically mean things stay the same this time round. Currently Banks Peninsula has two community boards and one councillor for the entire area. The argument to keep the same arrangements hinges on the ability to show the peninsula is an isolated community. There is some concern that our community has better representation than city wards. "With a geographic area greater than the city put together and the rural isolation of some parts along with diverse communities the case for greater representation per head of population could be made" he said.

Andrew's message is "Please be engaged with the process. I'm really interested to hear your views and will be governed by what you think." Already several meetings have been held and it seems many people are happy with the current governance arrangements. The City Council will complete the consultation process in April and will then make recommendations to the Local Government Commission based on resident's feedback.

Finally we briefly discuss the Long Term Plan. This document goes out for public consultation from March 17th to April 20th. With a 750 million dollar shortfall and proposed asset sales, ambitious capital spending and rate increases there is a lot to comment on. "I'm keen to mitigate rate increases and asset sales by looking for operational savings within the council organisation, looking at ways of delivering services differently, and by reducing capital expenditure by cutting or deferring projects which are nice to have or simply unnecessary. The level of rates increases proposed is significant, and the level of asset sales proposed is extreme and would be irreversible".

ART NOW

A collection of Paintings by Madhu Rees

Art Now represents Madhu Rees as an artist present day. Moving to New Zealand from the UK and leaving behind the corporate world has given her the opportunity to experiment with paint and create works that she enjoys.

"The major influences on my art have been the Italian Renaissance painters Michael Angelo and Carravaggio. I also admire modern artists such as David Hockney and Lucian Freud. The detail in their work and their use of colour is truly inspirational" she said.

Madhu is predominantly self taught. She did attend a few day time courses where some teachers were great in allowing her flexibility to find her own path.

Her exhibition at the Lyttel Gallery is her first. "The paintings I have chosen to exhibit have connection to me, friends and families and places in my home in New Zealand" she said.

Art Now is featuring at the Lyttel Gallery 20 Oxford St Lyttelton for the month of March. Open Monday to Saturday 10-4pm Sunday 11-3pm.

420 Nationals

Over the next few days NPCL is hosting the 420 Nationals. Teams from all over New Zealand are coming to compete in the event. Good luck to everyone involved!

Canterbury Optimist Champs

The Canterbury Optimist Championship was sailed last weekend from Charteris Bay. NPCL was represented by 10 sailors in the green fleet sailing off the club house and 5 in the open fleet sailing out in the harbour. Good conditions allowed 4 races for both fleets on day one with the last two completed on Sunday. It was good seeing our Optimist sailors out at another club and doing well. This was the first time 5 of the green fleet sailors had been in a yacht race. Max who sailed in the open fleet said "It was very consistent wind which made the regatta exciting.

Little Ship Club News

RAFT UP DATE CHANGE! - Sunday 22nd March
We have been asked to schedule another raft up as the last one was so much fun. This is the weekend of the Presidents Cup Regatta, so there should be plenty of action happening on the water for us to watch from the Diamond Harbour mooring. All welcome! (This was pencilled in for the 14th, but I got the date of the regatta wrong - blonde...!)

Friday 20 March - Sail Talk

Kent Luxton from North Sails is coming down from Waikawa to talk to us about sails. This session will be for both cruisers and racers, and he will talk to us about sail trim, new fabrics and technology etc. The bar will be open and it should be a really interesting session.

Saturday 28 March Pigeon Bay Weekend

This is the annual Pigeon Bay Race and Pigeon Bay Boating Club's major fundraiser for the season and it is always lots of fun. Sail - race or cruise round to Pigeon Bay and then there is a BBQ and party at the club. Bring cash - no eftpos, and Pigeon Bay like to get a rough idea of how many people are coming so they can make sure there is enough rum in the bar!

All other upcoming events can be found on our website: <https://littleshipclubcanterbury.wordpress.com/calendar-of-events/> and other updates are of course on our Facebook page: www.facebook.com/Little.Ship.Club.of.Canterbury

Also remember the Coastguard Boating Education Courses being held at Naval Point in the next 12 months. A great opportunity to up skill over the winter. With Thanks Viki Moore

Representation Review

The Council is reviewing the city's ward boundaries before next year's council elections. We would like to hear your views so we can consider them before the draft proposal goes to the Council in April. Further information, including details of public meetings in the Lyttelton/Mt Herbert and other areas, is available at www.ccc.govt.nz/repreview. You are welcome to attend any of the public meetings.

Each meeting will start with light refreshments. Then we will introduce the Representation Review and how it might affect you. Using large maps of possible ward boundaries, we will talk about where you think your ward boundaries should be, and how many elected members you think your community needs.

From Love Lyttelton

Coming soon to Lyttelton - a conference for the food industry. ConversatioNZ is about bringing together people who have impact on the food industry here in New Zealand - chefs, writers, growers, artisan producers and the food distributors.

We dream big! We want to challenge, inspire and push ourselves to the next level, to have a voice of our own and create strong community around food in New Zealand.

ConversatioNZ is born from a idea of a small circle of individuals to bring together a food community. It is about looking deep within and finding new ways to work together; to inspire, to learn and grow. This is not about money nor financial gain, it is about a way of life/work/play and looking into the future.

Breakthrough update

We have had some really good Breakthrough meetings lately and the process is proving to be helpful for both customers and Southern Response.

If you're interested in having a chat about it email marcus@cancern.org.nz.

We are also looking at trialling a couple of facilitated meetings with EQC just to see if the process could work there. We are looking for a couple of people and are keen to talk to someone who hasn't yet agreed on a settlement option with EQC. Your situation will probably be that you don't agree with what they're proposing, or maybe you can't talk to the right person to get the info you need to make a decision. If you're keen or know someone who might be, email marcus@cancern.org.nz so that we can get you some more details.

Harbour Harvest Festival

Celebrates sustainability for the harbour

Project Lyttelton collaborates with Living Springs Farm Park to educate both young and old on sustainability through the community-based Harbour Harvest Festival including workshops, farmers' market, foraging tour, food, music, and more ...

The Harvest Festival takes place over two days: The 27th of March is a fun and educative day for the children, which consists of various workshops for the children, based around the harvest and environment. Examples are local geology and minerals, learning about medicinal plants, cheese making and seed saving.

The 28th of March will provide adults and families with a range of activities based on the harvest and sustainability. This will start with the Lyttelton Farmers Market in the morning, where there will be food tastings, music, cooking demonstrations by Preserved, and demonstrations on worm farms and bokashi composting.

Available Saturday afternoon is a foraging tour to learn about wild foods available at harvest time in the harbour.

The festival will culminate in a locally-grown meal in Albion Square, with the ingredients being sourced locally and prepared by award-winning local chef Giulio Sturla, of Roots Restaurant. This meal will sow the seeds for a fully "community-grown" meal at next year's festival, a project in which the diners themselves grow or produce all of the ingredients. To book for the dinner, phone, email or visit the Lyttelton Information Centre. Tickets $20.

Event organiser, Lucette Hindin, describes the festival as "truly our most community-focused festival. The harvest means a lot to people, and it's a time when our farmers' market is overflowing with wonderful produce, so it just feels so good to get together and celebrate what summer has brought us, while we prepare together for the approaching winter."

For any further information, or questions refer to page 15.

- Are the boundaries right for your ward?
- Do you have enough Councillors in your ward?
- Do you have enough Community Board members?
- Should Banks Peninsula become part of a city ward?

MEDIA RELEASE*New Container Vessel Berth at Lyttelton Port Opens

The rebuilding of the first 57 metre section of the Lyttelton Port of Christchurch (LPC) Cashin Quay 2 wharf has finished, providing a second container vessel berth at the wharf for the first time since the February 2011 earthquake.

A number of vessels have used the new berth since it recently became available.

The rebuilding of Cashin Quay 2, following earthquake damage, is being delivered in stages. By late April the new wharf should reach 101 metres. The entire 230 metre long wharf will be completed by the end of the year.

“The new Cashin Quay 2 wharf is an important part of planning effectively for future growth and customer service,” said LPC Chief Executive Peter Davie. “It will be a development milestone, increasing capacity for the Container Terminal, boosting the number of berths available and providing increased operational efficiency for customers.”

An important part of the construction project has been driving more than 255 piles into the seabed and tying them to the wharf with steel anchor rods. This anchor system gives a high level of seismic resilience, providing a stronger structure than the previous wharf.

The main pile driving of 70 metre piles finishes this month, while driving the smaller 12 metre long piles will be completed by the end of July.

“The Port’s geography can present a challenge to minimizing noise and we are grateful to the local harbour communities for their patience during the project as we focus on keeping project sound at an appropriate level.”

“The new Cashin Quay 2 wharf is an important part of the long term plan to ensure we have a thriving Port that supports the Canterbury economy and the Christchurch earthquake recovery.”

Art Auction

We are very pleased to announce the 6th Peninsula Art Auction. The event will be held over the weekend of 18 – 19 April at 17B London Street, beneath the Lyttelton supermarket. The venue is the future home of Portside Barbell who have very generously agreed to allow us to use their venue before they open in late April. Proceeds from the Art Auction will benefit the Lyttelton Primary School, with past monies supporting a school arts programme and enabling year 7 and 8 children to attend school camp among many other activities.

The Peninsula Art Auction has established itself as a premier art event showcasing work by some of New Zealand's finest artists alongside exciting up and coming talent. The Banks Peninsula is one of those rare locations that attract a diversity of extremely talented and creative artists, and that's what makes this art auction so special. Work from artists who are connected with Banks Peninsula, including Dean Venroy, Bill Hammond, Mark Soltero, Nigel Jamieson, Ben Reid, Fred Tunnicliffe, Linda Pringle, Kate McRae, Stephanie Crisp, and Helen Taylor among many others will be auctioned.

Art works will be available for viewing, by gold coin entry, and a silent auction all weekend at 17B London Street, 10.00am to 4.00pm, and will culminate with a live auction at 7.00pm Sunday 19 April. Tickets for the live auction evening event are $35 and can be purchased at the Lyttelton Farmer's Market, the Lyttelton Information Centre, Coffee Culture or either of the two school sites. For further information please phone (03) 328 9560 or visit www.peninsula-art.co.nz for a sneak peek of the artwork.

We are very grateful to our major sponsors for once again supporting this event, including Peek Exhibition, Blue Fusion, Discover Travel, Mike Shine at Ray White Realty, Smith & Son Builders and Portside Barbell.

Kaitiakitanga and the Lyttelton Harbour Timebank

Education was the main theme of Timebank activities last year. This year the theme continues with an emphasis on Kaitiakitanga. This loosely translates as being caretakers or guardians of our environment. We see the Timebank as a place of learning and a place of taking responsibility for our immediate environment. During the year there will be opportunities for Timebankers to learn about our unique flora and fauna, the weeds that invade and some hands on activities looking at regeneration, seed collection and nurturing of plants.

We also want to recognize Timebank members who do things to enhance our environment. We know of many community members who have taken responsibility for small areas of land close to where they live. Some examples include weeding the cemetery plots, weeding the steps to Urumau Reserve, weeding small reserves, digging out blocked drains, pulling out invasive weeds as they walk or collecting rubbish. If this is you we'd like to recognize your community service. Please give yourself Timecredits for the work you have done. You are actively contributing to the wellbeing of us all. It's also a great way to show our council just how much we are collectively doing to maintain our town. We hope in the near future that Council will be a member of the Timebank! We envisage this would be a great way to share our collective resources.

Some of you will be thinking – why should people be paid timecredits for being a kaitiaki (guardian)? Timebanking is a way of honouring people's time and because timebanking is based on reciprocity it means that hopefully those people who spend hours and hours being kaitiaki can spend some credits on a treat for themselves provided by another timebanker. In addition, on funding applications (say, for example, to develop a new walking track) there is often a requirement to state volunteer hours. Our timebank tracks volunteer hours and volunteer numbers easily. If you are keen to get involved join the Timebank. Contact Sarah Pritchett or Wendy Everingham 328 9093 or visit www.lyttelton.net.nz/timebank and sign up at "Join the Timebank".

Busy C's Preschool, Lyttelton celebrates 20 years!

What a day for a party! On Saturday Busy C's Preschool saw children, whānau, kaiako (teachers), and supporters representing 20 years worth of nurturing and education in Lyttelton reunite.

Mini golf, bouncy castle, face painting, live music from the talented Busy C's old boys & girls (& dads), the primary school sausage sizzle, Pure Pulp making icecreams and juices AND a fabulous sea-inspired multilayered birthday cake made by the Lyttelton Well Women's Group – it was all there! The Busy C's team were on board at the preschool for people to experience and revisit their favourite activities, and pore over old photos and past books for some hilarious reminiscing!

Caro Davidson and James Fisher started the preschool in 1995 when their youngest was nine months old. "The community preschool that set up the site at the then Lyttelton West School had folded and I was planning my return to practice nursing after maternity leave, looking for a suitable early childhood facility for my two children. I felt very uncomfortable about having them attend a centre where I didn't know anyone, and wouldn't really know what was going on there – when the opportunity arose to start a preschool on this site" Ms Davidson says.

In her address Ms Davidson acknowledged the unique and positive contribution of all the kaiako, past and present, who have influenced the children's life journeys. And a special mention of Clair Hortin who was their first Supervisor. "Clair was was brave enough to come on board when it was just her & me & it was unknown if anyone would even turn up on the first day!". Since then approximately 900 children have enjoyed the Busy C's environment. Ms Davidson credited Clair's initial leadership with creating the "fun, loving, professional culture that continues at the centre today".

At Busy C's they pride themselves in employing only qualified (and wonderful) kaiako in their permanent teaching positions. This is over and above the present government's Early Childhood Regulations and funding support, but they believe it's essential. "Number 1 for a good preschool is qualified loving kaiako who are committed to working with children and whānau for the best learning outcomes". Caro believes Number 2 for a good preschool would be learning through play (tākaro). She states "play is the most intelligent thing a child can be doing! They are using all their senses while exploring and playing with an infinite amount of possible combinations of ideas, emotions, and perspectives to make sense of their world". Also essential she believes is opportunities for small group learning and having New Zealand's world class bi-cultural Early Childhood Curriculum, Te Whāriki guide the programme.

Ms Davidson thanked their many supporters over the years, including the Honorable Ruth Dyson donating her empty Easter Egg wrappers for creating collages – and a special thanks to Lyttelton's music maestro Al Park who generously oversaw the music for the day. She reassured us Busy C's in good hands going into 2015 with Bethan and a great team of kaiako, and James Fisher continuing to "quietly & calmly steer a very steady ship (as in Busy C's!)".

On behalf of herself and James, Caro thanked the parents and whānau for entrusting their very precious young into Busy C's care over the past 20 years, acknowledging the "honour and privilege for us - the Busy C's team - to be such an integral part of our community & our children's future".

She finished with "Busy C's plans to be around for the next 20 years nurturing & educating our children & mokopuna. Maybe not on this site – if we find some appropriate flat land near the new school when the hill site closes - but maybe we stay on this site... No panic!"

And cut the cake.

Article with thanks Caro Davidson.

Arts Ideas Flow

Art Spaces Number One Need

A large gathering of people interested in arts for the Harbour Basin gathered in Lyttelton on Wednesday evening. This community meeting was organised by Trent Hiles and the intention was to collectively listen to what is currently going on in our creative community and for attendees to share their thoughts about what they would like to see happen here, in the Harbour Basin.

Various groups were represented.

"That was quite an amazing inventory in itself there is so much happening in the arts scene in the Harbour" Trent said. Groups that attended included the Lyttel Punga Picture Club, Quilters, Lyttelton Art Space, Harbour Arts Collective, Tin Palace, Whakaraupo Carving Centre, Lyttelton School Art Auction, Diamond Harbour Painting Group, Project Lyttelton Events Team, Wednesday Knitters and Rotten Radio!

The most common theme coming from the evening was the desire for a multi-use place where people could carry out their practice, take part in or run workshops, exhibit and/or sell work, meet up with other creative's, drink coffee etc . Other ideas that came through strongly centred around a means of centralised 'arts' communication, where people could go to, to find out what is going on creatively in the Harbour Basin; and an Arts Trail.

Trent is really keen to explore just what spaces currently exist for arts related activities.

"From your own networks can you please make enquiries as to what is 'out there' and send me the details" he said.

The information he requires is:

- Type of building e.g. industrial warehouse, house, office space, basement, garage etc
- Construction materials e.g. timber or concrete building, including floor materials
- Location
- Size
- Rooms
- Availability
- Cost
- Owner/landlord contact details

He also highlighted that the gathering did not include everyone who would benefit from being involved so he encouraged the wider group to share any or all of this info with others.

"In particular let me know your skills/knowledge/ talents/connections (perhaps you think they are irrelevant to the creative cause...? Tell me anyway creative thinking can turn seemingly obscure attributes into project-saving solutions" he said.

Banks Peninsula Tui Restoration Project Te Pataka o Rakaihautu

"In the 1980's, the only remaining breeding population of tūi (Prosthemadera novaseelandiae) in the Christchurch/Banks Peninsula area dwindled and finally vanished. Exactly why tūi vanished from Banks Peninsula is unknown, but candidate causes include increases in densities of introduced mammalian predators, loss of suitable habitat, and potentially disease. Since then, much has changed on the Peninsula; approximately 15% of the Peninsula is now under regenerating bush, with about 4% formally protected, and the amount of area subject to some level of predator control is gradually increasing. The Tūi Restoration Project was developed by the Banks Peninsula Conservation Trust, Ngāi Tahu, and the Department of Conservation to plan and implement the reintroduction of tūi to Banks Peninsula. In 2009 and 2010, a total of 72 tūi were translocated from Maud Island (Marlborough Sounds) to Banks Peninsula, the first-ever mainland translocation of tūi. On behalf of the Tūi Restoration Group and the many enthusiastic Peninsula residents who have provided information and sightings, I will report on the translocation process and some of the interesting travels and habits of tūi in their new home."
