Think About Your Waste New Initiatives in Lyttelton

If we stopped using the 1.6 billion plastic supermarket bags we go through annually as a nation it would be the equivalent in greenhouse gas reductions as if we had taken 3600 cars off the road. Unfortunately the current government and the Packaging Forum (made up of manufacturers who produce packaging) favour a voluntary stewardship approach to plastic bags (and all packaging) and believe it is up to the consumer to refuse them or dispose of them properly. But as with smoking we will only see a significant shift in consumer behaviour if legislation supports such behaviour change. The proposed plastic bag recycling trial in Auckland is a bandaid solution that still puts the onus on consumers to dispose of their plastic wrapping and won't keep plastic bags from getting into our waterways and killing our marine life.

However, there are things that we consumers can do in the meantime. Lyttelton Supervalu gives out 3000 plastic bags per week. Often we start out with good intentions and buy a whole lot of reusable bags, but then leave them at home when we go shopping. Now in Lyttelton if you have forgotten your reusable bags you can borrow one from the BYO Bag Library just inside the door at the Supervalu. Rob has donated some reusable bags to start it off, and we hope customers borrow a bag when they forget theirs and then bring it back to the library next time.

The Lyttelton Farmer's Market also has a BYO Bag Library which sits outside the information stall. Just down from the information stall is the new Waste Matters stall which provides information about waste minimization and also sells items that are designed to help you reduce your waste.

At the Waste Matters stall you can borrow a cup from the Coffee Cup Library, as well as buying Love Lyttelton reusable coffee cups, bokashi bins, Lyttelton Farmers Market and Hungry Bins worm farms, Rubbish Whisperer mesh produce bags, honeywraps, reusable sandwich wrappers, top of the line glass coffee cups by Joco, large organic cotton market bags and biodegradable bamboo items.

On Saturday the 19th and Sunday the 20th September Waste Matters is coordinating beach clean ups in Lyttelton Harbour as part of Keep New Zealand Beautiful Clean Up week. I am looking for people to volunteer to be a coordinator for each beach – to hand out gloves and bags to other volunteers.

If you would like to participate in this event on either the Diamond Harbour side on Saturday the 19th September from 10am (Paradise, Church Bay, Diamond Harbour and Purau) or Lyttelton side on Sunday 20th September from 10am send an email to wastematters@lyttelton.net.nz

Report back Re Lyttelton Plastic Bag Free meeting

On July 22nd twenty-three of us met at the Lyttelton Club to hear Denise Roche, Green MP and spokesperson on waste speak as part of her national tour.

We all know that plastic waste of all sorts is a big threat to the planet. The removal of one use plastic bags from the disposal chain would be a start. Vast areas of the ocean now are now full of plastic "soup". Plastic breaks up into tiny particles which are ingested by fish and whales which mistake them for plankton, thus seriously damaging fish life, and that of the entire food chain, including birds which feed on the fish. Most plastic bags have a useful life of twelve minutes. In New Zealand we jettison well over a billion bags a year, and only today I saw a number of them floating around in Corsair Bay.

Denise showed us a map which reinforced how far behind a lot of the world we are. Approximately one third of the world has taken action, either banning plastic shopping bags outright, or imposing a levy on each one used. A number of third world countries have taken the initiative. Bangladesh has banned their use because they were clogging up their waterways and contributing to their flooding problems. WE have done nothing

While the government has proposed a trial recycling plant in Auckland, this still does not eliminate the problem, as people are notoriously careless in their disposal, or else they are unable/unwilling to deposit them at the depots provided. They also need to be relied upon to clean the bags before depositing them.

While there continues to be a demand, the manufacturers will continue to make plastic shopping bags, and many people still feel that they are essential. But we need to bear in mind that it was only in the 1980s that they came into use, and we all did perfectly well before then. We used alternatives.

We all need to take responsibility for this – consumers, retailers and manufacturers. At the meeting Helen, The Rubbish Whisperer, from Diamond Harbour, demonstrated her alternatives – net bags, reusable sandwich wraps and other items. These are available on line or at The Harbour Co-op. Of course we all know about the great Lyttelton Farmers' Market bags that Project Lyttelton sell. Henry Trading sell the old fashioned string bags in different sizes. So we do have alternatives here in Lyttelton.

If you forget to take your reusable shopping bags to the supermarket, there is a bin of used non plastic ones available at the supermarket. You pick up some there before you shop, and you can drop off your old ones there for forgetful people to use.

We talked about all this at the meeting, and at the end of the meeting it was agreed that many of us would like to meet up again to discuss what we as a community can do to further our aim to phase out plastic shopping bag use in Lyttelton.

A New Face at the Helm Lyttelton Rotary

Congratulations to Ingrid Thomas, the newly appointed President of Lyttelton Rotary. Ingrid is very excited about her new role and naturally has quite a few new ideas to move the club into its next phase.

She describes the Lyttelton Club as - the best little club in the world. "True to the Lyttelton traditions, our group runs differently to most Rotary branches!" she said.

Many Rotary Clubs meet weekly and the teams generally catch up over dinner. The Lyttelton branch meet fortnightly and it's the BYO supper which they all share. "In this group it's all about having fun and enjoying yourselves" Member numbers are small but that doesn't stop their enthusiasm.

Donna Heenan is the new Secretary and they are supported by Dick Brown as the Treasurer.

The new team has moved quickly and for this year their fundraising focus is: Children Youth Elderly.

They are always keen for new helpers and ideas. Contact Ingrid Thomas riching@xtra.co.nz or call: 328 8680

LYTTELTON GARDEN CLUB CLOSES

after one last Show in September.

Firstly, some local history: Star, Issue 5883, 28 May 1897, page 2 "Lyttelton Times" - "Horticultural Society - A meeting was held in the Board room at the Lyttelton Times Office yesterday afternoon for the purpose of organising a horticultural society among the employees of the Company. There was a good attendance, representing all the departments in the office and Mr J.C. Wilkin, manager, was voted to the chair. It was decided that the Lyttelton Times Chrysanthemum Society should be transformed into a horticultural society. Mr Wilkin was elected president, and Mr F.C. East, secretary, treasurer. A committee of twelve members representing the various departments was also elected, and other business was done in connection with the inauguration of the Society." (<http://paperspast.natlib.govt.nz/cgi-bin/paperspast>)

The Horticultural Society went on to become the Lyttelton Horticultural Society and many years later, the Lyttelton Garden Club (coming under the umbrella of the Canterbury Horticultural Society). Many Cups have been won over those years and many children have decorated sand saucers. Speakers and floral experts such as the late Prof Walker and Joyce Wales happily shared their knowledge and expertise.

However, at the AGM on Wednesday, 24 June 2015, five members sadly agreed unanimously to close the Club. Sometimes, organisations do need to close in order to be reborn. That way, the burden is lifted, but the friendships made over many years, remain.

There is hopefully, a 'however' – it may be that there are folk in or around Lyttelton who would like to start a new Lyttelton Garden Club. If so, do contact Dot Van der Meer, President, ph 332-3283, or Ann Jolliffe, Treasurer, ph 328-8917. There are a few things that are held in care, just in case a new Club is formed.

Lyttelton Garden Club members agreed to put on one last "show" in the Lyttelton Library from Friday, 11 September 2015 – 11am to 5pm and on Saturday, 12 September 2015, from 10am-12noon.

Whatever happens, 'thank you' to the past and present members over the many years, who have brought much beauty to the Lyttelton district. Many gardens have been created because of the keenness of members to learn a little about plants, flower arranging and to share in the knowledge of horticulture.

Collaboration and Sharing

"I came from Christchurch originally and then spent many years in Sydney working in the events and tourism industry. When my friends started getting overly excited about my rental property in Lyttelton compared to my small apartment in Sydney it set off a chain reaction that saw me move home and relocate to Lyttelton" said Helena McIntyre.

Helena's been on a new journey since returning three years ago. Whilst the views and the "stylish bohemian lifestyle" called her back she also came with a sense of responsibility. She had a house that needed major repairs. It wasn't fair on her Christchurch family to have to deal with all of that.

Initially she thought she could cross pollinate the skills she had developed in Sydney back to Christchurch. Unfortunately that didn't quite work so she decided to embark on a new career. Speaking with a friend who is a mortgage broker she decided to re-train. She's now fully qualified in that field and enjoying the freedom of being on the road and creating her new client base.

During a recent training session she stumbled on quite a bit of information about Kiwi Saver that she thought would be really useful to the wider community. In the spirit of collaboration and sharing that has evolved over the last few years she forwarded the information.

Are you aware what type of Kiwi Saver Account that you have? According to Helena's information over one third of all funds invested are in default or conservative funds and up to 1/3 of Kiwi Saver account holders don't even know the type of account they have.

Not all funds are the same. According to sorted.org.nz KiwiSaver fund finder the performance of growth funds over the past five years range from 4.30 %p.a right up to 7.51 %p.a.

With many KiwiSaver accounts now showing balances in excess of $10,000, your KiwiSaver fund can quickly become your second largest asset after the family home. For first home buyers Kiwi Saver may be your only way to accumulate the 20% needed for a house purchase. You are allowed to access your funds for this purpose.

Did you know that if you invest $1042.86 in Kiwi Saver for a year you will earn a member tax credit of an additional $521.43?

You can be 10 or 100's thousand better off in retirement if you make informed decisions.

If these small tips are useful to you may want to know more or need help from a Mortgage Advisor Helena McIntyre can be contacted on 021 028 33107 or helena@mx.co.nz (Helena's disclosure statement is available on request)

175 years ago . . . Lavaud and Hobson negotiate a compromise

On 17th July 1840 the Aube was still at anchor in the Bay of Islands. By 20th July, Captain Lavaud had conceded that he would not be able to declare French sovereignty over the South Island, but told Governor Hobson that he still intended to settle the French colonists at Akaroa. Eventually, face-saving measures were agreed between the British governor and the French naval captain. The French settlers would be allowed to disembark and stay in Akaroa, but under British governance.

Just to make sure there would be no ambiguity about the situation, Hobson decided to take further steps. On 22 July he issued formal instructions to Captain Owen Stanley, whose ship the Britomart was also still at anchor off Russell, ordering him to sail to Akaroa at once. Hobson's letter starts: "It being of the utmost importance that the authority of Her Majesty should be most unequivocally exercised throughout the remote parts of this colony, more particularly in the Southern and Middle Islands, where, I understand, foreign influence and even interference is to be apprehended, I have the honour to request you to proceed immediately in HM Sloop under your command to those islands."

So that Lavaud's suspicions won't be aroused, Hobson instructs Stanley to tell everyone that his destination is Port Nicholson (Wellington), but his real purpose would be to make sure he was at Akaroa by the time the French arrived.

He continues: "I have earnestly to request that you will at once depart for Akaroa and Banks Peninsula so that, on his [Lavaud's] arrival at that port, he may find you in occupation, so that it will be out of his power to dislodge you without committing some direct act of hostility . . . it will be advisable that some act of civil authority should be exercised on the islands, and for that purpose the magistrates who accompany you will be instructed to hold a court on their arrival at each port, and to have a record of their proceedings registered and transmitted to me."

It was a precautionary tactic employed by Governor Hobson, perhaps not really necessary, but it gave birth to the myth of "the race for Akaroa".

The Butcher, Milkman and the Paper Boy.

Most of us remember the old rhyme, the butcher the baker and so on, This story from the 1940s is rather similar. We had the choice of two butchers, Pitcathley's and Bundy's.

One delivered the weekend roast on a Friday afternoon by horseback. The delivery man would call at the back door with the order safely contained in a large cane basket. Outside one shop in London Street was a large water drinking trough for the horses.

The townships meat usually came from the Cass Bay works staffed by locals. Both butchers stocked high quality goods. Our meat was kept in a safe either hanging outside in free air or in a safe in the wall of a retaining wall. Some lucky folk may have had a large ice block that cost about two shillings.

Our milkman Bob Loader grazed his herd on the hillside behind our home and the milking sheds were round the Sumner road near where Cashin Quay is today.

Bob would arrive with his horse and cart and carry the large can of milk another of cream to the back door and ask if we wanted the billy filled with full creamy milk. Two pints cost about sixpence. Cream was available too. No pasteurization of the product then. One recalls on a wet wintery morning and raining Bob would lift the lid off the can his head bending forward over the can and picking up the dipper inside the can, (imagine where the rain from his hat went ?)

The paper boy also called at the back door with the press paper. No colour printing then, the layout of the paper being printed in inch columns, and very few pictures. But we did have the news all for three pence. The city had an evening newspaper the Star Sun. On a Friday it included a full page of cartoons, Cats and jamma kids. All in black and white !.

Money Conversion.

Three pence	about	4. Cents.
Six pence	about	5. Cents.
One shilling	about	10.cents.

Were those times better than today ?
Only time will tell we hope !

Debut

Jacob Chick

The Lytel Gallery under the direction of Reuben Romany is all about providing an art platform for residents of the harbour basin. Many of the artists exhibit for the first time. This month is no exception. Jacob Chick from Lyttelton is hosting his first show called Debut.

“My art is young and is just an expression of my current state and outlook. It’s created with a holistic energy that draws from our universe” Jacob explained.

Through art he explores his own views on life. He explains that these artworks examine the unknown spiritual world and so he’s tried to avoid the more logical and realistic subject matter. His surrounds and thoughts influence the works in great depth. Colours selected express emotion, pain and pleasure. He feels his current work is evolving faster as he’s reached the point where he feels he can now take influence from other artists.

“Before I was focused on developing a unique style therefor being extremely independent in the way I produce my work. taking no specific style, technique or influence. My art helps me find purpose of meaning and allows me to outlet emotion. This process of exploration and development has allowed me to produce a range of styles and techniques” he said.

After studying and drawing upon a system, he now has a degree in design. This was a test to produce useful well thought out products and services. His art was developed in harmony with this well-structured course.

Discussing arts and ideas in Wellington & involving himself in the art scene enabled him to develop an artistic outlook and creative approach to life. With the help of others he continues to grow.

“I intend to produce art for many years to come; in multiple different mediums, helping to develop teams, community, and love. I want to shape ideas of humanity. Flying through time and space my creative outlet and abstract machine will continue to shape and develop my outlook all while disciplined design will continue to structure this outlook, centre and ground myself” he said.

Debut - in Jacob’s words is “A series of work is based on the energy of the harbour. Focusing on forms, lighting and colors. Implying imagination. Taking the viewer on a journey”.

Lytel Gallery Monday to Saturday 10-4pm Sunday 11-3pm 20 Oxford St Lyttelton

Celebrating the Timebank Tenth Birthday Nears

It's a very busy time at the Timebank. Do you know that the tenth birthday is fast approaching? Yes the Lyttelton Harbour Timebank turns 10 in the first week of September. We have several celebrations planned. To make the event extra special Timebank NZ founder Margaret Jefferies has persuaded Air New Zealand to sponsor the original founder from the USA, Edgar Cahn on a journey to New Zealand.

His visit will ensure he is placed at the centre of our celebrations. Various workshops are being planned in Wellington and Christchurch plus a birthday party in Lyttelton. His Christchurch visit will give all the local Timebank's a chance to catch up plus ensure a great beginning for our partnership with the Christchurch City Council.

Running alongside this new members continue to join the Timebank. We might also be celebrating our 700th member!

KAITIAKITANGA

The main theme of our Timebank activities this year is Kaitiakitanga, caring for our environment. We have been actively working with groups who support this. Here are some activities that you can get involved with. Timebank members earn credits for participation.

Saturday 22nd August:

Morgan's Gully planting - meet at 9.30am at the Tennis Courts on Waipapa Ave, Diamond Harbour.

Sunday August 30th:

Urumau Reserve Lyttelton Community Planting Day, Two sessions 10-12pm 1-3pm. BBQ lunch provided 12-1pm. To register your interest contact Brian Downey lytteltonreserves@hotmail.co.nz

Saturday 19th September:

As part of Keep New Zealand Beautiful week help clean up beaches on Diamond Harbour side of harbour from 10am. Contact wastematters@lyttelton.net.nz to get involved.

Sunday 20th September:

As part of Keep New Zealand Beautiful week help clean up beaches on Lyttelton side of harbour from 10am. Contact wastematters@lyttelton.net.nz to get involved.

KNOWING YOUR NEIGHBOURS

Another project for Lyttelton sponsored by the Timebank is making sure residents are connected. This is a simple project that involves a neighbour collecting the contact details of their four nearest neighbours and sharing the information with each other on these specially designed cards. Together with a general information sheet and some useful phone numbers this project seeks to make sure we are all linked. If you haven't seen the cards yet and would like to be involved please contact the Timebank at the Information Centre 328 9093 timebank@lyttelton.net.nz and we can add you to the distribution list.

GARAGE SALE AND GODLEY CAFÉ

Each week we provide opportunities for Timebank members to gather or for potential members to find out more about us. Visit the Garage Sale on Thursday afternoons 2.30-3.30pm for an afternoon tea or pop over to Godley Café Friday mornings for a Timebank drop in.

To become a Timebank member head to the Project Lyttelton website www.lyttelton.net.nz or alternatively drop into the Lyttelton Information Centre. We are open Tuesday to Friday 10-4pm. After a one hour training session and two character references you'll be signed up and ready to be part of this vibrant network.

Naval Point Weekly News

Port Plan Update

The Lyttelton Port Recovery Plan hearings have concluded and the Panel's recommendations to the Minister are out. You can read these fully here: <http://ecan.govt.nz/our-responsibilities/regional-plans/lpr-plan/Pages/decisions.aspx>

The Club has quite a lot at stake in this process and the findings are both positive and disappointing in different ways. It is clear that Club has been heard in respect of the proposed cruise ship berth at Naval Point. Due in part to this but also significantly because of the Oil Companies' safety concerns and this has been removed from the Plan.

The Port Co owned land next to the Reserve is to stay in the Plan and be rezoned to Port Activities. This is disappointing as we did not want there to be any further reduction in land available to support recreation boating particularly in light of the cliff face setback due to rock fall hazard. We accept the difficulty the Panel faced on this issue as retaining the existing zone did not fit in with either the Port Recovery or Replacement District Plan processes.

The reclamation and movement of port activities east is approved together with the marina development in Dampier Bay. There are some additional environmental constraints around reclamation and dredging with a requirement for a Harbour Catchment Management Plan to be implemented but the proposal is enabled.

The Panel's Recommendations will now go to the Earthquake Recovery Minister for approval.

Big issues for the Club surrounding the planning and development of the Naval Point area remain very much unresolved. The Oil companies' safety concerns present significant challenges for the planning of the Naval Point site and the Club's plans for rebuilding. The unexpected raising of unquantified risk concerns due to 'sensitive activities' near the tank farm has drawn considerable criticism of the Oil Companies from Panel and others involved in this process. CCC together with the Oil Companies now need to produce a Quantitative Risk Assessment report as part of the Council's Replacement District Plan process. Any potential limitations on activities near the tank farm will now be considered as part of the Council's Plan and may have a significant bearing on use and development of land at Naval Point.

We wish to extend a big thank you to all the members who have made submissions on the Port Recovery Plan and the Replacement District Plan. The pre Hearing meeting for the Replacement District Plan Hearings is Monday 10 August at 12.30 at 348 Manchester Street. Click here for more info. It is hoped as many members as possible can speak to their submissions at the hearings.

We had hoped that the Port Recovery Plan process would clear the way for planning, recovery and development at Naval Point. However we now face further delay and more uncertainty than ever. The work continues.

LIFT Library Book Reviews

New Stocks

LIFT has two new books highly relevant to our understanding of what Christchurch has gone through and what we face.

1. I bought this book three days ago and have just finished it – the most compelling and moving book I have read in years! It is inspiring.

Fiona Farrell is a writer of poetry and fiction, and her skills enliven and beautify and arouse strong feelings about her many topics, covering the history of Christchurch, especially over the last 5 years.

The villa at the edge of the empire: one hundred ways to read a city 2015 Fiona Farrell

'Farrell writes as a resident caught up in a devastated city in an era when political ideology has transformed the citizen to "an asset, the raw material on which.....empire makes its profit." In a hundred tiny pieces, she comments on contentious issues, such as the fate of a cathedral, the closure of schools, the role of insurers, the plans for civic venues. Through personal observation, conversations with friends, and close readings of everything from the daily newspaper to records of other upheavals in Pompeii and Berlin, this dazzling book explores community, the love of place and, ultimately, regeneration and renewal.'

Listen to Fiona Farrell discussing the book and her concerns: <http://www.radionz.co.nz/national/programmes/ninetoon/audio/201764144/what-makes-a-city,-a-city>

2. Once in a lifetime: city-building after disaster in Christchurch 2014 ed. Barnaby Bennett (see him on https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nEz\_NFYD7fo ), James Dann, Emma Johnson, Ryan Reynolds (see him on <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LGYF7nG0UsQ> 2012)

This book 'offers the first substantial critique of the Government's recovery plan, presents alternative approaches to city-building and archives a vital and extraordinary time. It features photo and written essays from journalists, economists, designers, academics, politicians, artists, publicans and more. Once in a lifetime presents a range of national and international perspectives on city-building and post-disaster urban recovery.'

It's a big book, ideal for dipping into for a few pages whose titles or authors catch your attention. Although published last year, it is still highly relevant, especially as we face more changes in the management of Christchurch's future.

Have You Heard About Action Station?

What is Action Station?

ActionStation is here to enable the large community of Kiwis with shared progressive values to take powerful, coordinated action on urgent issues we care about.

Since the birth of democracy, citizens have acted collectively to hold powerful political & corporate decision-makers to account. The world is changing, the way citizens engage with politics is changing and democracy needs to change with it. There is a growing appetite for mechanisms that enable citizens' voices to be heard between elections in a range of ways.

ActionStation is a vital piece of democratic infrastructure for Aotearoa in the 21st century, here to reinvigorate the our proud tradition of participatory democracy and people power, using the potential of new technology.

What does that mean in practice?

Like Avaaz, but built by and for New Zealanders, ActionStation is a digital community connecting you with thousands of like-minded progressive Kiwis and providing you with opportunities to take collective action on issues that matter to you. Our job is to connect you up with others, so that your voice has more impact and power to hold political and corporate interests to account.

What kind of actions?

All sorts. Online actions like petitions, social media swarms and mass emails to decisions makers. Crowd-funded creative campaigns like TV ads or billboards. Offline actions like creative stunts, vigils or hikoi - and many other online and offline tactics we've seen used effectively by organisations like GetUp in Australia, MoveOn in the USA and 38Degrees in the UK.

What kind of issues?

ActionStation stands for a fair society, a thriving environment and transparent accountable politics. Every week there will be dozens of opportunities to mobilise for collective action. Informed and led by our members, we'll choose the issues and actions that have the greatest potential to contribute to those three broad aims.

Who's behind ActionStation?

Independent and member-led, we are affiliated with no political party, and answer only to our members. ActionStation is a not-for-profit organisation and relies on donations from real people to fund its work and in-kind donations from the public. We do not accept donations from political parties or the Government.

If you think that ActionStation is a much needed solution to the problem of political disengagement and you want to see us thrive -- then please join us.

SILHOUETTES

Kiri Hookings pops into the Lyttelton Information Centre often as part of the Fruit and Vegetable Collective. We get chatting as you do in Lyttelton. She's quite new to our area and has moved here with her family from the North Island. Looking after her young family and studying psychology by correspondence keep her pretty busy.

Like most of us she's also got a hobby or two, Mucking around in her art shed she started playing with the idea of silhouettes from photos. She sent a couple away as gifts to friends and family in Australia and got some great feedback. This has given her the confidence to explore this art a little more.

"I'm wanting to move my hobby into something bigger" she said.

If you are keen to help her explore this idea or looking for a special gift you can look for her on facebook: Silhouettes by KH – personalised paintings or email silhouettesbykh@hotmail.com

Review Welcomes Student Journalists

In another community initiative by the University of Canterbury, student journalists are being placed in communities to assist telling our stories.

Oli Lewis and Eliza Ballantyne will join the Lyttelton Review team. For the next couple of months they will be sharpening their journalistic skills on our local stories.

Work notice: St Davids Street, Lyttelton, retaining wall repairs

What	Retaining wall repairs
Where	St Davids Street
When	From Monday 27 July until the end of the year

Where

Wall 2 is expected to begin in mid August and is expected to take around four months

Wall 3 schedule is to be determined

Wall 1 will begin on Monday 27 July and is expected to take around four months

Key:
█ Wall 1 - in front of 15-17 Sumner Road
█ Wall 2 - in front of 40 St Davids Street
█ Wall 3 - in front of 14 St Davids Street

Traffic impact:

For wall 1, from Monday 27 July:

- Access to St Davids Street from Sumner Road will be unavailable.
- Please use Exeter Street to access St Davids Street.

As the work on wall 1 progresses towards Sumner Road the traffic management will change.

The upper part of Sumner Road (access to 17-43 Sumner Road) will need to be closed during the day from 8am - 5pm. During this time when parking is limited for residents we will be making more parking available on Sumner Road by decreasing the size of our Sumner Road stage 4 worksite. Vehicle access will be available to properties overnight. We will update residents before this stage of the work begins.

Key: █ No entry

EXHIBITIONS:

AUGUST 6-23

Tin Palace

War Story Tatyanna Meharry
war sTOry explores methods that are imbued into our psyche to make the sacrifices of war possible. The men and women who become toys on a plastic field whilst others play a blind game of tactics, officials who treat numbers on a page as expendable goods, asking: when do the toys become real? Ceramicist Tatyanna Meharry is granddaughter to celebrated NZ artist Doris Lusk and was the winner of the 2013 WoW supreme award.

Don't miss this exhibition and the associated programmes with the artist and University of Canterbury history tutor Dr Gwen Parsons.
