LOONS THEATRE TRUST CROWDFUNDING A BIG WIN

Lyttelton, New Zealand, 5 November 2015

Local theatre company the Loons Theatre Trust has raised over $95,000.00 in a wildly successful crowdfunding campaign.

The Loons Theatre Trust have been Begging For It with a Boosted crowdfunding campaign to raise $70,000 for retractable seating for their new performing arts centre the Lyttelton Arts Factory. Donations closed at midnight on Thursday 5 November, and as we send out this press release the total amount raised at Boosted stands at $95,287.33 with 341 generous donors.

Fundraising highlights of the campaign include a raffle for house concert from the Eastern, a sell-out concert by Marlon Williams, a quiz night at Lyttelton Primary School, two original paintings donated by Tim Man artist Tony Cribb, which auctioned on Trade Me, and the school craft fair run by the children of Lyttelton. Add to that the numerous donations of time and talent from performers, artists, musicians, designers, writers, videographers, PR experts and web developers and we have a true community effort.

The Loons Theatre Trust team is touched by the enormous outpouring of support and affection they have experienced throughout the crowdfunding campaign. Loons Production manager Darryl Cribb says: "We went into this campaign knowing it was going to be a colossal effort. And it was just as much hard work as we thought it would be! But it was worth every late night, not only because we've hit target and made enough money to buy the retractable seating for the theatre, but because we have been truly humbled by the incredible support shown to us by the community. The extra money we have raised here will now go toward other important elements of our theatre fit out. Thank you all for helping us bring live theatre back to Lyttelton."

Boosted General Manager Simone Hunter says: "The Loons Campaign has been a joy to be part of. For Boosted, it represents so many elements in executing a successful crowdfunding campaign. The Loons team are passionate, but they are also utterly professional in their business planning, their PR and communications, understanding their brand and telling their story to an audience so expertly, from local to international. They also understood that momentum starts locally, and so their 'home' and activity was firmly founded within the Lyttelton community.

The Loons Theatre Trust must raise $392,000.00 to fit out the new theatre. The retractable seating costs $150,000, and has been funded predominantly by the crowdfunding campaign and Creative New Zealand, who pledged $50,000 towards the seats if the Loons could raise the balance. The Loons are still to raise $241,438 for lighting, sound and other theatre equipment, and are looking to major grants funding. The Theatre Trust will also be looking to establish long-term partnerships with local businesses to sponsor productions.

ABOUT THE LOONS THEATER TRUST AND THE NEW PERFORMING ARTS CENTRE

The Loons Theatre Trust are partnering with the Ministry of Education and Lyttelton Primary to build a dual facility school hall and theatre on the new Lyttelton school campus called the Lyttelton Arts Factory or LAF. The Ministry of Education will fund the building. The Loons Theatre Trust is raising the money to fit the space out as a performing arts centre with retractable seating, staging, lighting, and sound rigs.

When the new performance space opens in 2016, it will be home to The Loons Theatre Company, which means the live theatre spectaculars the Loons are famous for will return to Christchurch. In addition the space will be used by children to learn drama and dance as part of the Loons in Schools educational program. The Loons' vision is to offer a top class performing arts education to the children of Christchurch and create a drama course for young adults, offering scholarship opportunities for further study in the UK. The new theatre will also be a much needed performance venue for touring arts companies, international acts, live music, community events, and school theatre.

Grassroots solution for Lyttelton Library

Lyttelton is going to get a temporary library for the ten months the London Street building is under repair. The Trinity Hall, within the Lyttelton Recreation Centre, is to be temporarily used as a library, as a result of a combined community and Council working party finding suitable alternate premises.

Paula Smith and Councillor Andrew Turner who are both working party and Community Board members, agree the community-led solution is a great outcome. "I want to thank Council staff, including Library staff and the community for working together to find a solution that works for all parties. This has been a great collaboration and a great result," says Cr Turner. Faced with being without a library building for ten months next year, the Lyttelton community were feeling the pinch. Although library services, such as the mobile van, pre-school and after school programming, wi-fi and a lounge concept were going to be provided, no temporary library was available due to high set-up costs and Council budget constraints. But Lytteltonians value their library space, says Penny Carnaby, chair of the working party.

"Kids come after school (there is no current school library either), crews from boats in port keep in touch with their families via free Wi-Fi and users find it not so easy to access other town libraries. Babytimes, Storytimes and other after school programmes are also well used by the community."

At a passionate community meeting on Wednesday 21 October, the community asked for a temporary library space to be found in Lyttelton. A working party was formed comprising of community representatives and the Community Board supported by Council staff. Together they came up with alternative venues, worked through the issues of cost, connectivity, structural weight bearing capacity (books are particularly heavy) and displacement of other community groups. Ms Carnaby, is pleased that in three short weeks a solution has been found. "This is a win-win for Lyttelton and the library," she says. "The community had a need, the Council listened, the community stepped up to offer positive affordable ideas and a grassroots solution has been found. We are all delighted."

Radio personality and working party member Gary McCormick was vocal in his belief the library space was vital for the community and now celebrates the result.

"This has been a fantastic solution, but then Lyttelton is a fantastic community," he says. "When the Loons needed money to continue, the community raised $95,000 in a month. When the library was going to be shut, the community broke into problem solving mode and with tenacity and passion wouldn't let up until a solution was found."

Five different venues and options were looked into but many did not provide the space needed. Trinity Hall was the best option as it is a large space with good natural light in a Council-owned building. This means the cost of providing a temporary library is minimal. The temporary library will house about 80 per cent of the current collection of books and will also provide space for other programmes to continue.

The working party also has some new and exciting ideas about how to help get the temporary library open, including the possibility of a community working bee to get the books and shelving physically shifted. More information will be available about this soon.

Community representatives of the working party were Penny Carnaby, Krystal Coppel, Gary McCormick, Bridget O'Brien, Luke Parker, Jaimee Pham and Justyn Strother.

Well Done Marlon

Everyone in Lyttelton is really proud of Marlon's amazing achievements. To think 10 years ago he was singing at the first Lyttelton Summer Street Party with Ben Woolley and their band Woolley Fish and now he's winning NZ Awards and is tipped to be the next big artist from New Zealand. Congratulations.

Juliet Adams

An activist and 'facilitator of information'

In 2011 she lost her job and suffered a stroke, but instead of stopping her it set in motion a chain of events that made Juliet Adams want to make the world a better place, one book at a time. Oliver Lewis reports.

Fingers extending, Juliet Adams begins counting off the groups she is involved with.

The 74-year-old is sitting in the living room of her Lyttelton house. She's just picked her grandson up from kindergarten and later on there is a meeting with 350, a climate change organisation she shows films for.

"TPPA, minutes for the Timebank meetings, Tuesday Club with Garry Moore..."

Floor-to-ceiling windows offer commanding views over the harbour, a place Juliet has come to love since she moved here in 2007. Beside them sit two bookcases, one of which has a hand drawn sign saying LIFT library.

"It stands for Living Economies, Inspiration, Facts and Transition," she says.

The library is a Project Lyttelton service Juliet runs to educate people about issues like sustainability, money and politics. Each Saturday she takes a trolley bag full of books down to the Lyttelton Farmers Market and encourages people to sign up. For a $20 subscription they can hire any of the books or films that have been donated or which Juliet has bought for the library herself.

She also writes a weekly newsletter for the 130-odd members, where she describes any new additions and provides information on upcoming events.

"That's what I see as my purpose," she says, "I'm a facilitator of information."

Sharing inspiration

Being a teacher is nothing new to Juliet. She used to teach English in Japan and China before moving back to New Zealand in 2007 when her daughter, Jenny Garing, started a deli in Lyttelton called Ground.

What is new is the activism and community spirit that have fired her up and left her feeling like she, too, can be a mover and shaker.

"I've got more energy now than I did two or three years ago," she says, energy she attributes to working with the people in Project Lyttelton, Margaret Jefferies, who started the Lyttelton Timebank, Garry Moore, and Gen de Spa, organiser of the anti-TPPA movement in Christchurch.

These people inspired her, but three things needed to happen before Juliet found the time and the motivation to become engaged herself.

In 2011 the earthquakes destroyed Ground, where she had been working seven days a week; she joined the Lyttelton Timebank; and then, only a few weeks after joining, she had a stroke.

"I had no strength," she says, "basically I was just sitting, even walking up the stairs from the bedroom was a struggle."

For a woman who hates being idle, it was enormously frustrating.

The stroke left her unable to earn the Timebank hours she needed to get help driving to the doctor. So, in an act of generosity, Margaret Jefferies told Juliet she could contribute to the Timebank by reading and summarising a book about the origins of the movement: No More Throw-Away People by Edgar S. Cahn.

LiftLibrary

"It changed my life," Juliet says.

Beforehand, Juliet – who describes herself as reserved – was never involved in the community; she had never engaged with the kinds of ideas she found herself reading about.

"It was a whole new world for her," Jefferies says, and she seized upon it immediately.

Jefferies was the person who inspired Juliet to start the LIFT library.

Four years ago, during a national Timebanking Hui, Living Economies founding member Helen Dew ended up staying with Juliet. They got talking, and Dew happened to mention a library she had started.

During the Hui, Jefferies and Dew talked about how great it would be if Lyttelton had something similar and Juliet, who had worked as a librarian in the past, seemed like the natural candidate to run it.

Within a couple of months, the first instalment of books had been sent down from Carterton. Since then, Juliet has been a regular fixture at the Lyttelton Market and a presence across so many groups in the city that, counting them on her fingers, she loses track.

"That level of energy, it's impressive, for anyone of any age," de Spa says.

When told that Juliet considers her an inspiration, she goes quiet on the phone. "Wow," she says, "it's humbling to hear that, but believe me: we belong to a mutual appreciation society."

The people who inspired her then, have in turn become inspired by Juliet, the 74-year-old whose striking energy and passion are benefiting both Lyttelton and the wider community through the education she offers to "make the world a better place."

Looking up at the ceiling she stops and apologises, "I've noticed some cobwebs," she says, "but I think other things are more important."

Rock'n'Roll Poetry Show

Presents Ben Brown and Andy Coyle at the Wunderbar, Lyttelton Sunday 29th November doors open 8pm show starts 8.30 $10.

Ben Brown and Andy Coyle are back at the Wunderbar for their annual poetry show. A tradition dating back to 2008. This year the poets are laying down their hardest hitting most electrifying poems in the spirit of rock'n'roll. These are performers who stand alone at the microphone ready to take you on a journey, who can turn their souls inside out for your inspection, who can rage against the establishment, who can offer staunch love tributes, and who can drag an audience through unexpected echelons of the imagination.

Ben Brown (Ngati Paoa, Ngati Mahutu) was born in Motueka in 1962. He tours and performs regularly around the country, and at literary and music festivals. He is recognised nationally as one of the country's best performance poets. He has numerous publications to his name, including his most recent book of poetry Between the Kindling and the Blaze; Reflections on the concept of Mana.

Andy Coyle has represented Christchurch in the NZ Poetry Slam finals. He has toured poetry around New Zealand and has appeared in a number of literary festivals, street festivals, performance festivals and Jazz festivals. In 2015 his first collection of poetry Ode to the Cyclist and other poems was published by The Republic of Oma Rapeti Press.

Lyttelton Port Recovery Plan

Local Comment

"Minister Brownlee has made sure LPC can move the Diamond Harbour ferry berth to Dampier Bay any time it wants to.

Yesterday the operative version of the Lyttelton Port Recovery Plan was released (see CERA website), and buried in the appendices is a change which makes it impossible for CCC to decline any land use consent application LPC may make to move the ferry berth away from the current location.

The current location at B jetty is within a handy walkable 400 metres of shops and services in Lyttelton including the Lyttelton Farmers Market. LPC wants to move it further away to Dampier Bay to support the economic viability of commercial waterfront development there. The walk between the town and the ferry will be longer and much less pleasant for ferry users. Lyttelton Mt Herbert Community Board has argued that this makes it less likely Diamond Harbour people will choose to use the ferry to go to the shops, services, restaurants, performances etc. in Lyttelton, undermining the economic and social well being of both communities.

The independent panel appointed to hear all the submissions on the draft recovery plan supported the many community submissions opposing the ferry move by recommending that an application for resource consent to move the ferry berth should be publicly notified. The proposed restricted discretionary activity status meant the Council's decision could be declined if appropriate.

Minister Brownlee has changed the activity status to controlled activity which means the application MUST be granted. Case law prevents Council from making a condition which would frustrate the proposal (such as approving it in a location different from the one in the application).

So we have been screwed over, well and truly. I don't know what to do. It seems we are powerless and the whole submission process was a farce. All I can suggest is that people write a letter to the editor of The Press. It seemed to worked for Victoria Square".

Global Climate Mobilisation

Greet the Dawn at Godley Head:

Sunday November 29 2015

This event has been created to send a message to Paris that global climate mobilisation is an issue and something needs to be done about it.

Be part of a worldwide statement of support for clean energy. We will be singing and dancing at sunrise and sending a message to the UN climate summit in Paris. We will walk past the gun emplacements to the tip of the head as the sun comes up out of the sea.

Duration time of 3hrs, from 5:30am till 8:30am. This is a easy walk, with a duration of around fifteen minutes. It is a FREE event and all ages are welcome.

Meet at Godley Head car park. Bring warm clothes, a drink bottle, and camera/phones if you want to take photos.

What you can expect from this event is speakers, discussing ideas and the significance of global climate mobilisation. You will be involved in a message we will be sending back to Paris, around the importance of needing to do something about global climate mobilisation. You will have the experience of hearing different individuals reading a piece from Chief Seattle's speech, through a megaphone. You will see photos and recordings being taken of this event and will be able to hear a few songs, as the sun rises. Feel free to bring up your own breakfast and eat together as the sun rises.

Parliamentary Select Committee in Christchurch

Interested in getting a bit closer to the workings of Parliament? One of the select committees is having a hearings day in Christchurch this week. Submitters are being heard on Wednesday 25 November for the Environment Canterbury (Transitional Governance Arrangements Bill). The meeting starts at 8.30 am at the Christchurch City Council chambers at 53 Hereford Street and is scheduled to run all day.

Members of the public are welcome to be in the gallery. This is a good opportunity to see another part of the parliamentary process in action. Did you know here are up to thirteen subject area Parliamentary Select Committees? Generally they meet in Wellington so this is a good opportunity to see what happens locally. There are also two other proposed bills that relate directly to Canterbury. Submissions are being called for now.

Greater Christchurch Regeneration Bill

The purpose of this bill is to provide a new legal framework to support the regeneration of greater Christchurch over the next 5 years. New legislation is needed to recognise the shift in focus from recovering from the Canterbury earthquakes in the Canterbury Earthquake Recovery Act 2011 to regeneration. This includes providing for the timely, future development of greater Christchurch and enabling an increased role for local leadership.

Our 23rd Cake for Greatness recipient is Steph Mainprize!

Steph was nominated for her enormous generous heart and this was evident the minute I walked into her office. She has made significant contributions as a Rotary member, is passionate about youth in our community, has personally purchased a large amount of plastic containers for Community House's meals on wheels, donated household goods to needy local families after the earthquake and on a near daily basis doing something generous for someone. She shares her daughters clothing and toys as hand-me-downs to many folk in Lyttelton. Anyone who knows Steph knows she is a huge community-minded person with boundless energy and passion for supporting people. Helen MacGougan nominated Steph and said that whenever she asks why she is so generous, Steph's answer is because she just loves to see people smile when she gives them something. We need more people like this! And the good deeds don't stop there! She is also well-known for surprising people with her famous lemon or orange cake when people are struggling, so it was only fitting we made a cake for her. Steph I hope you and all those at the conference enjoys the coconut and lime cake.

Who else can we add to the Cake for Greatness whanau? Send your nominations to me either through my Facebook page or my website; www.rushanis.co.nz Remember, I'm looking for Lytteltonians, either a group of, a local business or an individual, doing good on a regular basis, for the betterment of our wonderful community. No good deed is too small, it takes all sorts of good people to make a place wonderful and we are fortunate to have many kind-hearted people amongst us.

Congratulations to Julia Sugarman-Halliday on becoming our 24th Cake for Greatness recipient. I found Julia this morning sitting in Albion Square with a group of other mums, their children having a lovely play in the sun. It became apparent to me the reason why Julia was nominated - she embraces the universal meaning of mother. She was sat with other women, relaxed and openly engaged in conversation. She exudes acceptance and loveliness and was nominated for having an open heart for everyone. Julia doesn't like to leave anyone out because she believes everyone should be made to feel welcome and included in our community. The ultimate tribeswoman. She is always willing to help with other children in Lyttelton, whether it be picking them up or dropping them off or babysitting half of the kids in our village. Unfortunately for Lyttelton but fortunately for them Julia and Nat are going on an adventure to Rarotanga for a year. We wish them all the very best with this exciting adventure and look forward to welcoming them back with the same enthusiasm and love as they have shared so generously. Thank you to Andrea Solzer for the nomination.

Cake for Greatness wouldn't exist without nominations from our community. If you know of any unsung heroes please send me a nomination. You can send me a private message here or through my website; www.rushanis.co.nz

Changing the Guard

Many New Faces at Harbour Co-op

Visionary leaders Brian and Judith Rick moved on from their managerial roles at Harbour Co-op at the beginning of this year. Like all great initiatives the strength of them is providing for new people to come in, keep the vision of the original leaders growing whilst enabling new people to have the ability to create and experiment moving the initiative in ways never anticipated.

Lillee Star and Paola Mastria are the lucky pair who have the opportunity to keep the original vision burning and add their flavour to our much loved Harbour Co-op. They have been appointed the new managerial team.

"I've been at Harbour Co-op for just over two years" said Lillee. "I had wanted to work at an organic store for many years, and after applying for the second time I got my opportunity when one of the part time shop assistants, Julia, gave up a shift so I could be part of the team. From that time on my hours increased and then 6 months ago I became the Inventory Manger".

With the new restructure Lillee has now been promoted to the Shop and Staff Manager. Already her week is really full as they are in the middle of hiring more staff for the front counter.

Lillee originally from the UK has been in New Zealand over 6 years. She headed to the South Island about four years ago and hasn't wanted to leave ever since! "I love the natural way of living here and how you are more in touch with nature. I also really appreciate the wholesomeness of everything. This is not just food but people as well. The shop and the community reflect this".

Paola is also another newish immigrant. She moved to New Zealand in 2014 and she is now a permanent resident. Originally from the Piedmont region and the town of Biella in Italy, she followed her husband's dream of wanting to live here. Over the years they travelled backwards and forwards between the two countries and now finally that dream became a reality and they are permanent residents.

Paola is a Chartered Accountant. This ties in perfectly with her new role. She's taken over as Manager for Finances and the Shop. "I saw the role advertised in the paper and thought it was time to do something different and be closer to people". She also is excited by the possibilities not only for work but her new lifestyle as well. "Everything just seems more possible in New Zealand. It's more creative, free, and feels a lot less stressed than where we came from" she said.

For the immediate future Lillee and Paola will just be trying to get their heads around the daily operation of the shop. "There is quite a bit to manage with multiple staff, a team of volunteers and all the jobs that need doing. Harbour Co-op are always keen to have more helpers. Did you know if you volunteer you get a 20% discount on purchases for every two hours of help you can give?"

Volunteer roles include packing, sorting, rotating stock, and helping with deliveries.

Just in case you didn't know you can also become a member of the Co-op. currently they have 196 members and are aiming to hit 200 by years end. That's one of the goals to be achieved by the new team.

Upcoming Changes at Christchurch & Canterbury Tourism

Wednesday 11 November 2015

I am writing to advise you of proposed changes that are likely to take place at CCT prior to the end of the 2015/16 financial year for CCT which finishes on 30 June 2016.

Proposed Change of Ownership

The first change relates to a proposed change of ownership. The Destination Christchurch Trust (DCT) which owns CCT has recently decided to transfer the shares of Christchurch and Canterbury Marketing Limited (which is the official company name for CCT) to the Canterbury Development Corporation which is a Council Controlled Organisation. This transfer has not occurred as yet but has been recommended for two reasons.

Compliance with Companies Act

A recent change in the Companies Act no longer allows for a limited liability company to be owned by a trust with a charitable purpose, which is what DCT currently is. Unless CCT can comply with this new legislation it will be unable to file an annual return and will eventually be unable to continue trading.

New structure to enable future visitor strategy implementation

CCC as the major funder of CCT sees the proposed ownership by CDC as an interim step towards the functions of CCT becoming part of a bigger economic development entity. Council is currently giving consideration to placing the functions of CCT into a broader economic development agency whose primary focus will be on delivering a broader visitor strategy, a higher impact major events strategy and an overall economic development strategy for both Christchurch and Canterbury. To progress towards this goal CCC intend to form a governance steering group which will assess the existing delivery structures in these areas and consider the most optimal structures for delivering future outputs in these areas. The tourism needs will be strongly influenced by the recently released Christchurch Visitor Strategy which was instigated and funded by Christchurch Airport and is expected to be endorsed by Council tomorrow. The proposed steering group to oversee these changes will be tasked with delivering a new structure proposal by February 2016 and a new entity could potentially come into operation on 01 July 2016. CCT would be represented within the steering group and we have asked that any key recommendations on future structure also have direct input from visitor sector representatives (i.e. our CCT Business Partners). We expect to be able to provide further clarity on this consultation process in coming weeks.

2015/16 Business Plan Delivery

The initial change of ownership of CCT to CDC will have no immediate impact on the day-to-day operations at CCT. CCT will deliver its current year Business Plan with its current staff and budgets up until 30 June 2016. All contracts, agreements, leases and employment arrangements will remain unchanged. The current CCT Board structure will stay in place as its own entity until the next phase of structural change is agreed with key stakeholders. When the proposed future recommendations have more form we will be organising a Special General Meeting to discuss these recommendations and answer questions from our valued Business Partners.

If you have any immediate questions about these proposals could you please contact me at tim.hunter@christchurchnz.com.

Review Creators

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a 100% voluntary community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committee Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic, sport announcement, fundraiser or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

Lyttelton Library

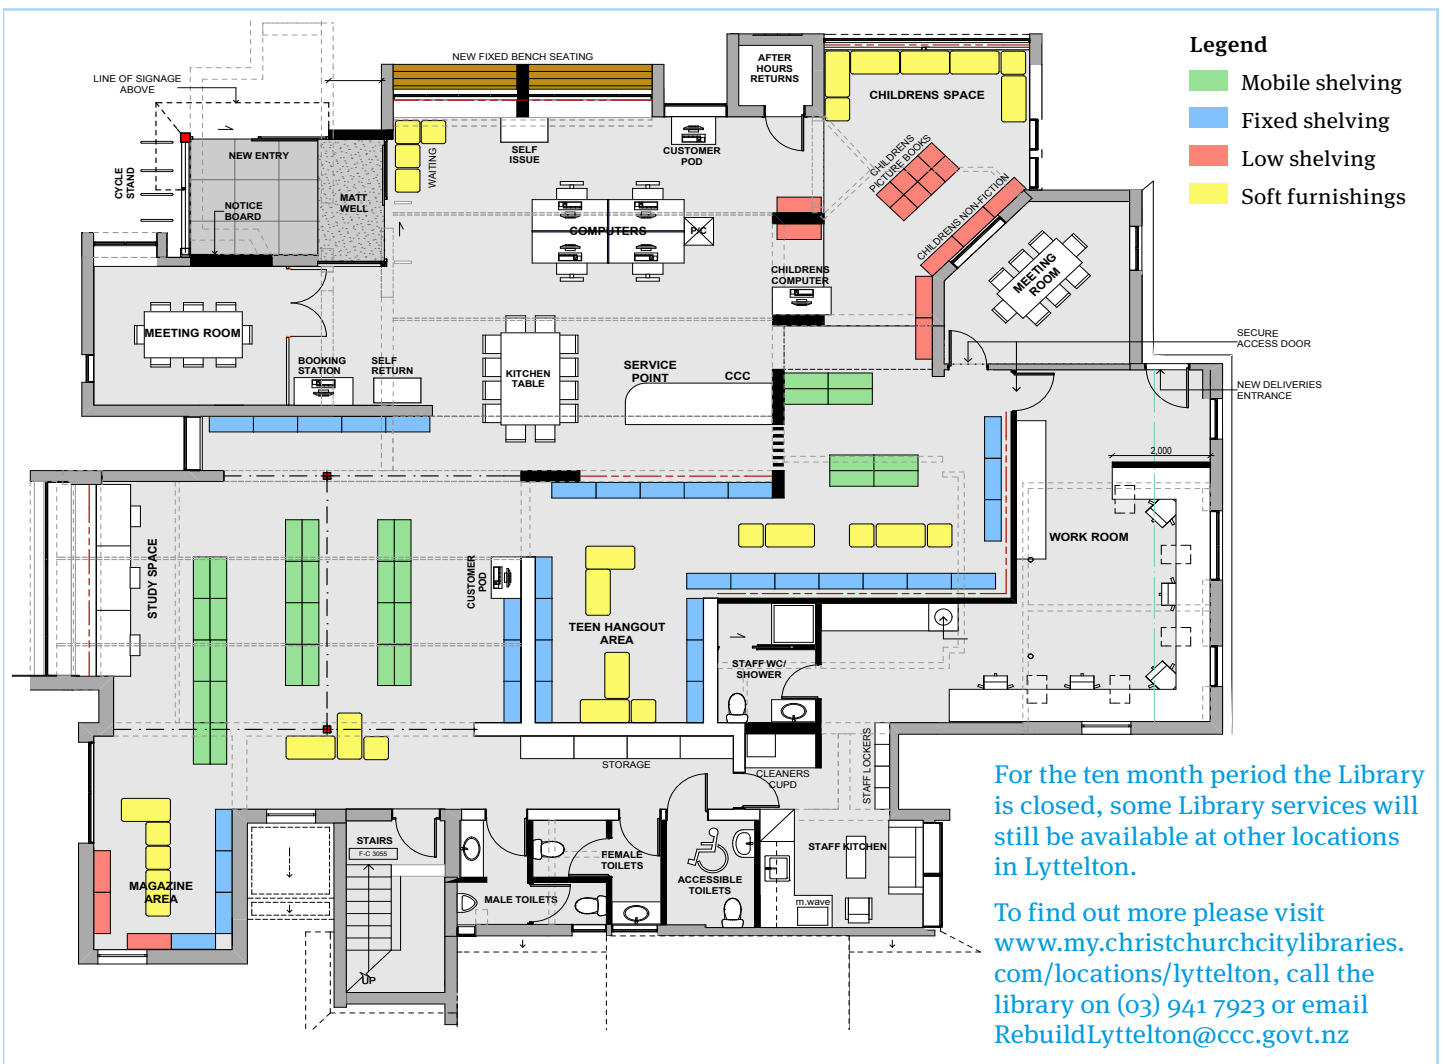

The Lyttelton Library building is being repaired, strengthened and refurbished. In the Lyttelton Master Plan you told us you wanted a combined library and service centre and we've listened.

Features include:

- A repainted exterior, a new entrance, and other minor exterior upgrades
- A new layout for the interior including flexible space and bookable meeting rooms
- A layout that will make the most of the sun and natural light
- An improved magazine area, children's area and youth area
- A Council service desk for community inquiries, paying rates, dog registrations, etc

Build timeframe: February to November 2016

Reopening: December 2016

For the ten month period the Library is closed, some Library services will still be available at other locations in Lyttelton.

To find out more please visit www.my.christchurchcitylibraries.com/locations/lyttelton, call the library on (03) 941 7923 or email RebuildLyttelton@ccc.govt.nz

This drawing shows the confirmed structural floor plan. The final arrangement of furniture and shelving may change.

RUNS FROM 30 November - 12 December 2015

ADD SOME CHRISTMAS CHEER/LOVE TO RESIDENTS WITH DONATIONS OF NON-PERISHABLE FOOD AND GIFTS (NEW AND PRE-LOVED).

The Tree of Hope was started in Lyttelton three years ago by Timebanker and Garage Sale coordinator Teresa Cameron. This year Diamond Harbour will join Lyttelton having its own Tree of Hope at Stoddart Cottage. Trees will also be located at Lyttelton Library and the Lyttelton Information Centre. Gifts left under the trees will then be distributed to residents based on your nominations. A nomination box will be under each tree. Write down the name and address of someone you think needs some Christmas cheer and then on December 12th the organising committee will distribute the gifts based on the nominations. Donations can be left under the trees from November 30 - December 12 2015.

Work notice: Brittan Terrace, Lyttelton, wastewater segment replacements

What	Replace earthquake damaged sections of the wastewater main
Where	Brittan Terrace, between house number 22 and 36
When	From Wednesday 18 November for around three weeks

Where:

What we're doing:

The wastewater main on Brittan Terrace was significantly damaged in the earthquakes. On Brittan Terrace there are six segments of the pipe that need to be dug up and replaced.

Due to the large number of segment repairs we expect this work to take around three weeks to complete, with each repair taking around three days to complete.

Two way traffic will be maintained at all times with a combination of traffic lights, stop go systems and priority giveway systems.

If we are replacing a section of pipe directly in front of your driveway, vehicle access will be restricted. Where possible, we will make access to your property available overnight. We will leave an access restriction notice in your letterbox the day before the work starts to give you time to move your car.

Key:

- Segment replacement

What to expect:

General Information:

Please contact Fulton Hogan on 0800 277 3434 if you have any specific access requirements that we need to consider e.g. nurse/doctor visits, Meals on Wheels, or planned works on your property.

Our standard work hours are Monday to Friday between the hours of 7.00am to 6.00pm.

There will be increased noise, dust and vibration levels.

Works will have no planned impact on current power, telecommunication, water or gas services. However, the network is still fragile so please be prepared in case there is an unexpected service cut off.

All works are subject to favourable weather and on-site construction conditions.

Safety is our number one priority. Safety is your responsibility too. Stay clear and stay alert - keep children and pets at a safe distance from the work site.

If you are not the owner of this property please pass this leaflet onto your landlord or property manager.

Need more information?
