Review Creators

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a 100% voluntary community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committee Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic, sport announcement, fundraiser or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

Cakes For Greatness

Introducing our 34th Cake for Greatness recipients, Andreas and Jodi. They moved to Lyttelton around 7 years ago and we are unfortunately losing them to Christchurch, but not without a Cake for Greatness thank you.

Not only has Andreas served as a dedicated volunteer on our local Lyttelton fire brigade, but he has also spent the majority of Sunday mornings teaching our children basic soccer skills for free down at the Lyttelton rec centre.

Encouraging children to learn a sport, introducing them to possibly their first experience of a team and getting lots of exercise is highly commendable in my books. The mantra 'if you can run, you can play' is positive and encouraging for the less confident children and promotes an 'anyone can do this' ethic. Such a valuable lesson for children.

On most Sunday's all year round you'll see kids running around, playing fun games and exercises as well as playing a game of soccer with kids their own age. This dedication meant not always being able to go away at weekends and spending many additional hours planning training and fundraising for equipment. Jodie has assisted also by setting up and maintaining the website, keeping everyone informed on what Lyttel Soccer is all about.

So many children and parents have benefitted from Andreas' commitment, enthusiasm and infectious energy. What a great service to share with our community. Whilst Andreas may have stepped away from Lyttel Soccer, Mick continues to run the show and I urge you to support them on Sunday mornings. I am sure new friendships have been formed by both parents and children alike and I have no doubt that Andreas and Jodie will be missed by everyone here.

Thank you to the many people who nominated Andreas, its nice to have found a fitting time to share this thank you.

Cake for Greatness wouldn't exist without nominations from our greater community. If you know of any unsung heroes from the Lyttelton harbour or Christchurch please send me a nomination. You can send me a private message here or through my website; www.rushanis.co.nz.

Also, check out my website for details of past recipients of Cake for Greatness.

“Zumba Gold” For The Young At Heart !

Come and join the “Zumba Gold” class for an hour from 11:30am on Fridays at the Recreation Centre!

The tutor, Mele Paoese, says that it is a low impact workout for beginners that is aimed at those more mature community members who are still “young at heart” but is open to any age group. It is held in the large, warm and spacious hall and Mele often brings refreshments for the end of the class such as fruit, cake and cheese and crackers. The cost is $5 per class and you pay on the day.

It is great for balance and co-ordination and the music makes you want to move! You can work at any level that suits you and take a break whenever you feel like it. It is sociable and great fun and an easy way to get to know others in the community. A group come over from Diamond Harbour each week and head for the ferry after the class. Changing facilities are available for use in the Rec Centre but most people just turn up in something warm and comfortable that they can exercise in.

The idea was thought of by Ellen Graham who contacted Mele to see if she was interested in starting a class in Lyttelton. Delyse Langhorn helped to put it all together.

So be sociable, come along, and have some fun on a Friday morning. A good way to set yourself up for the weekend!

New People – Old Skills

Timebanking Creating New Opportunities

New Zealand has always been a home for new immigrants. Barbi Larkins came to these shores in 2001. An American national she'll never forget the day she arrived. Leaving JFK Airport New York on September 9th 2001 she was flying to the southern hemisphere when the skies above New York turned to carnage. New Zealand was calling and her Australian partner was waiting for her to begin a new life in Rangiora. With a son who loved the idea of Sea Cadets and Barbi who loved trees her family made the move over to Cass Bay in 2013.

The Lyttelton Harbour Timebank was one of the first things that Barbi joined when she arrived this side of the hill.

"Time banking helped me to get to know some new people. I'm quite shy by nature and this made initial introductions much easier".

Looking through the Time Bank data base since her arrival Barbi has been involved in 18 trades. Her graphic design skills have come in very handy for lots of people in the wider community. She's helped design posters for a conference, a logo for the Waste Matters Project, invitations for celebrations at Stoddart Cottage and the most recent trade has been updating the Fruit and Vegetable Collective logo for the very successful affordable fruit and vegetable scheme that operates every Wednesday.

"I trained in graphic design quite a few years ago. The unfortunate thing for me was it was the era when you learnt the skills manually. Then computers became the new medium for graphic design and all the jobs when I graduated required that."

Needing work and not getting graphic design jobs I reinvented myself and ended up doing lots of administration work for many years.

As time passed Barbi discovered that graphic design truly was her passion. Moving to Cass Bay and being able to build up her skills for the community via the Timebank re-invigorated her passion for design and our community has been the lucky recipient as she upskilled with the projects that were on offer. All the projects that she volunteered for on the Timebank helped build up a portfolio that showed she could indeed do design work.

Just when she thought everything was coming together and she did get a job locally in the field she loved, graphic design, things came crashing down. She discovered she had breast cancer! A short time afterwards she was made redundant. Now as she recovers from that experience she's decided to take control and run with her passion.

If you come across the Furry Faces Pet Portraits leaflet around town, that is Barbi's new venture. She loves animals, loves drawing and design so she's joining all the dots and creating herself a job that ticks all the boxes. Custom pet portraits crafted from your high resolution photos Take a look at www.furryfaces.co.nz to get an idea of what's she's creating.

It's great to see our community and in particular the Timebank network providing opportunities for people to re-discover their passions. Then to translate into them feeling confident and supported to develop something new, is a great outcome.

The Nukes

Due to popular demand The Nukes Ukulele Trio returns to Canterbury after an Easter Feast of ukulele antics with the Canterbury Folk Festival out at Waipara . This mid winter warmup for the Geraldine Folk Festival ( July 8-9 ) kicks off at the Wunderbar in Lyttelton on Friday July 1st from 8 pm with local nine piece 'The Secret Lives Of Ukulele' .....the future of ukuleles - and cigar-box guitars too!

'Ukulele will never be the same'

The Nukes from West Auckland are far more than an ukulele band. They are high entertainment. Part vaudeville, part rat-pack, part musical car crash. This talented trio deliver an engaging mix of humour and originality that audiences love. The innocent little uke is the instrument of choice and audiences will be staggered by what they are able to achieve with it. Great song writing, musicianship and 3-part harmony combine to create a truly memorable experience.

Rollicking and rolling out of the woolliest corners of Auckland's wild west, it's..... The Nukes, New Zealand's most feared and revered original ukulele trio. Comprised of Dave "Fingers of fire" Parker, David "Snapper" Thiele and Benjamin "Country boy" Collier, The Nukes have a reputation for reckless and riveting live shows where a fine blend of folk, bluegrass, reggae and post punk is caressed, coaxed and beaten out of three innocent wee ukuleles.

Here's what a few festival directors have said

- "There was overwhelming positive audience feedback from the concert (Spiegel tent-Taranaki Arts festival ) and was one of the reasons I brought them back for WOMAD ".

Drew James Artistic Director WOMAD / Taranaki Arts Festival

- "The Nukes blew the audiences' socks off with the combination of humour, fantastic song-writing, great musicianship and singing" Megan Peacock-Coyle. Oamaru Opera House.
- "the Nukes experience is uplifting, fun and feel-good" Amanda Wright. Erupt Festival.

From out of the primordial swamps and fault lines of Otautahi-Christchurch The Secret Lives of Ukuleles bring you the future of ukuleles - and cigar-box guitars too! Nothing if not eclectic; The Secret Lives of Ukulele play everything from Hank Williams to Kylie Minogue taking in Tiki Taane and Oasis along the way. The Secret Lives of Ukuleles play whatever they want - especially for you!

The Secret Lives of Ukulele are: Annie, Carl, Emily, Maree, Paul (ukuleles), Lance (cigar-box guitars), Peter (bass guitar), Lynden (drums) and Louise (guesting on violin and Rarotongan ukulele).

Pre sale tickets online at eventfinda for $12 with Door Sales if any $15

The Nukes also perform at a number of Primary schools over their stay from July 1 through 7 including Lyttelton , Diamond Harbour and Little River , These visits include ukulele workshops that involve performance with the Nukes in the all school shows that follow .

Cycling in the city...

The options for Lyttelton people who want to cycle in Christchurch are limited following the closure of Evan's Pass post earthquakes. But you can still take your bike through the tunnel on the bus (or on your own car) and ride from there. It's great for health and wellbeing, the environment and saves you money on parking and petrol!

If you choose to take public transport, is worry about the bus already having its bike quota on board a barrier? Have you experienced missing out and have had to wait for the next bus?

Do you want to have your say- or be part of a focus group - to look at other options to enable cycling in the city? ECAN representatives and possibly CCC are keen to join with us for collective problem solving. Please email Meg meg.christie@cdhb.health.nz or give me a ring: 378 6817 .

Correction re Kilwinning Lodge Article

I have just read the article on "Kilwinning Lodge No 23" or to give it its correct title "The Canterbury Kilwinning Lodge No 23".

Contrary to your article, the lodge building was not sold because of dwindling numbers but because the cost of maintaining the building meant members had less funds for charitable activities in the district.

The lodge is still very active and a strong lodge with many of its members originating from Lyttelton and the surrounding bays thus continuing its close association with the area. It meets monthly at the Shirley Freemason Centre in Christchurch but still concentrates where possible its benevolence and charity activities in this area.

Should your readers wish to find out more about Freemasonry, Canterbury Kilwinning Lodge No 23 or consider they may know of a charitable need, they may contact either: Dave Hannah, Phone: 027 631 3231 or Ian Johnston, Phone: 03 384 9030

Yours sincerely
Rob Angelo, Grand Master Southern Division.

Nightmares

by
Jane Seatter

The clap of thunder woke her. Lightning blazed revealing her half unpacked suitcase on the other bed. The crashing waves hit the beach with such force she could hear debris landing with resounding thuds.

Was it such a good idea after all? Escaping to Okarito for some time alone had seemed the only answer to her misery. At this moment, misery had been replaced by terror. The cottage was only a few strides from the beach and it sounded as if the breakers would be crashing on the verandah any minute. She got out of bed and looked through the window at the empty section next door. Not that it was empty now. Soon after she had arrived, a young woman had unloaded three beautiful chestnut mares from a massive horse float; tossed some hay about and left them, presumably to perform as lawn mowers.

There they stood, backs to the howling wind and driving rain. Why didn't the owner come back and rescue them? There was nothing she could do, so she climbed back into bed and pulled the duvet over her head.

But sleep was not an option - or so she thought.

The horses needed care and she was the one to administer it. She found the oilskin hanging in the usual place by the back door; pushed her bare feet into gumboots and went outside. They could be housed in the garage. Lightning struck again and again frightening the poor creatures (not to mention herself) beyond endurance. She grabbed a fistful of mane from the smallest of the three and, with the other two following, led them round the front of the house to the open garage door. Luckily they followed her in with what seemed to be trust and gratitude.

Back inside she could hear crashes and bangs that were not related to the storm. It sounded like gardening tools and boxes or maybe even more precious items were being obliterated. Her worry for the horses turned to worry about the damage for which she no doubt would be liable.

The sun was shining when she awoke. The gentle wavelets rippled and hissed as they caressed the stony shore. A tui called from the nearby gum tree. Through the window she could see the horses placidly eating the wet hay.

News from the LHBA Networking Meetings

Showcasing our Local Business's

June 3rd 2016

Kiwi artist Julia Holden moved back to New Zealand and into Christchurch four years ago after a very successful career in Australia, including several national arts awards and exhibitions including one on Australia's largest public screen. Among her local projects she has been a Lecturer in Painting at Canterbury University; created Egg #45, "A Shell of her former self" in the great Christchurch Egg hunt; and recently opened her exhibition "I'm your fan" with a performance painting to show how the living sculpture photographs are created. Her latest proposed project combines her early kiwi career in film & television and her current 'animated painting' works.

Julia gave a fascinating talk, taking us through her project "Lyttelton Redux, Refiguring the past" in which she intends to take modern Lyttelton Harbour personalities and transform them into historical Lyttelton harbour figures. The final portion of each work would be completed in around 30 minutes, using clothing props, paint and clay as required to transform the local personality volunteers into historical figures and photograph them. The completed works will then be displayed in Harbour businesses as a geocached arts trail complete with online audio pieces describing the modern & historical personalities. Proceeds from sales of the artworks would go to support the Lyttelton Museum and the displaying businesses*.

June 10th 2016

The Lyttelton Port Company (LPC) has a few major projects in the works at the moment and we were pleased to have Engineering Services Manager, Neil McLennan, talk to us about one of them - dredging the harbour.

Boats keep getting bigger in the quest for efficiency and cost savings; that means the Port needs to dredge the harbour to allow these much larger cargo ships, with much deeper drafts, to enter & exit the harbour and dock at all tide levels, keeping the LPC a strong and economic port and allowing our exporters to get their goods to market much faster than is currently possible.

Neil covered the great care they have taken to assure a minimal amount of impact on the environment & everyone who works and lives in the harbour & surrounds from the dredging project.

50 Works Gallery: Katharina Jaeger – Tracking May 20 June 19

Purposely considered lines navigate the surface – the points where they intersect create tension, volume and movement – in a series of large-scale drawings by Katharina Jaeger.

Everyday objects, a pair of pants, a ribcage, hands and drapery are re-worked into a 'language of observation'. Jaeger's precise drawings shift the ordinary or mundane into the realm of the ethereal where their presence and movement is fleeting and worthy of recording. London Street, Lyttelton

What	Replace the earthquake damaged water main
Where	Godley Quay, between Cyrus Williams Quay and Voelas Road
When	From Monday 7 June for around three months

Where:

What we're doing:

The earthquake damaged water main on Godley Quay needs to be replaced. This is an extensive job that will take around three months to complete.

The work will be done in sections to limit the amount of people we are affecting at one time. We will be beginning at the northern end of Godley Quay and moving south towards Cyrus Williams Quay. When working directly in front of properties vehicle access to driveways will be unavailable during working hours. Where possible we will make access available to driveways at night.

Traffic lights will be used to maintain two-way traffic at all times.
