REVIEW CREATORS

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a voluntary led community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by former Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committe Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community and funder the Rata Foundation.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic, sport announcement, fundraiser or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

CHRISTCHURCH CITY COUNCIL DECLARES CLIMATE EMERGENCY

Christchurch City Council has declared a climate and ecological emergency.

It joins a growing number of cities worldwide who have declared climate change emergencies and pledged to take urgent action to reduce their carbon emissions.

Environmental activists applaud as Christchurch City Council declares a global climate and ecological emergency.

"The scientific evidence that our planet is in crisis is irrefutable. By declaring a global climate and ecological emergency we are raising awareness about the urgency of the need for everyone to take action to reduce carbon emissions to zero," says Mayor Lianne Dalziel.

"We are acknowledging that we need to better prepare ourselves for the impacts of climate change and that we need to work with our communities on mitigation measures and co-created adaptive planning tools.

"Christchurch City Council has already set itself the target of becoming carbon neutral by 2030. We are now working towards setting a carbon neutral target for the city as a whole in consultation with our communities.

"Cities have a large responsibility in addressing climate change and we are committed to working with other cities around New Zealand and the world to share knowledge, solutions and ideas," the Mayor says.

Cr Sara Templeton, Chair of the Council's Climate Change Working Group, says the emergency declaration is a call to action.

"It is the wellbeing of our residents that needs to be at the heart of our decision-making. And that is why we must make sure that they know the truth and that we work with them both to mitigate and adapt to climate change.

"Because the truth is climate change itself will have enormous consequences on our community health and wellbeing – rising seas and larger storms are already raising anxiety and hopeful action from all of us is the antidote to paralysis. Inaction is not an option," Cr Templeton says.

Mayor Dalziel says it make financial sense to act now.

"Ironically the costs will only increase if we don't take action now. For every $1 invested in resilience, there is a return of between $4 and $10," she says. "In other words there is a financial cost, so if we don't invest now, we are simply deferring what will be a significantly greater cost in the medium term."

Editor: All our local bodies have now declared a climate and ecological emergency. What does this mean and how does this translate on the ground?

At the Review we are very keen to hear from readers what you think this means and what we can do locally to support this. Please get in touch to share your views. review@lytteltoninfocentre.nz

Something that is special to me is our local ecology. One way I think we can improve our ecological situation in the Lyttelton area is to get a greater knowledge of the special area that we live in. This article from conservationist David Given gives some clues to why our natural environment is so special.

WHY IS NEW ZEALAND A PLANT – DIVERSITY “HOT SPOT”?

Biodiversity is the array of species, the associations that they form in nature, (forests, grasslands, alpine herbfields, etc) and the genes that are the building blocks of life. The concept of “hot spots” in relation to biodiversity was introduced by the English ecologist Norman Myers in the 1980's. It is an identification of those parts of the world that have unusually rich biodiversity, especially high numbers of species found nowhere else and a focus on such regions and countries that are losing their biodiversity through human actions.

The archipelago of New Zealand is by far the largest island area in the vast array of islands making up Oceania. Long known as a unique piece of biological real estate, it has an extraordinary number of animals and plants found nowhere else. This level of endemism couple with high levels of threat to its biota, make New Zealand one of the world's 25 major “hot spots” of biodiversity. Endemism for plants between 61 and 68 percent (80 percent for flowering plants), for birds 45 percent, and for reptiles and land mammals 100 percent. Invertebrate endemism is known to be high but, because of gaps in data, it has not been incorporated into hot spot analyses. In all, we have about 80,000 species of plants, animals and fungi, of which only 30,000 have been scientifically named. New Zealand's notable in being the only hot spot that encompasses an entire nation, and is one of the few hot spots in a developed nation.

The biological diversity of New Zealand, one of the last places on Earth to be settled by humans, is in particular trouble. It has one of the worst records of historic loss of indigenous biodiversity. Over the last 800 years humans and their accompanying pests have made extinct at least 32 percent of indigenous land and freshwater birds, 18 percent of seabirds, three out of seven frogs, 12 invertebrates, one fish, one bat, perhaps three reptiles and possibly 11 plants.

Current estimates put about 1000 of our known animal, plant and fungi species on the list of threatened species, but additional to this have been regional loss of species and likely though largely unmeasured genetic loss. There has been no complete inventory of loss and fragmentation of ecosystems and critical habitats, but no more than 22 percent of terrestrial New Zealand remains in more or less primary condition.

MATARIKI CELEBRATIONS AT THE LYTTELTON LIBRARY

Christchurch City Libraries are marking Matariki by hosting creative, family-friendly events to brighten up mid-winter.

Matariki is the Māori name for the cluster of stars also known as the Pleiades. When the cluster rises on the horizon in mid-winter it heralds the start of a new year. Fun, family-friendly Matariki celebrations will be held at Christchurch City Libraries throughout June.

The stars represent a time for whānau and friends to come together to reflect on the past year, remember those who have passed away, prepare for the seasons ahead, and mark the New Year.

The Library is focused on three of the nine stars of Matariki, Te Kāhui Kumanu a Matariki, or the guardian stars. It takes a fresh look at Maori oral traditions, practices and customs associated with the festival.

Events and activities at Lyttelton Library include:

- Matariki Toi - Community Art Project on Wednesday 19 June from 3.30-4.30pm
- Matariki Wā Kōrero: Matariki Storytimes on Tuesday 25 June from 11-11.30am.

Other events you might like to attend within Christchurch:

A Matariki Family Movie (Matariki Kiriata) at Tūrangā's TSB Space on Sunday 23 June from 1pm to 3pm

- Matariki Family Days (Matariki Wānaka) from 10.30am to 3pm at TSB Space, Tūrangā, Sunday 30 June
- A Matariki event is being held at Rehua Marae on Saturday 29 June from 10am until 3pm with stalls, waiata and workshops.

NEW HARBOUR TUG PIAKA ARRIVES AT LYTTTELTON

The Lyttelton Port Company's new harbour tug Piaka has arrived at Lyttelton, continuing the development programme to ensure Lyttelton Port can continue to handle the growing South Island economy.

Piaka was designed by Canadian tug experts Robert Allan and built in Singapore by ASL Shipyard, and will replace harbour tug Purau, which has given the Port Company reliable service since 1986. Over the past month she has sailed from Singapore to Lyttelton and was today greeted at the headlands of Lyttelton Harbour by LPC tugs Purau and Blackadder, and pilot launch Awaroa.

Lyttelton Port Company's chief executive Peter Davie says the new tug will offer improved power and manoeuvrability.

"It will increase our handling capability for the larger vessels that are expected to call at Lyttelton following the recent upgrade of the navigation channel. The future of shipping is seeing a trend towards significantly larger vessels.

"The modern control systems and winch setup of the Piaka are similar to LPC's tug Blackadder, further modernising LPC's harbour tug fleet," says Mr Davie.

Piaka is the Māori name for Adderley Head, and the tug is painted in Canterbury colours. Piaka has 75T bollard pull, significantly more than the Purau.

Mr Davie says it is fantastic to have Piaka arrive safely at Lyttelton.

"It is another vital part of our development at LPC, ensuring we can cater for the growth in container volume moving through Lyttelton, and continue to be the gateway for the goods that keep our region moving."

Piaka will undergo testing and training sessions with her new crew over the next few weeks, before being formally launched and named.

Piaka at a Glance:

Top speed of 11 knots

2 x 2200kW (3000hp) main engines

SUMNER RD CONNECTION BRINGS BOOST FOR BUSINESS

Lyttelton businesses are enjoying the benefits of a rise in visitors since Sumner Rd reopened two months ago.

The road connecting Lyttelton and Sumner was closed to traffic for eight years following extensive damage in the February 2011 earthquake sequence.

Lyttelton Harbour Business Association Chair Rob de Thier says the port town has been noticeably busier since Sumner Rd reopened in late March.

It reopened at the end of March after contractors spent two-and-a-half years working to reduce rockfall risk and then repair and reinstate the route. The project was jointly funded by Christchurch City Council and the New Zealand Transport Agency.

The repaired road has proved popular with motorists and cyclists and Christchurch City Council traffic counts on Evans Pass Rd at the bottom of the hill in Sumner show a 50 per cent increase in traffic on weekdays. On weekends the average number of vehicles more than doubled in the two weeks after the road reopened compared to the previous two weeks.

The average number of vehicles on a weekday grew from 1128 to 1750; on Saturdays it rose from 1292 to 2951; and on Sundays it increased from 1455 to 3045.

Lyttelton Harbour Business Association Chair Rob de Thier, who owns Lyttelton SuperValue, says there has been a dramatic pick-up in customers for local businesses, particularly those working in hospitality.

“It’s been good, especially for the coffee shops and bars. They’ve seen a noticeable increase since the road opened.

With the supermarket it’s been steady instead of the normal drop-off we would have going into April and May. We haven’t had that yet.”

He says many visitors, particularly older couples, have told shop and café workers they used to feel too nervous to drive through the Lyttelton Tunnel following the earthquakes but they were happy to use the new road.

“We’ve also noticed what we call the lycra brigade arrive en masse after biking over the hill, they’ll stop here at the end of their ride to have coffees and meals.”

Lyttelton Coffee Culture Owner Leona Cooper says the upturn is “absolutely noticeable”.

“We’ve seen an increase every day, not just on weekends. There’s the cycling group and more elderly and middle-aged people. For some people it still is a scary thing heading through the tunnel, so for them, I think it’s really cool that they can come back to Lyttelton and take a scenic route getting here.

“Cyclists say it’s a fantastic gradient and they just love the road. It has reconnected Lyttelton to Christchurch I think.”

Council Transport Planning and Delivery Manager Lynette Ellis says it’s pleasing that people have welcomed the reopened road.

“It was a huge repair project but we can already see that it’s been worth the effort and motorists and cyclists are enjoying using this route.

“We always knew that the link between Lyttelton and Sumner was a really vital one and that reconnecting them would bring benefits to both communities so it’s wonderful to see that starting to happen.”

NEW WINTER FESTIVAL JUNE 23 - 30

Matariki celebrations will be at the heart of Lyttelton's new week-long winter festival. Matariki is the Māori name for the small cluster of stars also known as the Pleiades or the Seven Sisters and its appearance above the horizon mid-winter marks the Māori New Year, which this year begins on June 25.

The festival will run from June 23 - 30 and feature a range of events touching on Matariki themes of connection, renewal, tradition, culture and community, led by local iwi Ngāti Wheke.

"The new event will have a strong focus on Matariki and we are really excited to be working with Ngāti Wheke," said Project Lyttelton Events Co-ordinator Claire Coates.

"We have had so many creative and exciting ideas from the whole community, there are events happening every day, there really is something for everyone, and many opportunities to connect."

The week of Matariki celebrations will open at Colletts Corner on Sunday 23 June 6 - 8.30pm with a karakia and waiata and food from the fire.

During the week, June 25 to 30, locals will be able to watch and learn more about traditional carving and weaving with Whakaraupo Carving School tutor Caine Tauwhare and weaver Toni Rowe, share kōrero, kai and even have a go.

The Matariki celebrations continue at LAF on Sunday June 30, 4 - 7pm, where Caine and Toni's pieces will be on display.

A youth-led event will be held at the Skatepark and Grassy on Friday June 28 starting with a parade at 6pm, live music, fun with Bike Mania and pizzas from the pizza oven until 8.30pm.

Window Wanderland launches on June 23 and the whole community is invited to get involved. Register your window display online and get on the map.

Wunder Kammer also goes on display.

The original Wunderkammer artist designed windows of curiosity, oddity and theatrical invention.

Ten local artists will be commandeering Lyttelton windows as Wunderkammer style curiosities. Keep an eye out for displays, performances and curious installations around town. Get in on the action by doing something with your own windows.

Creative Sampler workshops will be held on Sunday June 16 in the Trinity Hall at Lyttelton Recreation Centre 11am - 3pm. Come along and plan and make your window creation for the Window Wanderland, decorate your scooter or skateboard with lights, or make a lantern for the parade.

EXTINCTION REBELLION

The Local Scene in Lyttelton - Sara Campbell

Sara Campbell is a Lyttelton resident, mother and engineer. She's a very active campaigner and spokesperson for Extinction Rebellion Otautahi.

What is Extinction Rebellion all about?

The Extinction Rebellion is a new international movement that aims to halt climate catastrophe and reverse ecological collapse. We believe our leaders are failing in their duty to act on our behalf. The current system of governance is compromised by a focus on profits and economic growth that is leading to ecological and societal collapse. Scientists are telling us that we have a short window to avoid catastrophe. Our group believes that we as citizens must rebel by peaceful civil disobedience to protect the livelihood of citizens and our natural world, or risk losing everything we cherish.

When did you get involved?

I'm pretty new to this movement and the movement is pretty new all-round having begun in the UK in October. I personally got involved in December 2018. In a collaborative effort I've been helping with action planning and strategy. I've stepped out of my comfort zone and taken on a spokesperson role. I'm really enjoying learning how to work in a collaborative environment instead of a hierarchical one and how to cultivate a community of empowered people that respects others. I have learnt a lot about how to use effective non-violent communication and this has been invaluable. I was involved with the first local action which was a very symbolic action which involved turning off the water at the ECAN council offices.

Why did you join?

I'm involved because of a need to protect all that I love. Having two boys has made me more aware of the state of the planet. I wanted to get the bottom of what is happening. As I researched the facts I found there was merit in what people were saying about Climate Change and species extinction, I wanted to be involved, and use my skills to further the cause.

Extinction Rebellion is built on scientific knowledge, it's really credible. I wanted to act and this organisation ticked the boxes for me. So after years of desperation and wondering why everyone else wasn't spinning out about this stuff the time had come for me to take a stand openly. I'm really enjoying the journey so far. There is just so much to learn and in such a collaborative, willing environment.

What do you hope to achieve? Locally /NZ wide?

We hope to achieve system change, to have all levels of government acting as though there is a climate and ecological emergency and putting this emergency to the forefront of all decision making. In the process we hope to wake up more people and get them involved. We want to be a peaceful citizens protest movement enabling a mass scale response to the imminent extinction of life as we know it.

What are you doing?

I'm getting information out far and wide and connecting with as many people as possible. We are trying to prioritise resources and identify skills needed. Locally we are trying to link with groups who are acting sustainably. We want to help promote the work they do and inspire others to get involved with them. The Lyttelton Library's Sustainability Week in June is a good first base for like-minded groups and interested people to find out about each other. XR will have an information stall at this event.

Want to get involved?

You can contact me, Sara Campbell directly by email at sarasski@hotmail.com. Alternatively call me on 021 1218856. We also have a local facebook pages: Extinction Rebellion Otautahi Christchurch and Extinction Rebellion Aotearoa New Zealand.

There is also a face to face gathering. We meet every Friday (except on a fifth Friday of a month) 7.30pm at the WEA 59 Gloucester Street, everyone is welcome.

Next Large Scale Campaign

Action is building up for a gigantic mass action day on September 20th. Inspired by the schools having climate marches all over the world you will be encouraged to show support. This will be a great opportunity for ordinary citizens both young and old to tell local leaders you want change and you will support radical changes needed to save our planet for future generations.

NAVAL POINT CLUB NEWS

The removal of the remnant piles at Naval Point was to start this week but has again been delayed.

CCC has contracted Smith Crane & Construction to remove the 52 piles from Naval Point as shown in the map below. You may also receive a start works notice (attached) on these works, but I also wanted to ensure that you had some key info on what is happening.

Works were scheduled to commence on the 27th May 2018 and will include the following elements for your information: Signage will be placed at the Naval Point Club and public slipway to provide basic information on the project and will include contact information for the public.

The concrete piles will be extracted by a vibro-hammer and helmet unit. The extracted piles will be placed on the transport barge and shipped to the approved port reclamation off load location which has been approved by the Harbourmaster's office. During the course of demolition the Contractor will mitigate the dispersal of dust and debris (if any) and any other type of contaminant or nuisance.

Working hours – within daylight hours given the winter season and is essentially from 7:00 am to 6:30pm Monday to Friday inclusive. Weekends may be included but that would require consultation with CCC and would only be based on good weather or progress to meet desired timeframes. CCC will keep us informed of this as we go. Duration of work – we are anticipating the works will take 3 – 4 weeks at the longest, this will be somewhat dependent on weather and sea conditions.

SNAP SEND SOLVE

Snap Send Solve is the City Councils smartphone app to help make reporting issues easy.

Report issues from your mobile phone

The Snap Send Solve app works by identifying the location the photo is taken using the phone's GPS data.

It sends an email to the Council from your email address, including the incident type, notes, address of incident, photo, and contact details.

The report is then allocated to the relevant Council department.

The more information provided, the better we can help isolate and investigate the issue.

ROOTS CLOSES

Lyttelton's iconic and much acclaimed restaurant has just announced it has closed for good. In a surprise announcement Giulio Sturla made the following statement:

I have resigned from my position as Chef and Director of Roots Restaurant, effective on the 26th May 2019.

I have the belief that there is always a better way to do things, most importantly for my family, myself and the passion I have for New Zealand food.

Don't ask me why, ask me what's next...

Encounter Our Stories

This year's theme Encounter Our Stories ties in with the Tuia – Encounters 250 commemorations taking place around the country this year, marking 250 years since the first meetings between Māori and Europeans on the shores of Aotearoa New Zealand.

Here in Ōtautahi/Christchurch and Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū/Banks Peninsula we have many stories, from Ngāi Tahu, the European settlers, Pasifika and people of many ethnic and cultural backgrounds who have made the city home.

The Christchurch Heritage Festival is an opportunity to share the stories of the past that link us to this place. He tātai muka, he tātai tangata – weave together the strands, weave together the people.

LYTTELTON COMMUNITY EMERGENCY RESPONSE UPDATE

In Lyttelton we have a community response to major emergency events. That means there is no official Civil Defence team here. It's up to us to look after ourselves in those early stages.

The Timebank and a small team of locals has permission to use the Recreation Centre at 25 Winchester Street if needed to help support local people with basic information, short term shelter and a cuppa.

The best advice we can offer is be prepared. Know your neighbours, have emergency supplies on hand and then if you need more help call the City Council 941 8999.

Old Man's Beard

Clematis vitalba

Family

Ranunculaceae (buttercup) family

Also known as travellers' joy, wild clematis

Where is it originally from?

Europe, South West Asia

What does it look like?

Deciduous, climbing, layering vine to 20 m tall with very long, woody stems with six prominent ribs (appear as furrows in older vines) and pale, easily rubbed-off bark. Leaves are arranged in opposite pairs on the stems, and are made up of five (rarely three) widely spaced leaflets that fall in autumn. Thin, papery leaflets are sparsely hairy and have bluntly toothed or smooth edges. Creamy white, fragrant flowers (2-3 cm diameter) produced from December to May, followed by grey, hairy seeds (2-3 mm long) with distinctive white plumes (3-4 cm long) in dense, fluffy clusters persisting over winter (hence the 'old man's beard'). Native clematis usually has 3 leaflets per stem, smooth stems, and is evergreen.

Are there any similar species?

Native Clematis species, C. paniculata is a hardy climber with large white flowers, C. marata scrambles through shrubs with small yellow flowers, C. foetida has strong lemon-scented flowers. The native jasmine, Parsonsia capularis, is also lovely. Note all native clematis species are evergreen, have 3 leaflets (except the leafless C. afoliata), unfurrowed stems, and flower from August to December. All exotic species that are found in the wild are deciduous and flower from December to May (except the occasionally weedy, pink-flowered C. montana which flowers from October to December).

Why is it weedy?

Grows rapidly, forming dense, heavy, masses that dominate canopy of any height. Stems layer profusely, and it produces many long-lived seeds if exposed to frost. Tolerant of cold, moderate shade, damp, wind, salt, most soil types, and damage.

How does it spread?

Seed is spread by water or wind, and both seed and stem fragments are spread in dumped vegetation. Common sources are forests, roadsides, hedgerows, vacant land, and willow swamps.

What damage does it do?

Smothers and kills all plants to the highest canopy, and prevents the establishment of native plant seedlings. Moves readily into established forest over canopy and by layering.

Which habitats is it likely to invade?

Disturbed and open forest and forest margins, shrublands, riverbeds, cliffs, bush tracks, fernland, and tussockland.

What can I do to get rid of it?

1. Introduce biological control agents wherever weed is common - contact your regional council for more information.
2. Slash thick stems (all year round) at 1 m and ground level (to prevent stump resprouting and aerial roots attaching from hanging stems). Paint cut stumps with glyphosate (250ml/L) or metsulfuron-methyl 600g/kg (5g /L) or Tordon Brushkiller (100ml/L) or triclopyr 600 EC (100ml/L) or triclopyr 120g/L (500ml/L) or Banvine (200ml/L) or Yates Woody Weedkiller (400ml/L) or picloram gel. Leave stems in air to die. Dispose of cutaway segments at a refuse transfer station or by burning.
3. Spray (spring-autumn): glyphosate (20ml/L) or clopyralid (12.5ml/L).

What can I do to stop it coming back?

Stumps resprout very quickly and cut stems root at nodes. Replant bared areas promptly to minimise seedling regrowth. Check for seedlings at least 6-monthly.
