REVIEW CREATORS

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a voluntary led community newsletter initiative developed after the February 2011 earthquake. It's a Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre initiative produced by former Chairperson Wendy Everingham and Committe Member Jenny-Lee Love.

The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Of course the success of the Lyttelton Harbour Review could not be possible without the ongoing support and enthusiasm from the wider community and funder the Rata Foundation.

A big thank you goes out to everyone who sends information; is willing to be interviewed or lets us know what might be happening in the neighbourhood. The Lyttelton Harbour Review project would not be possible without you all.

If you have an event, topic, sport announcement, fundraiser or cause that you would like to share with the harbour community, then Wendy or Jenny-Lee would love to hear from you:

MATARIKI CELEBRATIONS AT THE LYTTELTON LIBRARY

Christchurch City Libraries are marking Matariki by hosting creative, family-friendly events to brighten up mid-winter.

Matariki is the Māori name for the cluster of stars also known as the Pleiades. When the cluster rises on the horizon in mid-winter it heralds the start of a new year. Fun, family-friendly Matariki celebrations will be held at Christchurch City Libraries throughout June.

The stars represent a time for whānau and friends to come together to reflect on the past year, remember those who have passed away, prepare for the seasons ahead, and mark the New Year.

The Library's is focused on three of the nine stars of Matariki, Te Kāhui Kumanu a Matariki, or the guardian stars. It takes a fresh look at Maori oral traditions, practices and customs associated with the festival.

Events and activities at Lyttelton Library include:

- Matariki Toi - Community Art Project on Wednesday 19 June from 3.30-4.30pm
- Matariki Wā Kōrero: Matariki Storytimes on Tuesday 25 June from 11-11.30am.

Other events you might like to attend within Christchurch:

- A Matariki Family Movie (Matariki Kiriata) at Tūranga's TSB Space on Sunday 23 June from 1pm to 3pm
- Matariki Family Days (Matariki Wānaka) from 10.30am to 3pm at TSB Space, Tūranga, Sunday 30 June
- A Matariki event is being held at Rehua Marae on Saturday 29 June from 10am until 3pm with stalls, waiata and workshops.

A NEW PASTORAL CENTRE

John Allen has been a resident of Lyttelton for the past 9 years. During this time he's been working as a landscape designer, specializing in childrens playgrounds working around the harbour and within the greater Christchurch area. 7 years ago he diversified a little more and became a Registered Independent Celebrant. Now his work life has taken a new turn after training and becoming ordained as an Interfaith/Interspiritual Minister. With his new vocation he's decided to re-focus all his work on the Lyttelton community.

"I have a vision to co-create a Pastoral Centre here in Lyttelton, the idea of this is to offer support to the vulnerable and marginalised on a practical and spiritual level and also energise the opportunity for community Ritual and Ceremony".

Speaking to John he's excited about the opportunities that the Recreation Centre offers for outreach to the wider community.

"With a new focus as a community centre as well as a recreation space, it offers the possibility for many different activities than currently take place."

John's first Pastoral Outreach will be in the form of a Talking Circle. He aims to host one of these events each month. For this event he will be accompanied by local Shirley Cummins. The pair want to open up the space for a safe conversation about Death and Dying. This event is scheduled for Saturday July 13th 10.15 to 12 Trinity Hall at the Recreation Centre. He envisages further conversations on taboo topics [what are we afraid to talk about about in our culture ?] Suicide, Racism, Grief, Sexuality , Growing older.

"This week I attended a seminar on suicide presented by Doctor Chris Bowden, who suggests that the most at risk are middle aged men. There are initiatives being developed for our youth while other at risks groups need support also ".

"I feel inspired to be proactive at creating meaningful support systems and encouraged that our government are being advised to create funding for more localised community. "Larger" institutions such as the mental health and social services can be overwhelmed and at a grass roots level people are falling through the cracks. Isolation and depression has become significant in our culture. What has happened to our deep sense of connection to each other? How can we collaborate on a social /spiritual level all joining hands for our common well being?"

The vision for the Pastoral Centre is a collaboration between local Church's, education facilities, Rāpaki Marae, Community House, medical and social services, local healers and therapists, Community Board and anyone else that feels called to be involved. It will be a centre for community outreach as well as a Sacred Place for celebrating our humanity through Ritual and Ceremony .John comes to this role with lots of compassion and intelligence plus two years training as an Interfaith/Interspiritual Minister as well as completing four months training in Clinical Pastoral Education.

For more information John Allen can be contacted 021 365966 or lytteltoninterfaith@gmail.com

LOCAL ELECTIONS 2019

The local elections are when we decide who represents us on our councils and health boards. The elections will be held by a postal vote in October this year.

You need to be enrolled to vote

Anyone who is on the electoral roll can vote in the local elections. If you have moved house, you will need to update your details so your voting papers are sent to the right address. Enrol, check and update your details <https://www.elections.org.nz/voters/enrol-check-or-update-now..>

If you are registered on the unpublished roll, you will need to apply to the electoral officer at your local council to receive your voting papers.

Overseas voters can take part in local elections, but must ensure that they are correctly enrolled with an overseas postal address in order to receive their voting papers. Voting papers for local elections cannot be downloaded.

Ratepayer roll

If you live in one council area but own property and pay rates in another, you may also be able to vote in that council area. You will need to apply to go on the ratepayer roll in the council area in which you own property, but do not usually live.

More information

The elections are run by local councils. In late September they will send voting papers in the mail to all voters on the electoral roll.

More information about the 2019 local elections, including key dates for candidate nominations and a list of council electoral officers, can be found on the Local Government New Zealand website.

<https://www.lgnz.co.nz/>

The Electoral Commission's role in the 2019 local elections is to ensure that the electoral roll is up to date and provided to each local council. An enrolment update campaign will begin in July to encourage people to check they are enrolled and ready to vote.

GOVERNMENT FUNDING A BOOST FOR COMMUNITY-DRIVEN ENVIRONMENTAL INITIATIVE

The Whaka-Ora Healthy Harbour Plan to restore the cultural and ecological health of Whakaraupō/Lyttelton Harbour has received a $150,000 boost.

Ngāti Wheke successfully bid for funds from the Ministry for the Environment's Community Environment Fund, and Whaka-Ora Partnership Chair Yvette Couch-Lewis, of Ngāti Wheke, says, "The Partnership is thrilled to have funding to support them in their work around Whakaraupō."

Improving the health of the harbour

"The Head of the Harbour project is a great way of improving the health of the harbour and the land and we really appreciate the support of the Ministry for the Environment on this project."

During the development of the 2018 Whaka-Ora Healthy Harbour catchment plan, the condition of the Head of the Harbour was identified by the harbour communities and science advisory group as an area of concern.

Supporting the long term vision

"We are pleased to be able to help support the long-term vision of Ngāti Wheke to restore the mana of the water around Lyttelton's Harbour and upstream waterways," says Shaun Lewis, Director Mana Honohono, Investments and Partnerships at Ministry for the Environment.

Yvette explains the significance of the Whaka-Ora slogan. "Ki uta ki tai – literally means from the mountains to the sea, which is the essence of the whole project. To make the harbour healthier we need more vegetation around its edges and up the hills."

Putting the funding to good use

She says the funding will go towards consultations with farmers in the area, as well as implementing some of the projects that come out of that consultation process.

"People who live in the harbour basin all care deeply about the land and the harbour. We'll be working with the local farmers and landowners to re-establish wetlands, undertake stream plantings and take other steps that will reduce the sediments and contaminants that are going in the harbour."

Community support

Part-time local farmer and Infrastructure Manager at Lyttelton Port Company Mike Simmers says he fully supports and endorses the work being undertaken by Ngāti Wheke.

"We choose to live and farm in the area for its natural beauty and to be close to the water. Of course, we are interested and supportive of anything that can be done to enhance the health of the harbour, for the generations to come."

The Whaka-Ora Healthy Harbour partnership consists of Ngāti Wheke, Te Rūnanga o Ngāi Tahu, Environment Canterbury, Christchurch City Council and the Lyttelton Port Company, with input from the community. It is this community involvement that is so critical, according to Yvette.

"Whaka-Ora is community driven – it just has to be. Having a harbour that is healthy and clean has so many run-on effects for the people of Whakaraupō and the surrounding areas. In 20-or 30-years' time people will look back and see the impact of the revegetation on the land and on the water. We'll see more birdlife and sea life, and more people will be able to get a kai from the harbour."

HARBOUR THOUGHTS

Hello Again,

I haven't written for the Review for a while, so here goes.

Autumn is my favourite season. A time to collect firewood, watch the leaves turn yellow and orange and tidy the garden for the cold winter months to come. I dig out the old growth and prepare for the spring bulbs. It's also a time to prepare for cold days by getting out the boots, jerseys and warm gear.

I bought myself an electric chain saw last month and I absolutely love it. My good neighbour supplies me with pine logs which I have successfully cut with his help. A friend in Lyttelton gave me a huge amount of wood from an old deck which I have stacked out the back ready for me to cut. Yes I'm careful handling the saw and I find it so rewarding when you see the wood all stacked up and ready to burn.

The little cottage I live in was one of the first batches built in South Brighton, over a hundred years ago. Originally it belonged to my great- great grandparents in the early 40's. The fire place was replaced with a log burner after the earthquakes and being a small place it gets so warm and cosy.

I have lived here for twenty years, it is my haven. A place to love and I have filled it with many treasures and memories.

Last Sunday I went on the Lyttelton Port Company cruise on the Canterbury Cat. It was the last one of the season. It was awesome to see all the improvements in the Port and all the new wharves have been built on millions of tons of rubble from the earthquake damaged buildings in Christchurch and surrounds.

What an achievement, what a lot of work has been done.

I remember the days when there was no Cashin Quay. Gladstone Pier was as far as the wharfs went.

There was a playing field and caves to explore and further around was Buckleys Bay.

My grandparents lived in a big house down by the sea. I remember as a child visiting. One day I found a baby octopus in the rocks down by the shore. I held it in my hand and remember it till this day. It was so small.

Anyway, on with the cruise! We saw a dolphin. We sailed over to Ripapa Island and went close so we could see the concrete bunkers and buildings which were the quarters for those that lived there many years ago, soldiers during the war and prisoners at one time. It's a very historic and interesting little island.

This is the second Port Company cruise I have been on this year. As we sailed from the berth by the old Steam Tug Lyttelton my thoughts went to my son who died at work in 2013. This trip gives me the opportunity to be close by.

I work at the Information Centre in Lyttelton and I meet many people from all over the world and I do like to chat a lot about the years when I grew up on a farm in Brenchley Road and the way of life the way it was. We had fun and we were happy in them days. No TV's computers or phones. No malls, no supermarkets, no electric blankets, no microwaves, McDonalds or KFC. Can you even imagine that nowadays? I can because I was there.

Encounter Our Stories

This year's theme Encounter Our Stories ties in with the Tuia – Encounters 250 commemorations taking place around the country this year, marking 250 years since the first meetings between Māori and Europeans on the shores of Aotearoa New Zealand.

Here in Ōtautahi/Christchurch and Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū/Banks Peninsula we have many stories, from Ngāi Tahu, the European settlers, Pasifika and people of many ethnic and cultural backgrounds who have made the city home.

The Christchurch Heritage Festival is an opportunity to share the stories of the past that link us to this place. He tātai muka, he tātai tangata – weave together the strands, weave together the people.

SAFELY DISPOSE OF UNWANTED BATTERIES

Wanting to dispose of unwanted batteries safely? Check out the Christchurch City Council's free battery recycling scheme available from 13 May 2019.

Why recycle batteries?

Batteries contain numerous components that are bad for the environment. If put in wheelie bins, batteries can potentially harm staff and members of the public. Batteries deteriorate if not in use and can become hazardous. Collecting batteries before they deteriorate means they can be recycled appropriately, saving valuable components for reuse and reducing the risk to people and the environment.

For more details please see attached or visit <https://www.ccc.govt.nz/services/rubbish-and-recycling/disposal/batteryrecycling/#12/-43.5308/172.6363>

COMPUTERS FOR THE COMMUNITY

As a result of the Christchurch City Council's replacement programme we have some personal computers and a limited number of laptops surplus to our requirements. As part of our commitment to the community and in recognising the value of community organisations, rather than selling these computers we would like to offer them free of charge to not-for-profit community groups who would use them to support their local community. For more information please email maryanne.lomax@ccc.govt.nz.

CLUB MANAGER WANTED

NAVAL POINT CLUB LYTTTELTON.

Full Time Postion

CEO & General Management, General Management Applications Close EOD 30th June 2019

The Club

Naval Point Club Lyttelton Inc was established in 2001 following the amalgamation of the Banks Peninsula Cruising Club est. 1932 and Canterbury Yacht and Motor Boat Club est 1921. With over 750 members the Club, based at Magazine Bay in Lyttelton, provides opportunities for boats of all classes, including junior/youth dinghies, senior dinghies, windsurf, trailer yachts, keelboats, powerboats, waka, jet-ski, swim and other open water sport. The Club operates a wide variety of services for its members (some of which are also available to non-members), including Haulout Facilities and Maintenance, Storage Facilities, Venue Hire of its Club rooms, Moorings and Coaching & Training. A strong youth sailing programme is operated from the Club and it regularly hosts local and national competitions. The Club also provides an important social meeting place for the members.

The Role

NPCL is at a critical point in its operations. Governance and club committees have been structured to provide a balance between focus on the core activities our members are looking for from their membership and the Clubs long term financial sustainability as we prepare and progress forward into our future as the Naval Point area is developed. Our club rooms and other land-based infrastructure post-earthquake are compromised but until the Naval Point development, via the CCC, is finalised we must manage our operations as best we can, applying maintenance to facilities sparingly, as we preserve our capital and interest income for the new developments.

While we can plan for the future, we must also ensure we “stick to our knitting” in our day to day operations and meet the expectations of our members in a cost-effective manner. The key role of the appointed Club Manager will be to focus on improving our current operational performance and financial outcomes. This is expected to require change from the status quo and the appointee will be instrumental in identifying the changes needed and implementing these. Planning for our future, post Naval Point development, will remain the focus of the Board but the appointee will be expected to provide input into this as the development planning progresses.

To provide the required leadership to the operations of the Club, the Club Manager role advertised is fulltime with flexibility in hours but in recognition of the major changes possible to our operations post Naval Point Development, a fixed term appointment of 24 months is envisaged.

The Person

We seek a candidate ideally with a background in water sports who is passionate about developing an outstanding water sports facility for Canterbury. The successful candidate will have strong management skills, with the ability to “make things happen” at an operational level, displaying enthusiasm and determination in fulfilling the myriad of tasks required to run the Club on a day today basis.

Previous experience in the management of a club would be an advantage, although not essential. You will be a strong relationship builder to enable smooth relationships to be established and maintained with the Board, stakeholders, staff, members and volunteers.

Your commercial acumen will be matched by your skill in identifying and then capitalising on opportunities, finding innovative solutions and thinking “outside the square.”

The position requires flexibility in hours with weekend work and attendance at Club social events.

Finally, the people who implement and deliver the Club’s strategies are of fundamental importance to the Club achieving its operational, and commercial aims.

Accordingly, we are seeking a natural leader with a significant commitment to developing the people resources of an organisation.

To receive the full details on the role, please provide a covering letter including:-

Information on residency and your right to work in New Zealand.

Information on how much notice you are required to give your existing employer.

What your expectation for salary is and your CV with details to applications@navalpoint.co.nz

Applications Close EOD 30th June 2019

Several Banks Peninsula properties will be sold after being declared surplus to requirements.

The Council has approved Board recommendations that Shackleton Reserve in Lyttelton, reservoir sites in Waipapa Avenue, Diamond Harbour and Bayview Road, Charteris Bay and vacant land at 2979 Christchurch-Akaroa Road be offered for sale.

Meanwhile, options for public use will be investigated for the following sites: HMNZS Steadfast (64 and 86 Governors Bay Road, Cass Bay); Gollans Bay Rubbish Tip (150 Old Sumner Road, Lyttelton); rural land (3381 Christchurch-Akaroa Road); a former quarry (79 Jones Road), Woodhills Milk Store (55 Woodhills Road, Akaroa) and the Little River education house (4421 Christchurch-Akaroa Road).

Three properties will be retained: BP Meats development (67A Rue Lavaud, Akaroa), Ngatea Point (27 Hunters Road, 5A and 31A Te Papau Crescent, 42 Whero Avenue and 399 Bayview Road) and Stoddart Point Reserve (2H Waipapa Avenue).

BOOK CLUB

Did you know Lyttelton Book Club meets at 2pm 2nd Wednesday of every month at the Recreation Centre? It's a very social sharing of books we've enjoyed recently or loved many years ago. Reading for relaxation, enjoyment and information. No answering set questions or reviewing characters by all members reading the same book!

Just the joy of sharing a good read and a cuppa!

LOTS - VOLUNTEERS

The team at the Library of Tools and Things is looking for some more helpers on Saturday mornings between 10-1pm to loan the tools and collect returns. If you are keen to help contact them at LytteltonLotts@gmail.com

Volunteers receive free membership at the library. Since the library's inception just a few months ago they have 67 memberships. To be a member you either pay $40 year or you have the option if you are in the Timebank to pay for half a year with a time credit and the balance of the year in cash $20.

URUMAU PLANTINGS 2019

Just in case you are wondering, the planting season will be later this year. We are waiting for more rainfall before we begin. At this stage the Planting Team are anticipating planting the second Sunday in August and September between 10-1pm.

TREE OF HOPE

Teresa Cameron and Flo MacGregor are the faces behind the Tree of Hope. In the past this project was purely to bring some Christmas cheer to Lyttelton residents in the festive season. To celebrate the 5th year of this initiative they are expanding their wings and will also be helping to support the Lyttelton Youth Group, Sea Scouts, Lyttelton Netball, and Whangarauo Netball.

They will do this by hosting a series of Garage Sales on Wednesday's and Friday's throughout the year. Keep an eye out for them and when you see them on duty know they are raising funds to support all these activities. They would also like you to know that this initiative is supported by Project Lyttelton.

PROJECT LYTTELTON AGM

The AGM will be Thursday July 11th . Beginning with a Pot Luck Dinner at 6pm it will be followed by the meeting at 7pm. All members of the community are welcome. The AGM will be held at 54a Oxford St Lyttelton. (above the garage sale behind the pool).

EROSION CONTROL KEY TO HEALTH OF LYTTELTON HARBOUR

A trial is under way to see if roadside plantings can help reduce the amount of sediment ending up in Lyttelton Harbour.

Banks Peninsula's hilly terrain is covered by a windblown sediment that when exposed to rain and wind is easily eroded and washes into the many small streams that feed into the harbour.

The Whakaraupō Road Cutting Trial is looking at ways of reducing the amount of sediment ending up in Lyttelton Harbour.

The Whakaraupō Road Cutting Trial is looking at ways to lessen the amount of sediment reaching the harbour's waterways because it's having a negative impact on the health of the harbour.

"The harbour's water quality is deteriorating as a result of too much sediment getting in," says Christchurch City Council Head of Strategic Policy Emma Davis.

"The exposed soil on the sides of our roads is vulnerable to erosion from wind and rain, which means tonnes of sediment ends up in our harbour every year," Ms Davis says.

By encouraging vegetation to grow and cover the bare ground and slopes beside the roads, the team behind the trial hope to dramatically reduce the amount of sediment getting into the harbour.

"Our team are trialling various ways to use vegetation to cover the bare soil and reduce roadside erosion," Ms Davis says. "This includes applying a mixture of water, paper pulp and hardy grass seeds and plant species able to cope with the harsh growing conditions.

"By trialling different methods, we'll find out what works best for our unique Banks Peninsula environment and ultimately, help restore the health of Lyttelton Harbour."

The results of the trial will help Council make better decisions on how it designs and maintain the Peninsula's roadsides. Private property owners may also find the study results useful for managing sediment runoff from their properties.

The Whakaraupō Road Cutting Trial is being run alongside the Whaka-Ora Healthy Harbour Plan to restore the cultural and ecological health of Lyttelton Harbour.

The trial will run until 2021 and is collaboration between the Council and Environment Canterbury with technical input from EOS Ecology and Landcare Research.

CHARTERIS BAY YACHT CLUB

STORY CHATS DUNCAN

The sun was high in the sky as the Optimist fleet made its way slowly across Lyttelton Harbour. Unfortunately, the wind dropped to just a zephyr, sails sagged and lowered. Two safety support craft circled the fleet protectively, calling encouragement to the young sailors. A container of sunscreen and water bottles passed around. However, cloud formations indicated stronger winds would be forthcoming. Phillip Jackson was the youngest of a family of sailors and looked around at the Opti yachts. His close friend Michael, was way behind and annoyingly out of vocal range. Phil, to his friends took a long swig of water, before screwing the bottle top back firmly and lodging it back safely under his plastic milk bottle baler. He was hot and sticky and longed for the wind to return, as he had been in the lead. Closing his eyes, he lay back, head resting on the gunnel and waited.

The TV cameras recorded every tack he made from a circling helicopter. Capturing the very moment when he passed through the harbour heads. The wind was stronger here and from the south, just as Dad had forecast at breakfast time. Phil eased the mainsheet and leaned back bracing his feet across the sailboat, enjoying the challenge. Sailing was his passion. To steer, feel the tug of the main sheet and the breeze on his cheek was something else. It was a special feeling to be completely at ease with the ocean. To hear the trill sounds a dolphin makes when swimming alongside his boat was magical. In his wildest dreams he imagined he was helming in an America's Cup final. They had dropped a little behind the challenger, due to a technical problem. It was the last leg of the race when he decided to take a chance on a port tack where he guessed the wind would be. The yacht heeled over. Phil had found stronger winds. Crowds of spectators lined the harbour railings, cheering their team home. They had successfully defended the Cup. He had done it.

Sometime later found him off the Kiakora coast with only a news channel plane for company. The wind chill had increased dramatically, Phil had to snuggle down into his life jacket, wishing he had taken warm clothing with him. The sea swell was also building, he estimated it was already around four metres. He reached over and grabbed his baler to deal with the onboard water. It had always been his dream, to out-sail the other members of his own successful sailing family. They had accumulated countless awards, medals and cups until their name dominated the sport. Dad, had been a tactician on an America's Cup challenger. Elder brother, Robbie, had sailed on Wild Oats in the Sydney/Hobart race, during awful racing conditions. Not forgetting his twin sisters who were being coached for the next Olympics by national laser coaches in Auckland.

So, he had devised this challenge. To circumnavigate the South Island in an Optimist. Knowing this would not be approved or indeed allowed, he told nobody of his intentions. But just sailed off after a normal day's club racing. At first the safety boats tried to head him off but he managed to avoid them and carry on sailing. Darkness fell and the Kiakora township appeared, a welcoming sight from the sea.

He was hungry now, having eaten all but two squares of his chocolate bar. He decided to call in for provisions and the twinkling lights beckoned him towards the shore. An unexpected strong gust of wind caught him unawares and threw him overboard into the sea. He surfaced and swam frantically back to his boat, which was full of water. He had practised this operation many times before. Pulling the daggerboard keel to its full extent he stood on it and yanked the sailboard upright before clambering back in. He dropped the sails and using the baler, he hurriedly emptied the water back to where it belonged. Then the sea around him boiled and erupted as a huge whale surfaced right beside him. Its tail slapped the water with a loud clap that terrified him. But he sailed on, straight into a fog bank where it became eerily quiet. Suddenly the Inter-islander ferry appeared through the fog, towering above him.

'Phillip, Phillip, wake up lad, the wind's arrived.' Someone was shaking his shoulder. 'What?' 'You're not the only one who dropped off. Get your rig up we're gathering everyone together for a new, sea-start race. Hurry up, lad'

CLIMATE CRISIS

PRACTICAL ADVICE — LIFT LIBRARY

More than a century ago, a scientist, Svante Arrhenius, warned us that burning coal was raising the temperatures. Since then, many scientists worldwide have increased their warnings after detailed research. Bill McKibben started a worldwide movement, 350.org, to educate the public and urge governments to take action to reduce the various causes of climate change. At the Paris Climate Agreement in 2015 many countries agreed to limit their emissions from fossil fuels. New Zealand's emissions have continued to rise, as have most other countries. It has become obvious that climate disruption has been increasing, especially in the polar regions and the northern hemisphere.

Now we are reading reports, especially from the IPCC (Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change) telling us that climate change is happening faster than ever before predicted. We face a very uncomfortable future; the lovely warm winter weather many are delighting in is only going to increase the rainfall that will bring crop destruction, flooding, slips, damage to our roads and homes. Other regions will face increasing droughts. There are many specific warnings about what is coming to us.

Why don't we care? Well, many of us do. Many of us have modified our lives to reduce our emissions. But it's not enough. This is why there is a growing worldwide movement to protest, to strike, to make demands of governments, to divest from companies that profit from producing/using fossil fuels. What every citizen can do is have respect for the future people of our country, not just for our own comfort. Consider the lives of our children and grandchildren when they face the consequences of excessive rain or drought. One important near future problem is a shortage of food crops.

We know that it will take major government action to force all citizens to change their behaviour in order to reduce the speed of climate change, but what government wants to risk losing electoral support by forcing significant changes in our behaviour? Most governments spend a lot of time on making plans, starting committees, promising progress, but that's not enough. The current wave of NZ local bodies declaring climate emergencies won't in itself cause everybody to reduce their emissions. But it will allow local bodies to take costly actions when circumstances worsen significantly.

But now is the time for real action by all, to reduce emissions in every way they possibly can. These methods are proven effective. For example, car-share; use public transport; ride a bike or walk; eat fewer meat/dairy meals; buy goods, including foods, that are produced locally, not imported; have "stay-cations" rather than travelling; plant native trees; grow your own fruit and vegetables, even herbs on windowsills; put food waste in compost, not rubbish bins; buy woollen and cotton clothing rather than synthetics; shop at the local second-hand shop/garage sale; save water and electricity use; if you can afford it, get an electric car; offset your household or flying carbon emissions. Most importantly, build your local community strength in helping one another.
