Royal Connection to Lyttelton

Locally Designed and Knitted Garments Spanning the Generations

Lyttelton is home to so many talented people. Resident Margaret Stove is in the spotlight at the moment. In her field of design and knitting high quality New Zealand merino wool, she is in a class of her own. Commissioned by the High Country Sheep Breeders of the South Island back in 1982 she designed and created a beautiful baby shawl for the then new born Prince William. The work was an original design and no trace of the pattern remains. “It was truly an art piece” said Margaret. “My philosophy has been that art works are not re-created therefore my finest pieces are not documented.” Her designs are often inspired by New Zealand nature and Maori patterns. The silver fern often features.

Fast forward to 2013 and Margaret has played a role in New Zealand’s gift to Prince William’s new born son. Linked to Prince Charles’s love of natural fibre and in particular wool where he is the patron for the Campaign for Wool, it was only appropriate that our nation’s gift to the Royal Prince is again a fine spun merino shawl. This time the garment has been made in the North Island by Cynthia Read from Cambridge. Like Margaret she is also a member of Creative Fibre [otherwise known as New Zealand Spinning, Weaving and Wool Crafts Society], however Margaret didn’t make the shawl this time round, she designed the pattern and Cynthia made New Zealand’s gift. This shawl is not an original like the first so the pattern is available to our finest knitters. Margaret’s design comes from her latest book called “Wrapped in Lace”.

The book is another entire story. Published in 2010 it’s available on line or at Margaret’s grand daughter’s yarn shop in Petone. The love of textiles has gone down the generations and Tash Barneveld, has opened Holland Road Yarn Company in Petone. You can source Margaret’s books and beautiful yarns there. Margaret has published several books over the years and some earlier editions are available in Lyttelton. Margaret has also been featured in books. She proudly shows us a Russian Shawl book where she is highlighted. Shawl making is a Russian tradition and so she is delighted that her skills were recognised so far away.

Margaret has been passionate about wool for over forty years and it so lovely to see her so thrilled about her links to the Royal family and their new born via her exquisite designed and knitted shawls.

To get a copy of Margaret’s latest book you can call Holland Road Yarn Company 021 141 2264 or email shop@hollandroad yarn.co.nz.

Saint Saviour's Heritage Grant

Council Helps to Boost Relocation Project

St Saviour's Chapel is one step closer to returning to the Lyttelton community with the Council approving a Heritage Incentive Grant of $143,431.

Natural Environment and Heritage Manager Helen Beaumont says the Council was very glad to contribute to a project which provides a particularly special result for the Lyttelton community following the Canterbury earthquakes.

"The return of this chapel from Park Terrace to Lyttelton, which as a community has experienced enormous loss of heritage churches and secular buildings, is a wonderful example of how the Council can help communities to incorporate heritage as part of the rebuild and recovery, restoring links to the past."

St Saviour's Chapel was erected in West Lyttelton in 1885. In 1975 the chapel was relocated within the grounds of the Cathedral Grammar School on the corner of Park Terrace and Chester Street West. In 2012 the Cathedral Grammar School Trust Board advised the Anglican Diocese of Christchurch that St Saviour's Chapel was no longer large enough for the school. The school offered the chapel for use elsewhere. The Anglican Chapel Property Trust decided that it would return the chapel to Lyttelton. The site chosen in Lyttelton is that of the former Holy Trinity Chapel, at 17 Winchester Street. Holy Trinity Chapel was significantly damaged following the September 2010 and February 2011 earthquakes and collapsed as a result of the earthquake on 13 June 2012.

The grant will help cover the cost of works for deconstruction, transportation to Lyttelton, establishment on the new site including new foundations, restoring and attaching the porch from the Holy Trinity Chapel, restoration and incorporation of stained glass, and repair and reinstatement of the reredos [an ornamental screen covering the wall at the back of an altar]. The building is listed in the Christchurch City Plan as Group 2. The building is registered Category 2 by the New Zealand Historic Places Trust Pouhere Taonga.

Quail Island Trust “Adopt a Penguin Box”

Protecting the Endangered White Flipped Penguin

A number of the penguin boxes on Quail Island were damaged in the recent earthquakes

An ideal penguin box site on Quail Island. The new boxes will be set out on Quail Island early in June

White-flipped (korora or blue) penguin in a nesting box on Quail Island

Trust volunteer, Andrew Harris, delivering the new penguin boxes to Dampier Bay for transportation to Quail Island

A number of nest boxes, built and placed for the endangered white-flipped penguins nesting on Quail Island, were damaged or destroyed by rock falls during the recent earthquakes. As a result of a co-ordinated effort between business sponsors and volunteers, the Trust will be placing new penguin nest boxes in strategic, secluded sites around the island early in June in a bid to build up breeding pairs on the island again.

Trust volunteer, Andrew Harris, built 25 wooden nest boxes, from timber donated by Horncastle Homes. And long-standing supporter of the Trust, the Lyttelton Port of Christchurch, assisted in transporting the nest boxes to the island at the end of May. Tina Troup, ornithological advisor for the Trust, oversaw the placement of the boxes.

It is hoped that the predator-free environment the Trust staff and volunteers work to maintain will help build up nesting penguin numbers to pre-earthquake levels. Providing safe nesting sites is not only good for the white-flipped penguin population, but good for the general habitat and soil fertility too. Studies have found that their guano (and that of other ground nesting birds) encourages native plant regrowth.

Adopt A Penguin Nest Box: The Trust has six penguin nest boxes for adoption at $500 each, available to individuals and businesses interested in supporting the penguin project and other conservation and ecological restoration on the island. Each box will be named after the sponsor (as well as being listed as a sponsor of the penguin project on our website) – and regular project updates. To adopt a nest box email Barbara at administrator@quailisland.org.nz or call her on 03 357 9339.

Special thanks to volunteers Andrew Harris and Pat Barry, Dayle Sutherland and Simon Davis of Horncastle Homes, Jocelyn Patel, Shelley Ross and Phil Fraser of Lyttelton Port of Christchurch, and Cathy and Aaron, crew on the pilot vessel Canterbury.

Volunteers for Quail Island Tree Planting

Every Saturday and Sunday throughout August, volunteers will form a working party and head to Quail Island for annual tree planting.

The Trust is always looking for people to join them in their conservation efforts - both on and off the island. If you are interested in working on the island or providing services or professional assistance in your area of expertise, please visit the Trust's website <http://www.quailisland.org.nz/index.php/join> and complete the Online Volunteer Form.

Volunteers intending to participate on Workdays and/or Planting days must book ahead with Ian McLennan by email chairman@quailisland.org.nz or phone 03 384 5338. Club and corporate groups are welcome to come as a group but numbers cannot exceed 20, although last minute additions may be possible if bookings are light [arrange through Ian McLennan].

To find out more about how you or your organisation can also support the ecological restoration of Quail Island – email Barbara at administrator@quailisland.org.nz or visit www.quailisland.org.nz/index.php/support about the lyttelton harbour review

Lyttelton Harbour Review is a community newsletter initiative developed by local Professionals real estate agent Lynnette Baird and Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre chairperson Wendy Everingham. The objective of the Lyttelton Harbour Review is to help keep local residents informed with what is going on in the wider Lyttelton Harbour community. Each week readers can read about community groups; businesses; events; and everything in between. If you have an event, topic, cause, or other, that you would like to share with the harbour community, then we would love to hear from you. Be heard, be seen, be informed - read it or offer it here.

Retaining Walls Feature Beauty and Strength

Strength and beauty are key words in rebuilding one of Lyttelton's iconic features - its distinctive retaining walls. More than 100 publicly-owned retaining walls were damaged in the earthquakes around the Port Hills. Each has a unique look as well as function, supporting and protecting private properties and/or roads, footpaths, electricity, water, telephone and wastewater services.

In public meetings after the earthquakes, local residents cited the walls around the port as one of the key areas of concern. SCIRT prioritised the work. Walls in Selwyn Road and Ross Terrace, Lyttelton, were considered among the most urgent because of the need to fix water supply and wastewater systems in the streets. McConnell Dowell, with subcontractor Smith Crane and Construction, have recently completed the two walls, using reinforced concrete panel construction at Ross Terrace and a gabion basket wall at Selwyn Road.

Gabion basket walls are filled wire structures. At Selwyn Road newly-installed baskets are generally one-metre-square and two-metres-deep. Stones at the face of the wall were neatly hand-placed, in the same way as the bricks and stones of Lyttelton's historic walls were 100 or so years ago. The aim was to try to follow the early settlement's character, maintain the connection with the past and enhance the recovery environment for local people.

Before and after photographs of the retaining wall in Selwyn Road, Lyttelton, from the inside and from the road.

Seafaring Rabbit Catastrophe

Catastrophe has struck in Lyttelton Harbour. The Quail Island Ecological Restoration Trust has reported rabbit sightings on the island reserve for the first time in seven years.

The two rabbits spotted by conservation staff could mean the end to more than 70,000 trees planted on the island, and the undoing of thousands of hours in eradication work.

Trust chairman Ian McLennan said the damage even two rabbits could do was "enormous". "How concerned are we? We're about an eight or nine out of 10. It is serious." Though unlikely, Mr McLennan said the trust could not discount the possibility of rabbits swimming to the island in extreme circumstances, or a member of the public dumping an unwanted pet.

Apparently rabbits are quite adept, if reluctant swimmers. "It's not normal rabbit behaviour. It's very unlikely a rabbit would go to a damp place unless it was scared by a dog on the mainland or something similar."

Quail Island is partially exposed at low tide when the island could be accessible by mudflats. "We can't dismiss the possibility that someone dumped their pet rabbit on the island" Mr McLenna said.

The small island in Lyttelton Harbour was in use by settlers as early as 1875. From 1906 to 1925 it was New Zealand's only leper colony. In the 1970s the island was handed over to the Crown for protection and has been a reserve ever since - a popular spot for many native species.

The trust has worked with the Department of Conservation to eradicate the huge population of rabbits on the island, and has successfully replanted at least 70,000 plants. "The place was so infested with rabbits when we took over, they were forced to climb the trees to find food. We cannot let that effort slip" Mr McLennan said.

The trust has laid traps and staff were patrolling at night to try and spot the rogue rabbits. In extreme circumstances, the trust would have to use poison.

The Quail Island Ecological Restoration Trust is urging people not take any pets to the island.

c'mon get involved

Lyttelton is known for its culture of volunteer activity and community participation. If you have ever had the thought that you would like to be more involved in the local community, but you are not sure where to go, or who to talk to? Start by having a conversation with the team at the Lyttelton Harbour Information Centre, as they can give you some advice on the many types of great volunteer organisations here in Lyttelton. If you are passionate about elderly care, sustainability, youth culture, harbour activities, heritage, radio, business development, fundraising, or just about anything - then there is a group who would love for you to be involved!

plenty to share

In Lyttelton so many residents grow vegetables; or have fruit trees literally dripping with produce. Plenty to Share is about sharing any excess produce with the community. So if your lemon tree is yellow with goodness and you can't keep up with making lemon curd, bring those surplus fruits down to the organisers, where every Saturday the swapping of produce is well underway in Lyttelton on the corner of London and Canterbury Street; and also in Diamond Harbour on a Saturday morning at the village centre. If there is something on the Plenty to Share table that you would like to take home, then you are warmly invited to do so.

LIFT Library Update

I have finished reading 'Inequality: a New Zealand Crisis' so you can borrow it now! As with the three events I attended last week, here we read of what lies behind the groundswell of opinion, discussion and action happening now, here and round the world.

Here's a little more about it:

This book does not simply describe the problems – although it does that, in so many areas, in such convincing detail. It also shows us what people used to do about the problems, and what others are doing now, and what others want to do, and what others want us to do. I see these writings as forming part of the groundswell of opinion and action in New Zealand to improve our society, that we need to encourage and support and take part in!

I've added to my notes on a recent acquisition, having finished reading the book for myself – and I strongly recommend it. Perhaps, like me, you will skip paragraphs full of figures, but what comes before and after them will be easy to absorb.

LE: The End of Growth: Adapting to our New Economic Reality

'Heinberg has masterfully summarized and updated the case against economics, and its fraudulent scorecard – GDP. He explains why conventional economic growth is ending now, and why growth of human populations and material consumption will follow suit. Yet we all can still grow in wisdom and continue expanding the knowledge of our universe, while growing greener technologies capturing the sun's daily free photon flow as we transition to the Solar Age.' Hazel Henderson

There is a wide range of topics covered, where Heinberg clearly shows all sides to an issue, not just the one he favours. The last two chapters deal with current attempts to provide for a sound future, including economic matters (he refers to our own Deirdre Kent, as well as many writers represented in LIFT) and community strengthening, including Transition Towns and such initiatives as are already found in Lyttelton – and there are more ideas for us to take up.

LIFT's Next Film Evening | Monday 5 August

At The Portal, Oxford Street at 7.15pm. Featuring "The Economics of Happiness" and Creating Prosperous Communities—CoOperatives in Maleny". These documentaries take us from the problems of globalisation to the benefits of localisation. Lyttelton is already active in localising, but there are plenty more ideas here for us!

And finally, today's quote:

Globalisation isn't new; we in the Third World are very familiar with it. We used to call it colonisation. - Vandana Shiva

Christchurch & Canterbury Tourism Industry Update

Tourism Growth Partnership Fund Workshop

The Tourism Growth Partnership is an excellent opportunity for the tourism sector and Christchurch Canterbury Tourism are pleased to let you know that you'll have the chance to find out more about the initiative at a local briefing on the 13th August.

Officials from the Ministry of Business, Innovation and Employment, which administers the Tourism Growth Partnership, will be in Christchurch to talk through the initiative with local tourism operators and answer any questions you might have.

The Tourism Growth Partnership is likely to be of most interest to those of you with projects in mind that can deliver significant improvement to the tourism sector

- boosting innovation and/or lifting product
- catering to current international market developments, particularly the requirements of high-value visitor
- generating good commercial returns
- benefiting the wider economy
- delivering 'additionality' – i.e. going beyond business-as-usual activities.

Applicants will also need to provide at least 50% of the investment needed to progress projects. The briefing will take place at The George Hotel at 1.30pm on the 13th August.

Please register your interest in attending this workshop by emailing caroline.blanchfield@christchurchnz.com

Neighbourhood Week

Celebrating our community, Neighbourhood Week is held each year in October and November. It is dedicated to getting to know people who live close to you. It's about bringing people together – whether it's a small get together of a few households or a larger neighbourhood gathering. The week is an ideal opportunity to introduce yourself to your neighbours. Getting to know your neighbours can make the difference between merely occupying an address and living in a neighbourhood of friends.

25 October - 3 November 2013 This year Neighbourhood Week will be held over nine days, meaning it will encompass two weekends. Applications for subsidies close 23 August 2013 at 5pm.

Who are my neighbours? A neighbourhood could also be a small group of families at a local kindergarten, kohanga reo or school who share a common desire to build a strong community with each other. Neighbourhood Week is a festival that celebrates the unique and diverse flavour that is characteristic of each individual neighbourhood.

How did Neighbourhood Week start? Neighbourhood Week is the brainchild of the Shirley-Papanui Community Board, which held the first event in 1998. Each year, it has grown to the point that it is now being promoted annually by the Christchurch City Council and nationwide by Neighbourhood Support. The Christchurch Neighbourhood Week Team works closely with Neighbourhood Support.

Is there any funding available for Neighbourhood Week initiatives? Each of the Community Boards allocate small grants as a contribution towards Neighbourhood Week initiatives. Application/guideline forms in both Word and PDF formats are available from the links below. Applications close at the end of August.

An application and guideline form is enclosed with this edition of the Lyttelton Harbour Review.

The Diamond Harbour Singers

The Diamond Harbour Singers have been singing in the local community for seven years. The choir began with the getting together of a small number of local music enthusiasts who approached Rachel Bayliss, a graduate of the Christchurch Jazz School and a professional Christchurch singing teacher to lead the choir. Rachel's commitment to the group and to community music making has led to the choir to performing in concert annually with Acapellago; participating in Christmas carols, Anzac Day commemorations and singing at the Orton Bradley Fair. Once or twice a year, the choir organizes popular singing workshops in the community hall that draw around 45 people from Christchurch and beyond. Rachel's creativity has seen us hold a Mother's Day concert at the school, together with the Xylophone orchestra and other young musicians. It was a fun afternoon of music and verse, interspersed with lashings of homemade scones, jam, and cream. Our next activity is the evening advertised in this month's Herald. On this occasion The Diamond Harbour Singers join with three experienced performance poets for a bit of local fun at the Godley Café on Saturday 6.30pm, on the 10 August. See you there!

Joan Melvyn

PS: We are always looking for more members. Just come to the hall on a Wednesday evening around 7.45 and observe Rachel and the choir practising. No audition required.

Poets Performing with the Diamond Harbour Singers:

Fiona Farrell is one of New Zealand's leading writers, publishing work in a variety of genres. Her poems feature in major anthologies including The Oxford Book of New Zealand Poetry and Bloodaxe's best-selling Being Alive. Her most recent publications are two non-fiction titles - The Broken Book and The Quake Year. In 2007 Fiona Farrell received the New Zealand Prime Minister's Award for Fiction, and in 2012 she was appointed an Officer of the New Zealand Order of Merit for 'services to literature' in the Queen's Birthday and Diamond Jubilee Honours List 2012. This year Fiona has been awarded the Michael King Fellowship to write two books (fiction and non-fiction) on the Earthquakes in Christchurch. She lives at Otanerito with her husband, Doug Hood.

James Norcliffe has published a collection of short stories and eight collections of poetry, most recently Shadow Play, and Packing a Bag for Mars. He has written several fantasy novels for young people including The Loblolly Boy and its successor The Loblolly Boy and the Sorcerer, The Enchanted Flute and this year's Felix and the Red Rats

James co-edits the annual Redraft anthologies of writing by young New Zealanders. He is poetry editor for the Christchurch Press and teaches at Lincoln University.

He and his wife Joan Melvyn have lived and worked for extended periods in Asia and now live at Church Bay.

Sean Joyce, secretary to the Canterbury Poets' Collective, was born in Galway in the west of Ireland and lived in Spain before coming to New Zealand in 1975. His warm and witty poetry has appeared in several publications and he has read his work widely. Beyond poetry, his interests include psychology, history and public speaking. He is also a registered celebrant. Sean and Vee Joyce live in Cashmere.

Have your say on Wairewa/Lake Forsyth

Come along to an open day focussed on the issues facing Wairewa/Lake Forsyth to share your thoughts on the lake, and how these could be addressed.

The day is being hosted by Environment Canterbury and the Banks Peninsula Zone Committee on 3 August.

The zone committee is tasked with working with community members to develop solutions to local water management challenges. Your feedback will help the committee develop its solutions to feed in to the sub-regional chapter for the lake's management.

Once developed, these water management solutions will be reflected in the Wairewa sub-regional section of the proposed Land & Water Regional Plan (pLWRP).

The pLWRP is designed to deliver the community's aspirations for water management as outlined in the Canterbury Water Management Strategy (CWMS).

We encourage you to come along and look forward to hearing your ideas.

Open Day Details: Wairewa/Lake Forsyth Open Day: 9am - 5pm, 3 August 2013

Little River Service Centre, Akaroa Road, Canterbury (Across from the Little River Café and Store).

For more information visit the Banks Peninsula page at www.ecan.govt.nz/canterburywater or phone Environment Canterbury on 0880 324 636.

Post to: Neighbourhood Week, Christchurch City Council,
PO Box 73027, Christchurch 8154

GUIDELINES FOR YOUR INFORMATION:

Grants are available for reimbursement after the event and following the presentation and approval of receipts. Please note that funding is not available for alcohol or fireworks. Some community boards may not give priority to funding items other than food. Please contact the Strengthening Communities Team Administrator for the relevant ward (see below) to check.

Small Subsidy:

A small subsidy towards costs for Neighbourhood Week is currently available from each city ward Community Board for allocation to help support Neighbourhood Week events. The following criteria apply:

Intention of Support

- Neighbourhood Week funding is seen as a small contribution towards holding an event. Because it is intended to 'bring neighbours together', applications from individuals getting together and holding a local event will take priority over those held by organisations.
- Neighbourhood Week funding should not be seen as a way for individuals or organisations to hold an event that they would at other times of the year.
- It is expected that those holding the event will contribute in some way towards the event, even if it is through supplying some of the materials.

Dates of Events

- While there are set dates for Neighbourhood Week, we understand that not all events can take place within designated dates. If you wish to have your event outside these dates, please provide an explanation on your application form.
- Please note priority will be given to events that fall within Neighbourhood Week as opposed to other times of the year.

Numbers of People per Event

While there are no limitations on numbers attending Neighbourhood Week events, it should be remembered that the main purpose of Neighbourhood Week is to bring neighbours together to get to know each other and therefore events with too small or too large numbers may be less successful in achieving this.

Conflict of Events

- Where two events are to be held in a close locality (i.e. same street or park), we will encourage you to combine these events.
- Where two or more people apply separately for the same event, these applications will be considered together.

Residents' Associations

Residents' Association groups can apply unless they have received funding for a Neighbourhood Week event from another Council fund.

Reimbursement:

Once you have been notified in writing of your application approval, the individual(s) organising your event must meet the costs first, then provide receipts and attach them to the Subsidy Reimbursement Form. This will be posted to you in order for your reimbursement to be processed.

The Process: Once you have decided to participate in Neighbourhood Week, here are the steps to take:

- 1) Get your neighbours together.
 - 2) Complete the on-line application form or pick up a hard copy from your local service centre.
 - 3) Fill out the application form and submit via email, post to Po Box 73027 Christchurch 8154 , or drop in to your local service centre prior to the deadline of 23 August 2013 at 5 p.m.
 - 4) Once applications have closed these will be presented to the community boards for consideration.
- N.B: Because you are applying for public funding, your name and event details will be part of the public record of the community board's allocation meeting. You will be notified of the decision made by your community board.
- 5) Hold your event. (Take lots of photos and have a great time!)
 - 6) Complete the Subsidy Reimbursement form, include your receipts, and return.
 - 7) Your allocated subsidy will be reimbursed – note, this could take up to four weeks.
 - 8) Forward any digital photos to us as we would like the opportunity to download your fun photos into the Neighbourhood Week Gallery.
 - 9) Get going...!

Any questions throughout the process, do not hesitate to call 941 8999 or email the Strengthening Communities Team Administrator listed below for your ward.

Council Facilities Rebuild: Doing what needs to get done

Akaroa Museum Director Lynda Wallace with Reverend James Robinson at the partial re-opening of the museum last week.

Akaroa Museum has re-opened its doors to the public, to the delight of local residents.

The museum's small exhibition gallery and shop/foyer re-opened to the public on Saturday 13 July. The remainder of the museum's galleries, which are more significantly damaged, remain closed to the public as investigations continue into possible repair and strengthening options for these areas.

To celebrate its re-opening, the museum has launched a new exhibition called Horomaka, which showcases 22 objects from the museum's collections, including some new objects acquired by the museum while it has been closed. All the services offered by the museum are once again being offered from the front desk.

The repair work, carried out as part of Christchurch City Council's Facilities Rebuild Plan Programme, included demolishing an insufficiently reinforced concrete block wall and replacing it with a timber frame and plywood wall. Engineers have advised that the parts of the building where work has been completed now have a seismic capacity of at least 67 per cent of the New Building Standard (NBS).

Museum Director Lynda Wallace says it is exciting to welcome the community to the museum again. A special re-opening event held on Friday 12 July began with a blessing by Reverend James Robinson before guests mingled in the 'mini- museum', soaking up the Horomaka exhibition. During the weekend, locals and visitors to the town visited the museum for the first time since its closure a year ago.

Nancy Tichborne with a 19th century landscape painting by Will Watkins, one of her ancestors, at the partial re-opening of Akaroa Museum.

"While we have opened only a small percentage of the museum, its prominence on the town's main street means the re-opening has provided a real boost to the Akaroa community. It's wonderful to reconnect with our community and visitors again," Ms Wallace says.

Facilities Rebuild community forums held in Lyttelton and Akaroa

The Facilities Rebuild project team held two community forums in Lyttelton and Akaroa this month, which aimed to give residents the chance to find out more about the status of Council-owned facilities in their area.

Answers to the questions asked at the forums are on the Council website at www.ccc.govt.nz/facilitiesrebuild, along with information about key facilities in each area. Banks Peninsula residents can also call the Council on 0800 800 169 for more information.

Banks Peninsula community halls to re-open

Four community halls are to re-open after the Council this month agreed they should be exempt from its policy to close all non-residential buildings that are below 34 per cent of the New Building Standard.

Little Akaloa Community Centre, Pigeon Bay Community Centre, Okains Bay Community Centre and Duvauchelle Community Hall will re-open this month following safety checks. Repair and strengthening work will begin on Duvauchelle Community Hall in early August and will take two weeks to complete.

These facilities are exempt from the Council policy because they have little earthquake damage and are not in danger of brittle collapse in the event of future earthquakes.

Council Facilities Rebuild: Doing what needs to get done

Community facilities now open

Christchurch City Council will this month re-open more key community facilities across the city.

As part of its Facilities Rebuild Plan programme, the Council is carrying out earthquake repair and strengthening work across Christchurch and Banks Peninsula.

This includes making progress with a number of its 'top 30' projects, which in September 2012 it prioritised for funding, further investigation and, where possible, repairs. Decisions have now been made on more than half of these buildings. In some cases, facilities have been, or will be, repaired and re-opened and others have been demolished while options for the future of the site are investigated. Temporary facilities have also opened on some sites while others will open later in the year.

Mayor Bob Parker re-opened the Linwood Community Arts Centre on Friday 19 July

Latest updates:

- The historic Linwood Community Arts Centre, corner of Worcester Street and Stanmore Road, re-opened on Friday 19 July following significant restoration and strengthening work. Te Whare Roimata Trust, which runs free or low-cost arts-related activities such as art classes and dance and music workshops, has returned to the facility, restoring it as a creative hub for the city.
- Community groups can now use Fendalton Community Centre again after it re-opened on Monday 15 July.
- Bishopdale Community Centre and Library is to be repaired and strengthened to 100 per cent of the New Building Standard. Work is expected to get underway in November once engineers have developed detailed repair and strengthening options and consents have been granted.
- Harewood Community Centre has re-opened and the Risingholme Craft Rooms in Opawa will re-open later this month. The facilities are among six community centres across Christchurch and Banks

Peninsula that will re-open this month after the Council agreed they should be exempt from its policy of closing non-residential buildings that have a seismic capacity of less than 34 per cent of the New Building Standard (NBS). Engineers have agreed they are fit to occupy as they have little earthquake damage and are not at risk of brittle collapse in the event of future earthquakes.

- Foundations have now been laid on the site of the demolished South Brighton Community Centre in Beatty Street to make way for a new transitional community centre, due to open in October 2013.

How can I find out more about Council facilities?

- By visiting www.futurechristchurch.co.nz
- By calling the Council Customer Call Centre on (03) 941 8999 or 0800 800 169.
- By attending a Facilities Rebuild community forum. A series of community forums were held across Christchurch and Banks Peninsula during June and July and more are planned. These will be advertised as dates and venues are confirmed later this year.

MASHUP CANTERBURY 2013

Here's a great chance to demonstrate your computing, planning and marketing skills in an exciting competition being held for secondary schools throughout the Canterbury region.

17 & 18 August, 2013

New Zealand's Declaration on Open and Transparent Government means that since August 2011 government agencies have been directed to release data for mashups and reuse. As a country, we need ICT savvy young people with an entrepreneurial streak who can apply critical thinking skills to a problem.

For more information, email Bruce Fraser at admin@mashup.co.nz or call him on 021 687 533. Check out the Bay of Plenty Mashup website for more background <http://www.mashup.co.nz/information> or email: jocelyn.papprill@ecan.govt.nz

The competition

You will work with your team over the weekend to create a Mashup from start to finish that would be useful for people of Canterbury. At the briefing on the Saturday morning, teams will be provided with various business scenarios based on the core work of the competition sponsors and will choose one scenario on which to base a Mashup.

The dream Mashup team

Ideally, your team will have 2 or 3 computer experts (people who understand what API means!), a project manager to coordinate the work and a marketer (someone who thinks creatively and can present the team Mashup with flair and clarity).

Business and IT mentors provide advice to teams over the two-day competition as you work towards various milestones and the final presentations on Sunday afternoon. The brief, dynamic presentation is the team's 'pitch to the client' – a real-world business experience!

Judging Criteria

Judges will assess the IT skills, marketing and business planning of the teams and award prizes from a pool of $3000 at the prize giving. Parents and supporters are encouraged to attend.

- The best Mashups will have these qualities:
- The data is useful for people – they'll be able to do something they couldn't do before
- Your business plan is well organised and implemented
- The Mashup shows flair and creativity
- The Mashup is well marketed
- Your Mashup works technically

What else do you need to know?

We'll provide food but you can bring snacks or special dietary food as well. It's not school but...you will be representing your school. We'd like you to have fun, learn lots and be considerate of others.

If this presses your buttons, we'd love to hear from you and have your team involved in Canterbury's first ever Mashup competition held under the pressure of getting it all done over one weekend!
